DR. HOOFLAND'S CELEBRATED GERMAN BITTERS.

DR. C. M. JACKSON. At the German Medicine Store, No. 120, Arch St., Philadelphia. Their power over the above diseases is unexcelled if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States, as the cures attest, in many cases after skillful physicians had failed.

These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids. Possessing great virtues in the rectification of diseases of the Liver and smaller glands, existing the most searching powers in weakness and affections of the digestive organ, they are withal, safe, certain and pleasant.

From the Boston Bee. The editor said, Dec 22d—"Dr. Hoofland's Celebrated German Bitters for the cure of Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, is deservedly one of the most popular medicines of the day.

Scott's Weekly, one of the best Literary papers published, said Aug. 25: "Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, manufactured by Dr. Jackson, are now recommended by some of the most prominent members of the faculty as an article of much efficacy in cases of female weakness.

THE Philadelphia Saturday Gazette, the best family newspaper published in the United States, the editor says of Dr. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS "It is seldom we recommend what are termed patent medicines to the confidence and patronage of our readers; and, therefore, when we recommend Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, we wish it to be distinctly understood that we are not speaking of the nostrums of the day, that are noised about for a brief period and then forgotten after they have done their guilty race of mischief, but of a medicine long established, universally prized, and which has met the hearty approval of the faculty itself."

Evidence upon evidence has been received (like the foregoing) from all sections of the Union, the last three years, and the strongest testimony in its favor is that there is more of it used in the practice of the regular physicians of Philadelphia than all other nostrums combined, a fact that can easily be established, and fully proving that a scientific preparation will meet with their quiet approval when presented even in this form.

That this medicine will cure Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, and no one can doubt, after using it as directed. It acts specifically upon the stomach and liver—it is palatable to colic and all bilious diseases—the effect is immediate. They can be administered to female or infant with safety and reliable benefit, at any time.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS. This medicine has attained that high character which is necessary for all medicine to attain to induce counterfeiters to put forth a spurious article at the risk of the lives those who are innocently deceived.

LOOK WELL TO THE MARKS OF THE GENUINE. They have the written signature of C. M. JACKSON on the wrapper, and the name blown on the bottle, without which they are spurious.

Economical Food for Horses.

Some of the English farmers, who use horses in their work more than we do, have experimented carefully on the different modes of keeping them economically, at the same time keeping up their flesh and strength.

Stevens, in his book of the farm, has considerable to say upon this important branch of rural economy.

Our farmers, where they have an abundance of fodder, pay but little attention to these matters. The boy is told to go and feed the old horse, and he tumbles down hay before him, more than he can eat in a day. He is told to give him provender, and he puts before him a lot of oats, it may be six quarts, or half a bushel, just as it happens. But where there is less profusion of feed, and more economy required, the first thing obtained is a good straw cutter, and the horses are kept on cut feed.

Stevens says there should be a regular feed prepared for farm horses, and administered every day, and he gives the following formula to prepare this feed, as follows:—

In the morning, 3 1/2 lbs of oats and bean meal, and 1 1/2 lbs chopped straw, 14 1/2 lbs. At mid day, 3 lbs. of oat and bean meal, and 12 lbs. of chopped straw, 15 lbs.

At night, 1 1/2 lbs. of oat and bean meal, 11 lbs. of steamed potatoes, and 2 lbs. of chopped straw, 14 1/2 lbs. 44 lbs.

This quantity, he says, will be sufficient for the strongest farm horse, and less will be consumed by ordinary ones; but that can be regulated according to circumstances, by withdrawing little meal and straw. The bean meal which he mentions, is the meal of the English horse bean, which is made great use of in that country. We can raise it well enough here, but it is not equal to Indian corn, which we can raise much easier; by substituting corn meal in the above mixture, you have a better compound.

Stevens says that the usual allowance of oats in that country, for a horse, is eleven and one-half pounds per day, when the grain is of the finest quality; but as horses do not always get the finest quality, the allowance may be taken at ten pounds, and when hay is given them in the spring, they eat at least one and one-half stone, which is twenty one pounds, and this, with the oats, will make thirty-three pounds every day.

It will be seen that the above mixture is made up of straw, instead of hay, for the fibrous parts.

The meal and the chopped straw are mixed together in a tub, and a little salt mixed with them. The steamed potatoes or twenty three pounds of ruta baga turnips poured in with them, and the whole mashed up and let stand to acquire an uniform temperature.

This part of the process, viz:—the boiled or steamed roots, will not be convenient for our farmers to attend to every day, but their place can be substituted by a little more meal and cold water, in the warmer parts of the season, or warm water in the winter, and it will make an excellent and economical feed for horses that work on a farm.—Maine Farmer.

SEEDS AND SCIONS.

The farmer or gardener will find the winter a favorable season to look up and procure seeds and scions for use in the Spring. When the hurry of planting comes, but little opportunity will be afforded for making selections of this nature, and he will oftentimes be compelled to use those of a poor kind, or an imperfect quality—a contingency which every good farmer will anxiously wish to avoid. By a little attention now, this evil may be avoided. Scions, cut this season may be preserved in damp moss or sand in the cellar till the period for setting them arrives in the Spring.
