J. H. Nelson –

Dear Sir.

Your favor of the 9th came to hand this morning. The Ship being so much out of time, only coming in port on the 4th, that we were afraid to despatch her with all hands. Therefore the Sails day after tomorrow & of course they will be wanted for you to ship any thing by her. I found two packages here in the Custom House for you, but we shall have no time to get them out with them fifty others & distribute them till after the Ship is off – I will write Dr Phillips as soon to day telling him of the circumstances that he & his friends may know early they receive nothing – & probably it will be quite as well that they get what they are to have hereafter –

By tomorrow the Ship is off we will despatch all hands.

Very truly & respectfully yours
