DEMOCRATIC WHIG NOMINATIONS!

FOR PRESIDENT.

GEN. ZACHARY TAYLOR,

OF LOUISIANA.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

MILLARD FILLMORE,

OF NEW YORK.

MARYLAND ELECTORAL TICKET.

FOR THE STATE AT LARGE.

WM. L. GARTHER, of Montgomery co.
JOS. S. COTTMAN, of Somerset co.

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

1st—JOHN M. S. CAUSIN.
2nd—JAMES D. ROMAN.
3rd—ANDREW G. EGE.
4th—J. MORRISON HARRIS.
5th—B. CHAMBERS WICKES.
6th—J. C. DERRICKSON.

Contested Election.

We learn from an authentic source that James H. Edes, Esq. has forwerded to Gov. Thomas, a memorial, contesting the alledged election of Mr. Cann as Sheriff, and requesting an opportunity of investigating certain votes given to Mr. Cann and alledged to have been illegal votes, by Mr Edes. The grounds, we understand, are, that seven persons voted for Mr. Cann who were not legally entitled to vote, and that the Judges at the lower district polls counted a double ticket, as one vote for Mr. Cann, which should have been rejected under the law against double voting. The Laws of Maryland, we are informed, provide for an examination into illegal voting, whenever a candidate shall apply to the Governor. If the Governor thinks that illegal votes have been polled sufficient to have changed the result, he is bound to send the election back to the people.

The Law contemplates the existence of cases, where it is proper to contest and provides a remedy. The question of right therefore, to every candidate, to contest an election, is a legal one, and no one can justly complain! If a candidate thinks that he is defeated by illegal voting, it is clearly his right to institute an investigation. It is altogether a question with himself, of expediency—whether he will hazard the expense and whether he has a probable prospect of success!

The question he must decide for himself and if he is willing to incur the expense, it is not a matter of complaint to any one. Every illegal vote, willingly polled on any side, is a fraud upon the legal voters, and if illegal voting has defeated the fairly expressed will of the legal voters, then ought not an investigation to be had? Each candidate will have due notice and permitted by counsel, or in person, to take depositions to be laid before the Governor! Every thing is to be calmly, coolly and fairly conducted, without haste or unnecessary delay. We suppose it may require a month or more to take all the evidence that may be adduced on both sides.

We understand, that Congress has established the precedent in contested elections, that if illegal votes are proved sufficient to have changed the result, the election is to be set aside and a new one ordered, although it may not appear how any of the persons voted. We presume that the Congressional precedents will be followed in the present case.

Gov. Thomas forwarded Mr. Cann his commission, before he received Mr. Edes memorial, but he despatched a messenger to recall the commission and who reached here a few hours only after the mail had brought the commission. It was of course returned to the Executive.

Agricultural.

The Honble. E. F. Chambers, George S. Holliday, James B. Ricaud, James H. Gale and William H. Blackiston, Esqs. have been appointed as Executive Committee for Kent county by the Agricultural Convention lately held in Baltimore. The State Agricultural Exhibition will be held in Baltimore, on the 9th and 10th November next, it is expected, we believe, that this exhibition will be very interesting and numerously attended. It is important that the Farmers of Kent should not be behind their brethren in the other counties, and as Kent can produce fine stock &c. it is to be hoped, that they will be "O. K," on the occasion refered to.

By reference to the members of the Executive Committee, fuller information can be obtained. It is desirable that the Farmers of Kent should become members of the State Agricultural Society. Certificates of membership can be obtained by calling on J. B. RICAUD Esq. one of the Executive Committee.

Pennsylvania Election.

GLORIOUS VICTORY!

Returns from 46 counties gives Johnson, the Whig candidate for Governor, 7,029 majority over Longstreth the Locofoco candidate. There still remains 15 counties to be heard from, which gave Polk a majority of 2,486, if these counties vote as they did then, Johnson's majority will then be 4,549.

Campbell, Whig is elected to Congress from the 23d district, a Whig gain.

The Whigs have gained two Senators and fifteen members of the House, which gives them a majority on joint ballot and secures the election of a United States Senator.

DISGRACEFUL RIOT.

On Wednseday week last, the night before the election, a large number of persons calling themselves democrats were marching up Baltimore st., with transparencies, drams &c. when they came in front of the Patriot office, they halted, and commencad an unprovoked attacked upon that office, breaking windows, and doing other injury to the building; not satisfied with this the proceded to the Clipper office. The Clipper of Thursday in speaking of the riot says:

Last evening after the result of the election had been ascertained, and the crowd about our office had dispersed, a parry of desperate villians hearing with them a transparency purporting to belong to the 7th ward Cass and Butler Club, created a wanton and unprovoked riot in Baltimore steet, and immediately made a violent attack on this office, smashing in windows, breaking the doors, endangering the lives of the hands while at work, and doing other damage. We are totally at a loss to account for this outrage, and can only now call upon the officers of the 7th Ward Democratic Club, for the honour of their party, as well as themselves to come forward and pay the damages and at the same time use their endeavours to bring the villains to justice. One of the large glasses in the window of our next door neighbor, Mr. J. L. McPhail, was also smashed.

THE ELECTORAL VOTE OF MASSACHUSETTS.

An idle theory has been set afloat that the Presidential vote of Massachusetts may be lost by neither of the candidates having a majority, and there being no provision to supply the deficiency in time. The following note from Mr. WEBSTER sets this notion at rest:

BOSTON, SEPTEMBER 29, 1848.

DEAR SIR: There is no difficulty at all in regard to the question propounded in your letter. If those who write about it would first be at the trouble of reading the law, they might save themselves trouble.

The act of Congress provides that "when any State shall have held an election for the purpose of choosing electors, and shall fail to make a choice on the day aforesaid, then the electors may be appointed on a subsequent day, in such manner as the State shall by law provide."

The standing law of Massachusetts does provide that, if the electors be not chosen by a majority of votes, they shall be appointed by the Legislature.

Yours, truly, DANIEL WEBSTER.

LARGE COMMERCIAL TRADE.—On the 8th instant there were in the port of Chicago, on Lake Michigan eighty sail of vessels, with a capacity for about 950,000 bushels of grain. Besides these there are a number of propellers and a few steamboats that take cargoes, constantly leaving port.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION DAY.—The National Intelligencer says:—

"There will not be any three days' election in Virginia the present year. According to an opinion of the Attorney General, which has met with no opposition, so far as we learn, the election for electors to vote for President and Vice President of the United States, must, according to the act of congress be held upon the Tuesday after the first Monday in November; (7th of November; 1848) and upon that day only."

LYNCH LAW IN CINCINNATI. Here is a case of lynching which every Court in Christendom will approve. It is taken from the Cincinatti Commercial of the 17th:

An elderly lady caught a precious youth, in the market, at the corner of Walnut and fifth sts., yesterday morning filching fruit from a basket, and laid him upon her knee and such a spanking as she gave him, failed not in eliciting a general laugh and hurra from the lookers-on.

SLAVERY IN DELAWARE.—The Blue Hen's Chicken srys: "The Petition for the abolition of slavery in this State is receiving the signatures of almost all of our citizens. From appearance it will be one of the largest petitions ever offered to our legislature."

REWARD OFFERED.—The Governor of Delaware has offered a reward of $100 for the apprehension and conviction of the the negro who committed a horrible outrage upon the person of Mrs. Mary Ann Syther, lately.

☞On Saturday afternoon last, as the Western train was going out Pratt street, a little girl named Mary Louisa Frey, while crossing Pratt st., above sharp, was run over by the cars and instantly killed.

FATAL OCCURRENCE. Mr. M. L. Carroll, a respectable citizen of Laurence co. Tenn., was recently accidently shot dead by his own brother.

SPECIE.—The total amount of specie shipped from the Custom house in New. York, up to Saturday last, in 9, 327.955.

[COMMUNICATED.]

☞We received, on Friday last, from a friend in the country, a lot of very fine sweet potatoes; such as we have not seen this season, weighing 2 or 3 pounds each—for which we return our hearty thanks, and wish she may live to raise many crops, provided she does not forget her Town friend. V.

GENERAL WASHINGTON AND GENERAL TAYLOR.

The feeling that there is a resemblance between Gen. WASHINGTON and Gen. TAYLOR, has been a long time impressed upon the public mind, and it is remarkable that, since the days of Washington, no man but Gen. Taylor has been thought to possess, in anything, the same extraordinary character.

The following parallel, though hastily drawn, will shadow forth the reasons why Gen. TAYLOR is thought to resemble Gen. WASHINGTON, for it alludes only to matters familiar with all but probably not before so intimately contrasted.

Gen. Washington, occupied as he was by military matters, never abandoned the duties, or lost the character of one of the best practical planters of Virginia.

Gen. Taylor, although he has been in active military service for more than forty years, is one of the most practical and successful farmers and planter in Louisians.

When Gen. Washington was called upon to sign a death warrant, he was filed with sorrow, and could hardly control his pen.

When the deserters of our army, taken at Buena Vista, were announced to Gen. Taylor, he remarked that "blood enough had been already shed," and ordered that the wretches should be driven from our lines.

Gen. Washington was distinguished for his strict temperance.

Gen. Taylor never drinks anything but water

Every one under the command of Washington had the fullest reliance in his justice, and confidently applied to him when they thought they had been wronged or oppressed.

Every soldier in Gen. Taylor's army however humble, and in whatever difficulty, instantly looked to him for redress.

Gen. Washington made it a personal matter to see that his prisoners were well treated and cared for.

Gen Taylor gave to La Vega a letter of credit, to use, if necessary, while a prisoner of war, and distributed provisions at Buena Vista, among the famishing Mexicans to be at his own expense if not sanctioned by the government.

Gen. Washington was seldom betrayed into the exhibition of great emotions.

Gen. Taylor, in a conversation with some gentlemen, recently remarked that he had made it a study through life to control his feeling.

Gen. Washington distinguished himself before he was thirty years of age, as a successful commander on the frontier.

Gen. Taylor at the commencement of his military life fought against the Indians, and defended Fort Harrison, when he was but twenty-eigh years of age.

Gen. Washington is remarkable for his clearness of his military despatches, and for his epistolary correspondence.

Gen. Taylor's military exploits are not causes of his popularity; they are only the occasions for the display of his sound judgment, energy of character, lofty and pure sense of justice, and incorruptible honesty He has as much reputation for what he has written as for what he has done.'—Gen. P. F. Smith.

Gen. Washington was never wounded in battle, although in several contested engagements as at Princeton, Monmouth, and Brandywine, he headed his troops and was as much exposed.

Gen. Taylor was never wounded in battle, although he always freely exposed himself to the enemy's fire, and at Buena Vista, charged at the head of his troops in the last and most desperate struggle for victory.

Gen. Washington inspired soldiers with the idea that his presence was sufficient to make them invincible.

"Gen. Taylor's presenbe in any part of the field, was sufficient not only to change despair into hope, but to give assureance of victory, and dispel all doubt of ultimate triumph."—Col. Bragg.

Gen. Washington was an early riser, methodical in habits, and exacting of himself.

Gen. Taylor is up with the sun, accomplishes a great deal of labour by his love of order; and never relaxes from his constant duties.

Gen. Washington rose with circumstances and ever equal to the task imposed upon him, whether in the field or the cabinet.

"I learnt of Gen. Taylor's sound judgement and inexhaustible energy in Florida, but I did not then properly estimate the other and high-minded points of his character. In the campaign on the Rio Grande I saw him tried under all circumstances and he always come out pure gold."—Gen. Persifer F. Smith.

Gen. Washington impressed all who beheld him, with the sublime sense of his exalted character, and displayed it in the smalest as well as the most important acts of his life.

"Every thing Gen. Tayor says, as well as every thing he does, is marked by the purity and greatness of his own character"—Gen. Persifer F. Smith.

Gen. Washington, while in the field frequently wrote long and particular letters to the manager of his estate, regarding the kind of crops to pe planted, and the dispositions to be made of small tracts of land.—See his correspondence.

Gen. Taylor has ever pursued the same course, and just before the battle of Buena Vista, found time to write a long letter to his business agent, in which he mentioned the most minute particulars of the manner to carry on his plantation,

Washington's fame, on its first inception, called forth the admiration of the military chieftains of Prusia, Frederick the Great being loud in his approbation.

Stephen the treveller, tells us, that while at Berlin, Baron Humbolt informed him the preesnt King of Prusia and his military council had with the greatest interest, followed Gen. Taylor through his whole route on the Rio Grande, and fully appreciated his difficulties at Buena Vista.

Gen. Washington was remarkable for reading at once the character of those he came in contact with, and of putting a true estimate on their value.

All who have intercourse with Gen. Taylor, bear witness of his astonishing knowledge of men and of his true estimate of character.

Gen Washington would only accept of the Presidency independent and untrameled.

Gen. Taylor has repeatedly in writing on the same subject, almost used Gen. Washington's expressions, from a mere similarity of thought and feeling.

"Should it become absolutely necessary for me to occupy the station to which your letter pre-supposes me (the Presidency,) I have determined to go into it perfectly free from all engagements of every nature whatsoever."—Washington to Lafayette.

"If elected to the Presidential office it must be without any agency of mine own and to those duties I must go untrameled by party pledges of every character.'—Gen Taylor to J. A. Burke, Esq.

"I may however, with great sincerity and I believe without offending against modesty or propriety, say to you, that I most heartily wish the choice to which you allude might not fall upon me."—Washington to Gen. Lincoln.

"And could he be elected (some one more experienced in the state affairs,) I would not say that I would yield my pretensions, for I have not the vanity to believe thet I have any for that distinguished station, but would acquiesce not only with pleasure in such arrangement, but would rejoice that the republic had selected a citizen more and better qualified than I am, to discharge the important duties appertaining to that position, and no doubt there are thousands."—Gen, Taylor to J, R. Ingersoll.

The striking paralled between Gen. Washington and Gen. Taylor could be continued; but the subsequent events of Gen. Taylor's life will complete the resemblance, by placing him in the same high civil office, where he will wield a similar influence, not only for the good of his country, but for the good of mankind.—N. O. Bmllctin.

TAXES AND Fees.

BY an act passed at the last session of the Legislature, the Collector of the State Taxes is authorized to make a deduction of three per cent on such Taxes if paid by the 1st of November next. The Collector will also charge interest on arrears of Taxes and fees if not paid by the first of December next. A large amount of public money is due to the office of Sheriff and Collector—the State is inexorable in her demands and will not be delayed by promises. The Alms House, supervisors of roads, out Pensioners, witnesses and others, having claims against the county, are claiming payment of their dues, and they must be met. The season is now here when payments must be made by the Sheriff and Collector, and to enable him to meet them, he must make immediate demands, upon all who are indebted for Taxes and Fees.

The undersigned must therefore notify all persons indebted to the office to call and make immediate payment. He will give directions to his deputies to proceed to execute for Taxes and fees, and to cause other proceedings to be had if payments be not immediately made.

G. W. SPENCER,
Sheriff and Collector.
