Universal Price Reductions for Our Great

BEFORE STOCK-TAKING SALE

A Garment Sale Without An Equal

This uncommonly mild winter has left us with a larger stock of desirable ready-to-wear goods than we have ever had before at this time of the year.

The approach of inventory necessitates disposing of these surplus goods at once. We positively must reduce our stock to the lowest possible point.

To move the goods quick we are offering bargains on wanted merchandise, such as probably you nor any one else will ever see again.

The many low prices given here but suggest the hundreds of low-priced items to be found in our store now, but don't take our word for it; come and see.

GRANGE NOTES.

Fairlee Grange held a special meeting in the Grange Hall on Wednesday, Jan. 21st. A large number were present, and after the business meeting the following interesting and instructive programme was rendered: "Has the Grange measured up to its possibilities?" ably discussed by Mr. Wm. G. Smyth. "What can our Grange do toward reclaiming worthy members who have ceased to attend the meetings?" Miss Ida Crew. "Which presents the greatest opportunity to the young man of to-day, agriculture or a profession?" Mr. Stockton Start. Reading, Mrs. Walter Fletcher; recitation, Miss Frances Corey; recitation, Miss May Richardson; solo, Miss Cathrine Kendall. Debate, resolved that woman is more influential in the world to-day than man. Affirmative, Mrs. Tilghman Shafer, negative, Mr. Stockton Startt.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Jane L. Hurd, wife of Mr. Noah Hurd, of Worton, died at the home of her son, C. H. Hurd, at Urieville Mills, on last Saturday night of paralysis, age 75 years. Funeral was held at the M. E. Church at Worton on last Tuesday at 12 o'clock, Rev. J. A. Givens officiating interment was at Union cemetery. Undertaker W. H. Krusen in charge. The bearers were John Bramble, Harrison Parsons, William Nickerson, J. E. Clark, Harry Ivens, John W. Carter.

Mrs. Annie Crew, widow of the late Welch Crew, died at Springfield Hospital from a complication of diseases due to old age, being in her 84th year. She was the daughter of John Reed and Mary Emory, of near Centreville, Queen Anne's county, and was a descendant of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. She leaves one son, J. W. Carter, of Worton; one daughter, Miss Mary Kinsey, of Baltimore, and fourteen grandchildren. Funeral services were held at Union M. E. Church at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Rev. T. N. Given officiating. The pall-bearers were Harper and Lester Carter, Marion and Robert Rash, William Rasin and Everett Sheets; undertaker, Charles L. Dodd.

GOLT NEWS.

Mrs. W. E. Matthews is spending a few days with her parents at Smyrna, Del.

Miss Helen Walters, of Philadelphia, spent the week end with her aunt, Mrs. J. T. Ford, of near here.

Mr. Elwood Williams is improving his property here, now occupied by our new merchant, Mr. George Vansant.

Our school has a fine basket ball team. Our teacher, Miss Whitaker, takes great interest in training the girls.

Mr. Willie Shallcross, of Wilmington, visited his brother Mastin last Sunday.

Mr. Raymond Tibbitt sprained his hand Monday but it is much improved at this writing.

Miss Elizabeth Johnston is suffering with tonsilitis.

The ladies of the M. E. Church at Golt will hold a poultry supper and bazaar in the church hall Friday and Saturday evenings, Jan. 30, and 31.

ROCK HALL NOTES.

Sunday was an ideal day for "wanderlusting," and scores of residents, male and female, of this section, were hiking down the country in the afternoon.

A number of our farmers and teamsters are doing a thriving business hauling shells from Downey's cannery down Eastern Neck way.

A battle royal is now on in this town between petitions for and against patent tonging. The patent tong advocates want the mouth of Chester river thrown open for patent tonging. The non-advocates want the use of patent tongs prohibited, as it is very much to the detriment of the oyster business on the bayside. Better be careful, men; it is hard to recall changes made in the oyster law that didn't work injurious to your business as a whole.

"Thompson, the shoe man," has secured the services of an up-to date shoemaker for his shoe emporium.

A city tug reached this harbor on Saturday and relieved a number of vessels of the local oyster buyers and towed them to the city.

Some of the tongmen have been forcing their way through the ice blockade this week to the oyster bars.

Through the kindness of Mr. John Brice, a goodly number of the residents of this section are getting a splendid lot of peach tree wood. The gayest of the number is Charley Smith, who sports a clean linen collar and cravat of the latest style Charley says he wears these because the maid at the foot bridge says if he don't wear them she will give him the discard, and not wanting a discard he wears the collar and tie day and night.

Capt. B. F. Sewell is on the sick list this week from an overstrain of the muscles of the abdomen, caused by his efforts to get his vessel in shape for the tug on Saturday morning.

On account of the quarantine placed on potatees, the price in the large cities of the East has jumped to nearly $1 a bushel. Several foreign countries are threatening to put an embargo on United States products unless they are certified by the Department of Agriculture to be free from disease.

WEDDING BELLS.

Dr. W. R. Graham on Thursday married Gordon W. Yoxtheimer and Miss Edna Reiley, a young couple from Newberry, Pa. These young folks came to Chestertown by auto but left on the afternoon train for Newark, N. J., where the groom has a sister.

HILYARD—CROSSLEY.

The prettiest wedding of the season took place on Wednesday, January 14, at Locust Lane, near Clayton, when Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Crossley, Sr., gave their daughter, Miss Ada Moffett Crossley, in marriage to Mr. Howard Wallace Hilyard, of Kenton, Del. The parlors were beautifully decorated with evergreen and plants and softly lighted.

Promptly at 12 o'clock noon the bridal party entered, marching to the strains of Wagner's Wedding March, played by Miss Dorothy Habbart, of Claymont, Del., a cousin of the groom. The bride and groom were preceded to the altar, over which an arch of evergreen had been erected from which suspended a horse shoe of mistletoe, the emblem of good luck, by the bridesmaid, Miss Elva Pratt, a life-long friend of the bride, and Mr. Harrison Crossley, a brother of the bride, where they were met by the Rev. W. E. Habbart, of Ridgely, Md, a former pastor of the bride, who performed the ceremony.

The bride was beautifully gowned in ivory white satin entrain, with overdress of duchess lace and tulle veil caught in the lily-of-the-valley, and carried a large bouquet of bride roses. The bridesmaid wore a charming gown of orange colored satin charmeuse entrain, with over-dress of oriental lace and velvet girdle, and carried an armful of deep yellow roses. The groom and his best man wore the conventional black.

After the ceremony the bride and groom held a reception, and were then invited to the dining room, where a wedding breakfast was served by Caterer Reynolds Stevenson, of Baltimore. The bride and groom left amid a shower of rice and confetti for a trip North. On their return they will reside in Kenton, where the groom is engaged in the hardware business with his father. The bride's traveling dress was drab blue with black hat and white plumes and silver fox furs.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilyard received many useful and beautiful gifts, including furniture, linen, silver, cut glass and several very substantial checks.

About 200 relatives and friends of the bride and groom witnessed the ceremony, all of whom wished the newly-wedded couple every blessing and a long and happy life together.

KENNEDYVILLE NOTES.

On Friday evening of last week the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Protestant Church met at the home of Mrs. Rachel Redmile, where a very pleasant time was enjoyed. After the business had been transacted refreshments were served in abundance. This was followed by games, which were the cause of much laughter and mirth. At a late hour the guests returned to their homes much pleased with the evening's enjoyment.

There will be given in the near future an entertainment by the members and friends of the M. P. Church here, of which notice will be given.

Another very pleasant event was the celebration of the twentieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Elias T. Othoson at their home on Saturday, Jan. 17th. The house was very prettily decorated, the color scheme being green and white; also cut flowers and potted plants were used. Mr. and Mrs. Othoson were assisted in receiving by their daughter, Miss Nellie, and niece, Miss Mary Othoson, of Sassafras. After the greetings and congratulations were had, a sumptuous dinner was served to all. The presents were beautiful and handsome as well as useful. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Othoson and daughter, Miss Nellie; Mrs. M. J. Hurlock, mother of Mrs. Othoson; Wm. M. Hurlock, wife and son, Walter, and daughter, Elizabeth; Mr. S. T. Othoson, Mrs. P. Othoson and daughter, Miss Mary; J. P. Hendrickson, wife and daughter, Miss Anna, of Sassafras; Mrs. K. S Harper, of Philadelphia, only sister of Mrs. Othoson; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jefferson, of Chestertown. Mrs. Jefferson being one of the bridesmaids at the nuptial event; Rev. and Mrs. F. S. Cain and daughter, Betsie Jett; Dr. and Mrs. James W. Urie, Mrs. Tilghman Shafer and daughter, Miss Emma; Wm. T. Hague and wife, E. L. Redmile and wife, George R. Rasin and wife, Capt. Daniel Hill and wife, Mrs. James E. Weer, Mr. James Weer, Jr., and wife, Mr. John Archibald and wife, Miss Lulu Vandyke, of Kennedyville; Miss Hannah Bell, of Chestertown; J. T. Price and wife, Wm. Medders and wife, Carson Harris and wife, Joseph Bowers and wife, of Still Pond; Wm. B. Price and wife, of Betterton; George M. D. Glenn and wife, of Locust Grove; T. E. W. Crew and wife, of Lankford. After spending from one to five o'clock with our host and hostess, and wishing them many more happy anniversaries, we returned to our homes pleased with the proceedings of the day. Mr. and Mrs. Othoson were the recipients of many valuable and useful presents, which they will ever prize very highly, as they recall to precious memory the twentieth anniversaay.

Mrs. H. A. Bennett, of Milford, Del., who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. F. S. Cain, has been quite indisposed for the past few days, but under the care of Dr. Urie is much improved.

Services at the M. P. Church on Sunday next will be as follows: Sunday School 9.30 a. m., preaching 10 30 a. m. and 7.45 p. m. by pastor, Rev. Frank S. Cain; Christian Endeavor service 7.15 p. m. You will be welcome to all of these services.

STILL POND ITEMS.

Miss Alice Dudley, of Wilmington, spent some time with Miss Louise Toulson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boulden of Queen Anne, spent Wednesday with friends in our town.

The Epworth leader for Sunday evening will be Miss Mary Norris.

Master Thomas Bonwell, who has been real sick this week with pneumonia is a little better at this writing.

The Cabinet of the Epworth League met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Medders Monday evening and fixed the leaders ahead for four months, and we hope no one will refuse to lead.

ENGLISH people, according to the Rural New Yorker, have held strong prejudices against sweet corn. Working people have looked upon corn as food for animals rather than humans. Now this prejudice is wearing off, and beginning with the higher classes, sweet corn is becoming a staple article of food.
