ten scholars, regular attendance, between Forty five and Sixty. The conduct of the children generally has been very pleasing. We had one rude scholar, but he has been withdrawn by his parents during the term. A few of the schol-ars are very punctual in their attendance at school; and I am sure they are not the losers by it. The over all classes have made considerable progress in their studies during the term; saving the first class in Arithme-tic, owing to their indifference with re-gard to that particular branch of studies. The branches taught are the same. Arithmetic, English Grammar, Geography, History, Reading, Spelling and Defining, Scripture, Composition Declamation and Writing. The first class numbers ten scholars; the second sixteen, the third twenty five, the fourth twelve. At the opening of the school after holi-

Maryland Historical Society

The Maryland State Colonization Society Papers

VII. Special Funds
C. Hall School Fund

2. August 1875-- June 1893