POULTRY NOTES.

Written for the KENT NEWS by a Kent County Poultryman.

WINTER EGGS.

Do you get any? They are not so very hard to get. The farmer who expects his poultry to pay for its feed must get winter eggs. The general raiser of poultry on the farm disposes of his eggs at the store or through the commission merchant and gets from 1 cent to 3 cents a dozen less than the wholesale price and even if he has a regular customer who receives his shipments at market price and in addition pays the transportation charges, he is not going to make a fortune out of eggs at from 16 cents to 20 cents a dozen. If only he could get those eggs when they were fetching 40 cents and upwards!

With the hatching season now at hand many enterprising farmers and others are thinking of introducing new blood into their flocks by purchasing cockerels or setting of eggs. And no doubt many have decided to keep pure-bred poultry in place of the non-descript collection that is now gracing (?) their grounds and hen-houses. Many have made up their minds what breed to keep and others have made up their minds to keep the best they can get, but not yet decided which is the best.

It is greatly to the farmers advantage to raise what is known as a utility breed. He naturally eats a good many, but at the same time needs eggs. The four best utility breeds, in fact the only ones worth considering are: Orpingtons, Rocks, Wyandottes and R. I. Reds, in the order named as to weight and also as to the quality of their flesh. The Orpington has the best formed body and its flesh is far superior to any fowl with the possible exception of the Langshan. The Wyandotte has a well-rounded body and requires no fattening as it is always fit to eat if in healthy condition. The Rocks and Reds are too well known to need any description.

Taking the Nati nal Egg Laying Contest at the State Poultry Experiment Station, Missouri, as a basis, and it is worthy of note in this connection that the Leghorns and Anconas do not make the showing either as all round, as as winter layers that is claimed for them. We find that the averages of eggs laid by each hen in one year were: R. I. Reds 154, Orpingtons 149, Leghorns 139, Anconas 139, Wyandottes 137, Rocks 132.

Or if we use the International Egg laying contest instituted jointly by the Stores Agricultural Experiment Station and the Philadelphia North American, which was held on the grounds of the Connecticut Agricultural College, we find that the breeds under discussion hold relatively the same position as the best egg producers and the averages become: Leghorn 160, R. I. Red 158, Orpington 156, Rock 156, Wyandotte 154, Ancona 143. These averages bring the egg production of the four utility breeds under discussion nearer together and may be taken as very close to the real values, especially as they weee made under climate conditions so much nearer home. They tend very clearly to show the superiority of the Red Orpingtons as egg producers under all circumstances of environenent.

The looking at the most important feature—the point under discussion—winter eggs—we find that the relative order of value becomes: Orpingtons, R. I. Reds, Wyandottes, Rocks. Taking the three winter months, however, December, January and February the months of high prices, we find that the comparative averages are as follows: Orpingtons 151, R. I. Reds 140, Wyandottes 89, Anconas 85, Leghorns 83, Rocks 51.

BAKER IN GOOD FORM

Third Sacker of Connie Mack's Athletics Lays Out Five Hits in the First Game.

John Franklin Baker, Trappe, Talbot County, Md., has rejoined Connie Mack's renowed Athletics at the spring training camp at San Antonio, Tex., and on the 10th of this month in his first game headed the batting list of this aggregation of foremost players by laying out five hits.

Baker is in good form after the winter spent in duck shooting on Talbot waters and when he walked on the field for the first time after his arrival at the spring camp the cheers with which he was greeted indicated his position in the hearts of fandom. He was delayed from rejoining the Athletics on account of a business matter which required his attention at home, and did not arrive until the 8th of the month, several days after the regular squad. This was the result of a special dispensation from Mack.

The score of the first game played by the Athletics, with the San Antonio team as opponents, gives Baker two runs, five hits, and one assist. In this contest Baker did the little stunt which once upon a time snuffed the lights of Broadway—he started the batting rally which made the San Antonianites look like pigmies lined up against giants.

There are daily reports in the city papers, too numerous to quote, which all go to put the halo around the head of Talbot's premier ball player—the idol of all local aspirants and the subject of conversation wherever men gather for social intercourse.

The opinion of James C. Isaminger, sporting editor of the Philadelphia "North American," is printed in a recent number of "The Literary Digest." Mr. Isaminger, in speaking of the Athletics' infield says:

"Besides their heavy batting and great run-getting ability, the four shine with the topnotchers on defence. Not one of the four has a weekness in batting, baserunning, fielding, and generalship. They are four of the sharpest men in baseball all are far under the thirty-year mark, and will last for years, barring accidents. They work together like a finely constructed machine, and use their heads as well as arms and legs. They represent almost 50 per cent of the strength of the team.".

A UNIQUE SALE BILL.

At this season of the year, when auction sales are a matter of interest in many sections, the readers of this department will be interested in the following notice of an auction which was held in Pike county, Mo., sixty-seven years ago:

"State of Missouri, county of Pike: to whom it may concern: The undersigned, will, on Tuesday, Sept. 29, 1846, sell at public outcry for cash on the premises where Coon creek crosses the old Missouri road the followihg chattels: Six yoke of oxen, with yokes and chains; two wagons, with beds; three nigger wenches, four buck niggers, three nigger boys, two prairie plows, twenty-five steel traps, one barrel pickled cabbage, one hogshead tobacco, one lot of nigger shoes, one spinning wheel, one loom, thirteen fox hounds, a lot of coon, mink and skunk skins and a lot of other articles. Am gwine to California. Free head-cheese, apples and hard cider."

A WARNING TO MANY

Some Interesting Facts Regarding Health Statistics

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousrnd deaths in 1910, in the state of New York alone. Therefore, it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

If you feel that your kidneys require attention, and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and they will gladly forward it to you absolutely free by mail.

Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c. and $1.00.
