Philadelphia & any other place would do more harm than good. If your Agent has already the confidence of the State once, it is but the better reason for his setting off again on another tour over the same ground, & take pains for it he will find his visits more & more useful. The offence he repeats him. There is a good deal of dormant interest in the cause in the State of Maryland, which requires only to be roused, & I nothing can do that so effectually as the call of a zealous Agent. His being a stranger is an objection which will disappear when he shall be better known, & from the impression made by Mr Finley on the occasion of his visit to the Campbell Meeting

Maryland Historical Society

The Maryland State Colonization Society Papers

IV. Miscellaneous Letters and Minutes

A

1832