FINALE OF THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Yesterday was the day appointed by the Law of the United States, passed March 1, 1792, for opening and counting the votes of the Electors of President and Vice President of the United States.

By the first section of the second article of the Constitution of the United States it is prescribed that the President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes of the Electors of President and Vice shall then be counted.

By the act of March 1, 1792 it is enacted that Congress shall be in session on the second Wednesday in February, 1793, and on the second Wednesday in February succeeding every meeting of the Electors and the certificates of the Electors, or so many of them as shall have been received, shall then be opened, the votes counted, and the persons who shall fill the offices of President and Vice President ascertained and declared, agreeably to the Constitution.

Under these provisions of the Constitution and the Law, preliminary arrangements for this ceremony having been made by votes of both Houses, the Senate, having been previously invited, entered the Hall of Representatives, and took the seats prepared for them in the circular area in front of the Clerk's table.

The joint meeting being organized, the Presiding officer (VICE PRESIDENT of the United States, PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE) rose and said:

"In obedience to law, the Senate and House of Representatives have assembled, on the present occasion, so that I may fulfil the duty enjoined upon me by the Constitution, by opening, in their presence, the sealed certificates of the lists of persons voted for by the Electors in the respective States, as President and Vice President, cause the votes to be counted, and have the persons to fill those offices ascertained and declared, agreeably to the Constitution."

The Vice President then proceeded to break the seals of the envelopes in which the votes of the Electors were enclosed, commencing with the State of MAINE; and having merely broken the seal, he rose and handed the paper to the Tellers, (Mr. Davis, of Mississippi, on the part of the Senate, and Messrs. Barrow and McClelland on the part of the House of Representatives,) saying:

"I now open and present to the TELLERS chosen by the two houses, the Certificate transmitted by the Electors of the State of Maine, that the votes therein recorded may be counted."

The same ceremony was observed by the President of the Senate in opening and to the Tellers the votes of the Electors of all the States; and the Tellers having read, counted, and made duplicate lists of the votes, they were delivered to the President of the Senate, by whom they were read to the joint meeting. The result was as follows:

Vote for President

For ZACHARY TAYLOR, of Louisiana	163
For LEWIS CASS, of Michigan	127
	290

Vote for Vice President.

For MILLARD FILLMORE of N. Y	163
For WILLIAM O. BUTLER, of Ky.	127
	290

The PRESIDENT of the Senate then announced the result to the joint meeting, and, in compliance with the law of March 1, 1792, on the subject, made the following declaration:

"I, therefore declare that ZACHARY TAYLOR of the State of Louisiana, having the greatest number of votes for President, and that number being a majority of the whole number of Electors, is duly elected President of the United States for four years, commencing on the 4th day of March, 1849.

"And I also declare that MILLARD FILLMORE, of the State of New York, having the greatest number of votes for Vice President, and that number being a majority of the whole number of Electors, duly elected Vice President of the United States for four years, commencing on the 4th day of March, 1849.

"The business of this meeting of the two Houses of Congress being now finished, it is dissolved, and the SENATE will proceed to their Chamber."

This simple though august ceremony occupied about an hour and a half, being conducted throughout with perfect propriety, in the midst of a host of spectators of both sexes, who testified their respect for the occasion by the most respectful demeanment.

After this was ended, both Houses forthwith adjourned, without attended to any other business—Nat. Int. of Saturday.

A VOICE FROM VERMONT.

Tunbridge, Orange County, Vermont, November 25, 1845.

Mr. Seth W. Fowle—Dear Sir: I hereby certify that one year ago last June, I violently attacked with a cold and cough, with a lame side and stomach, and was not free from a cough during that summer In December following, my cough increased to an alarming extent, so that during that winter I lost about thirty-five pounds of flesh, and physicians with whom I advised could give me no relief. It was thought by all that I should never recover. As my good fortune would have it, in March following, after suffering exceedingly through the winter, I heard of the beneficial effects of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, by way of a friend, who had received the greatest benefit by the use of the article, and was induced by him to make a trial of it myself, and no words can express my obligations to that friend for thus recommending this article to me, and at the critical moment he did, for I had not taken up one bottle before I was completely cured, and from that day to this have not been troubled with a cough. I can cheerfully recommend it to all, as being a remedy of great value, hoping others may be induced to try it, and thus become convinced of its merits, and perhaps saved from the fatal grasp of Consumption.

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

British, French, German & American

DRY GOODS.

THE present mode of doing business(we mean the CREDIT SYSTEM) is now carried to such an extent; that it is only attended with disaster and vexation to the cash and prompt solvent buyer, by increasing the number of his competitors, but unless every precaution and the utmost prudence is observed, the wholesale dealer is involved in difficulty and two-thirds, at least, who embark in the credit business, are reduced by bad debts to absolute bankruptcy.

With this truth before us, we have determined to change our system of business, by selling only for cash, or on very short time for prompt payment, and beg leave to call the attention of purchasers to the advantages we can offer as enducements to examine our stock.

Possessing every facility for purchasing at the lowest cash prices, and all times ready to avail ourselves of a fall in the market; watching every Auction sale in this, and not unfrequently in the neighboring cities; we feel confident of our ability to sell, at least a portion of our stock lower than the same articles can be bought elsewhere, and the whole at the smallest possible advance.

Our stock will embrace every article usually found in a Wholesale Dry Good establishment, and we respectfully invite your attention when in our city, knowing that, the many inducements we can offer, we cannot fail to convince the doubting and incredulous, that the small advance charged upon the cost will not include losses by bad debts and lawyer's fees, or expenses of a travelling collector; and, to every cash buyer, who will spare the time to give our stock a careful examination, we pledge ourselves to sell him a satisfactory bill or compel other houses to sell him cheaper than they have ever done before. To conclude, we promise it shall be our constant aim, in our intercourse with the retail dealer, not only to make it his interest to purchase of us, but by pursuing a course of strict integrity, to merit his confidence, custom and influence.
