Dear Sir

Yours of yesterday is received. I regret to learn of your illness.

I can wait for the money having allowed a discount. Otherwise I should have been "desperate" enough to draw. I kept him hoping you would send the money in time to enable me to come out square at the end of this week. Just time for me to get the money somewhere. So after receipt of yours of yesterday I abstained from the discount business [illegible] -
