Mr. E. Thos. Massey, Massey, Md.
My Dear Sir: It is with pleasure that I can write and thank you for the manner in which your Company promptly and without any equivocation on their part paid me the insurance that I had on the wheat burned on my stack-yard last August. As soon as the loss was determined the amount of insurance was forthcoming without any delay, and I find it a decided satisfaction to deal with a company like yours that will do just as they promise.
Very respectfully yours,
ROBERT FERGUSON.

SPLENDID BUILDING

The Washington College Gymnasium a Model for Other Colleges.

OPENED LAST FRIDAY NIGHT TO THE PUBLIC.

Without doubt the Washington College gymnasium is one of the finest in the country. The architect, Mr. Henry Hopkins, son of Harry J. Hopkins, Esq., of Annapolis, though a young man, has certainly shown rare knowledge in every way in the planning and building of this model gymnasium. Everything in the structure is so perfect and in such harmony each to the other that we do not see how a single change in this building would be an improvement to it.

We congratulate Mr. Hopkins in giving Washington College such a fine structure. The State of Maryland and Washington College officials can well feel proud of the manner in which the appropriation has been used. The builder was John Waters, of Baltimore, and that he has done his work well, an inspection of the gymnasium will show.

The building committee was Hon. James Alfred Pearce, Senator William W. Beck, Capt. Curtis E. Crane, Clarence W. Perkins, Esq., and Dr. James W. Cain. They have performed their part faithfully.

The gymnasium is of brick encasing a skeleton steel frame. All the trimming, sills, lintels and porticoes are of concrete floated to a sandstone finish elevation rises two stories, to provide the necessary smaller rooms, with a loftier elevation in the rear for the gymnasium proper.

On the ground floor in front are two sets of locker dressing rooms, showers and toilets. Entering at the front on the second or main floor, one comes into a commodious vestibule. On each side of the vestibule there are two rooms. To the left is the Director's office. Beyond that is the trophy room. To the right of the vestibule is a room corresponding to the director's office, in which will be kept the anthropometric apparatus and other articles not intended for general use; and adjoining this is a room corresponding to the trophy room, which will serve as a general storage room for athletic supplies. These rooms will be kept in such order, that, in the event of the building's being used for a public function, one suite of rooms may be used as dressing rooms for ladies and the other for men, and the rooms have been provided with all proper conveniences for that purpose.

The gymnasium proper is 35 feet by 50 feet, with a height of 23 feet at the walls and 37 feet at the apex. A running track 7 feet wide and 28 laps to the mile, with curved banking for speed running, encircles the hall, 11 feet above the floor. Ready access is had to the track by means of four stairways, so that it may be used a galery during basket ball games or other exhibitions on the main floor.

Convenient doors and stairways connect this main room with all other parts of the building. Below the gymnasium proper, on the ground floor, is a room of equal size. This room will have a dirt floor and has sufficient clearance to enable it to be used as a base ball cage for early spring practice, and a place where runners may practice short sprints when the weather is unfit for outside running in spiked shoes. Should it seem desirable later to add a swimming pool or bowling alleys, this room can be used for this purpose.

The opening on last Friday night was a splendid affair.

WEDDING BELLS

Mr. Norman Stansbury Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lee, of near Chestertown, and Miss Nellie May Stauffer, of near Chestertown, were married at Christ Church parsonage Friday evening, Jan. 31st. Congratulations.

Miss Julia E. Woodall, of Georgetown, and Thomas C. Cruikshank, of Cecilton, were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's mother. The wedding which was to be one of the social events of the season had been postponed from January 21, owing to illness of Mr. Cruikshank.

On Saturday evening of last week Mr. George Gosman of Rock Hall, and Miss Edith Hynson of Piney Neck were quietly married at the parsonage by the pastor, Rev. O. H. Connelly.

Cards have been issued, announcing the wedding of Miss Emma Wills Wooleyhan and Mr. Joshua Daniels, both of Philadelphia. The ceremony took place 8 o'clock Monday evening, February 3, at the home of the bride's parents, near Cecilton.

LEE—SMITH.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Smith, near Worton, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday, Feb. 4th, when Anna Marie, the accomplished and only daughter, became the bride of Mr. James H. Lee, a prominent young man of near Chestertown, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lee. The home was beautifully decorated with holly and evergreen. Promptly at 2 30 o'clock, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. King, of Middletown, Del., the bridesmaid, who was Miss Minnie Greenwood, and best man, Mr. Walter Coleman, entered the parlor. They were followed by the bride and groom to be, and there under a beautiful arch of holly and evergreen they were pronounced man and wife by Rev. T. N. Given, who performed the ceremony. The bride wore London smoke silk, while the groom wore a suit of blue serge. After the ceremony a splendid reception was given the couple. They received many handsome and useful presents. Only the parents and near relatives of the bride and groom were present. After the reception all left for their homes, wishing the couple many happy years of married life.

MOFFETT—SUTTON.

William C. Moffett, of Worton, and Miss Blanche L. Sutton, of Kennedyville, were married Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of William J. Johnson, 1003 Pleasant street, Wilmington. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George White Dawson. Mr. Moffett is a conductor in Philadelphia. The marriage took place in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Moffett will live at 173 West Somerset street, Philadelphia.

Don't forget the male quartette at Fairlee Saturday night, Feb. 15th.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.

At the meeting of the Ladies' Town Improvement Association, held on Tuesday last, in a general discussion of the town and what the Association could do to help better conditions, it was generally conceded that the town last summer was more free from fever and in better sanitary condition than at any time previous; and while the Association wishes to give all credit to the Town Commissioners for doing everything for the sanitation of the town which the money will justify, at the same time they do feel that the improvement around the supply of drinking water has had much to do with the health of the community. They wish to continue work along lines where it is most needed. It was the opinion of the Association that the improvement of Main street has made it a most beatiful street when well kept, and that the Association continue the work inaugurated last summer, when the cans were placed at intervals alone the entire street as receptacles for waste paper. To accomplish this need money, and will give an entertainment and thirty five cent supper shortly after Easter. The ladies are still collecting old paper, magazines and rubbish. They ask the co-operation of every one in all their work.

Dance at Betterton.—The Chesapeake Hotel at Betterton was the scene of a most agreeable dance last Tuesday evening. The rooms were beautifully decorated with holly and evergreens. Farson's orchestra of Baltimore, furnished the music. A splendid collation was served during the evening. The committee on invitations was Mrs Arthur H. Brice, Miss Mary Smith, Miss [illegible] E. Hurlock, Miss Lillie Crowther. The patronesses were Mesdames H. [illegible] Brice, Scott Crownhart, John S. Ow[illegible] Albert H. Supiee, Geo. W. Ma[illegible] Littleton T. Crew and E.
