SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1914.

DON'T leave your wife at home alone unless you can't help it.

SENATOR MALOY, in raising the auto license, does not seem to realize that his bill will kill the hen that lays the golden egg.

[illegible]-school system in Maryland is [illegible]tainly sick and needs strong medicine. It is hoped Dr. Legislature will diagnose the case and apply the remedy.

A RECOUNT has been asked on the Anti-Shipping Bill as noted in another column. A misunderstanding is given as the reason for the recall of the meeting. Be sure you're right, then go ahead!

THE Democratic Senators voted solidly to seat Senator Harrison, of Worcester. The recount, according to law, showed conclusively that Mr. Harrison had ten majority. The Sun complimented Senator Beck on his strong address as chairman of the committee.

A PETITION asking for the building of a State road to Rock Hall has the endorsement of nearly all the voters and wives in lower Kent. To open up the lower part of Kent would mean untold advantages. The merchants of Chestertown should get behind this improvement with a vim.

COL. HENRY HOLLYDAY, JR., last Saturday completed a service of 25 years as deputy clerk of the Circuit Court for Talbot county. The rounding out of this long period in office was marked by many expressions of congratulation, appreciation and good wishes from those who have business with the clerk's office and come into contact with Col. Hollyday. Wouldn't it be a wise thing to make Col. Hollyday the next clerk and allow him to experience the real thing?

THE newspaper called "The Colored Man" booms Dr. M. B. Stephens for reappointment because he is in favor of seven months schooling for colored children and better pay for colored teachers. It adds:

"Here, then, is an official big of brain, broad of view and magnanimous of soul, a man who is not playing tag with the negro's educational opportunities. He is not pinching off a little here and a big piece there for his or anybody else's selfish party or denominational interest. He is not of the same political complexion that most of us black folks are, but he is playing it fair, as a high-toned white man always does."

If the Democrats want Dr. Stephens retained and all of the colored voters, why not make it unanimous, you Prohibitionists and Socialists?

An esteemed friend sends a clipping from "Milling and Grain News," published at Kansas City, Missouri, in which the effects of prohibition as observed in Kansas are graphically set forth. From the clipping we gather that ninety-six counties out of the one hundred and five in Kansas have no inebriates. Six or seven along the Missouri border have them. Thirty-nine counties did not send a prisoner to jail last year. There were 912 prisoners in the state penitentiary last year, but only 17 per cent of this number were Kansas born. Fifty-seven counties in Kansas have no use for poorhouses, and last year did not send a member there. Eighty-four counties last year did not report a case of insanity. The death rate in Kansas is less then any other section of the world, seven and five-tenths per thousand of the inhabitants. There are seven thousand newspapers in Kansas and only four of them carry whiskey ads. Possibly the coloring of this picture is in some respects a little too bright, but the "Milling and Grain News" is a thoroughly reliable publication, and the statement made should not be dismissed without careful consideration.

MONEY FOR ROADS.

House Passes Measure for Government to Contribute $25,000,000.

The Shackleford bill, under which the Federal government would distribute $25,000,000 for good roads among the various states conditioned upon a dollar for dollar appropriation by each state was passed by a vote of 282 to 42, and now awaits action by the Senate. Its passage followed several days of debate during which most of the hundred and more speakers advocated the project in the interest of the farmers.

The bill divides the appropriation among the States in proportion to the rural delivery routes and post roads in each State.

A table gives the figures and the maximum amount of Federal aid the following States might receive under the provisions of the bill: Delaware, $58,750; Maryland, $291,250, and West Virginia, $308,750.

TO COMBAT HOG CHOLERA

To combat the effect of hog cholera on the high cost of living, favorable action was taken Wednesday by the House Committee on Agriculture, on the bill which passed the Senate last week, providing for the eradication of this malady. The Senate bill carried an appropriation of $500,000. This the House Committee Wednesday increased $600,000.

[illegible] large appropriation is declared [illegible]bers of the committee to be [illegible] the magnitude of the hog [illegible]ion.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

[Written for the KENT NEWS.]

Tuberculosis remains today, in the veterinary profession, the one great problem in the prevention of disease; it remains in human medicine the one great problem of today. From the sociological standpoint, it remains the one great problem for the sociologists, or the greatest single question, and from an economical standpoint in our food industry, it is the one great problem that we have confronting us.

Dr. Koch, the celebrated German physician, discovered the tubercle bacillus in 1882. Dr. Koch also discovered tuberculin, which at that time was intended to be a cure for consumption. At the present time its only use is diagnostic. In 1901, at the London Congress, Koch came out with the startling announcement that bovine tuberculosis was different from human tuberculosis, and that the disease was not transmissable from man to animal or animal to man. This announcement of Koch caused a big stir. The veterinarians all over the world had been taught that the diseases were entirely transmissible. This claim was the reason for the British government appointing a Royal Commission and the German government appointing an Imperial Commission to work upon the problem. Since 1901 work has been done in every part of the world, and at the present day there is no differenee of opinion on three chief points, namely: that the germ is one and the same in origin, that the chief difference is in virulence, and that the disease in cattle can be transmitted to mankind.

After the Congress in 1901 and the publication of the reports of these various commissions spoken of, Prof. Koch visited us in Washington, in 1908, at the International Congress on Tuberculosis, and there shifted his ground absolutely. Following the Congress in Washington in 1908, Dr. Park, the director of the laboratories of the Board of Health, started to work on this subject, and he has demonstrated that in the city of New York upward of three hundred children die every single year from bovine infection. According to Dr. Parks' figures, this is about 12½ per cent. due to bovine infection of fatal cases. It does not take into consideration the many cases of tuberculosis that are not fatal, which produce only more or less permanent deformities in the skeleton's hip joint disease, psoas abscesses, enlarged glands of the neck, &c.

Adults are fairly immune to bovine infection, so far as our evidence goes; we must admit that. Coming to children under five years of age, figures taken from clinical work in England show from 23 to 25 per cent. of the fatal cases of tuberculosis in children are due to bovine infection. Dr. Stiles, the noted surgeon of Edinburg, is a specialist in joint and bone troubles and has been watching for a long time tuberculosis bones and joints in children. Dr. Stiles for years has been convinced of the danger to human health from bovine tuberculosis. Being called in consultation once in the case of a child living in the vicinity of Edinburg, he made a diagnosis of bovine tuberculosis. The child was too far gone to be helped and died in a few days, and Dr. Stiles told the father that the child had died from bovine infection. The father said that this was impossible, because he kept his own cow and she had been tuberculin tested. Dr. Stiles' reply was that probably the testing was badly done or else the cow was so far advanced in the disease that she had not given an accurate reaction. The father allowed the cow to be killed, and upon examination she was found to be simply riddled with tuberculosis—a far advanced case. The father was so impressed with this result that he then gave a fund of money for an investigation, and some of the results of that investigation are here given.

Seventy cases were examined. Forty one of these showed the bovine bacillas and 26 human, 3 showed both bovine and human. Taking the children from birth to five year period we find in 47 cases 32 infected with the bovine germ and 15 with the human, a percentage of 68.

When we come to study the family history of these cases we find some very impressive facts. In 21 cases there was a family history of tuberculosis. Among those that gave a family history of tuberculosis 15 gave human cultures and 6 bovine. That is 71 per cent. showed human tuberculosis in these 21 cases, but in families where there had been no tubercular history of the 52 cases 9 proved to be human and 43 bovine; in other words 83 per cent. of those cases were of bovine infection. You see the picture there is entirely reversed.

Now I want to read a few statistics just to show you how bovine tuberculosis affects particularly the children of young age. From birth until one year of age 4 cases were examined, all 4 bovine, none human. One to two years 12 cases, 8 bovine, 2 human, 2 both human and bovine infection. From two to three years of age, 15 cases, 11 bovine 3 human, 1 both infections. From three to four years of age, 10 cases, 6 bovine, 4 human. From four to five, 6 cases, 3 each. Then on up to eleven and twelve years the percentage of human infection gradually increases and the bovine decreases. In taking these figures for the period from birth to five years of age, I took the 47 cases that I quoted before 32 being bovine and 15 human.

In the face of these figures it seems to me that nobody can deny the great danger to human life from bovine tuberculosis. So that, leaving out the great economic problem, the great problem that presents itself to both the human and veterinary profession is to safeguard human health against this awful disease. It is a world-wide problem that is not going to be solved by any one division of the medical profession. We must take in every bit of help that we can get from every source whatever.

In the United States alone over 200,000 of our fellow-citizens every year go down to the grave from a preventable disease. And the poor old innocent cow is doing her share in infecting every generation of babies, who eventually take the place of those that die in our hospitals and sanitariums. Is not the evidence sufficient or shall we infect a few more generations before we can make up our minds.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS.

At the instance of the State Game Warden Curley, Senator Milbourne introduced three bills which are intended to bring in an income suficient to defray the expenses of the office and insure an enforcement of the law. The principal bill compells hunters to take out a license furnished by clerks of the Courts. A nonresident is taxed $10; a nonresident landowner, $1, and a resident of the State, $1. A license is good only during the open season, and must be shown the deputy game warden when demand is made.

Owners of farm lands, their children and tenants may hunt on their own property without paying a license. The money received is to be credited to a fund known as the State game protection fund and shall be disbursed by the State treasurer on warrant signed by the game warden.

Twenty-five hundred dollars is to be set apart to pay the salary of the game warden and the remainder to the payment of salaries of deputies and the enforcement of the game laws.

The third bill changes the season for killing pheasants, rabbits, squirrels, woodcock and deer. The prohibition period is between December 24 and November 10. For violations of the law a fine of not less than $20, nor more than $100, is imposed, one-half of which goes to the informer.

In pursuance of the decision reached by the Democratic Platform Committee with reference to the school boards in the State, President Price Tuesday introduced a bill which deprives the Governor of the authority to name the members of the State board, and changes for the time being the manner of appointment. The purpose is to turn over the administration of school affairs in the crats. The bill provides that the State board shall consist of five members, two counties of the State to the Demo- of whom are to be the Governor and the State superintendent of public education, ex-officio. The other three who are named in the bill are Southy King White, of Wicomico, who is to serve two years; Dr. Josias S. Brown, of Baltimore county, whose term is four years, and Clayton Purnell, of Allegany, whose term is six years. Two years hence the Governor is again to make the appointments, beginning with a successor to Mr. White; in the interim, however, any vacancy occurring in the board is to be filled by the remaining members.

These three members and the Governor are directed to elect a State superintendent, who is to receive a salary of $3,000, and shall have a voice in all the proceedings of the board, serving as secretary and treasurer thereof.

The State board shall elect the members of the various county school boards, selecting two from each party, where the board consists of four, and three from each, where there are six. These county boards are to elect the county superintendents, and when they can't agree, then the State board is to decide. This means, that in every county Democrats will control the schools.

The county boards are in turn authorized to appoint boards of district school trustees, composed of three persons, either men or women, or they may name one trustee, either man or woman, who, with one of their own number, to be designated by the board, and the county school superintendent, shall constitute the board of district school trustees for such school.

The bill was sent to the Committee on Education, of which Senator Maloy is chairman.

When the Governor was asked whether he had any comment to make, he replied he had not at this time as he had not yet had an opportunity to read bill. It is safe to assume, however, that the measure will never become a law, if his decision proves final.

THE establishment and opening of the second link in the proposed free Atlantic Coastal Canal system from Maine to Florida was formally approved Thursday by the House Rivers and Harbors Committee. It announced that the rivers and harbors appropriation bill will carry a recommendation for an appropriation of $1,300,000 for the purchase of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, connecting the upper Chesapeake Bay and the lower Delaware Bay, and its ultimate improvement to the extent of $8,000,000. The first link, embracing the Chesapeake and Albemarle Canal, connecting the lower Chesapeake with the North Carolina Sounds, was bought last year. It will be used as the basis for the construction of a 12-foot waterway from Norfolk to Beaufort, North Carolina.

Order of Publication

William H. Elliott
versus
Mary C. Elliott.

In the Circuit Court for Kent County In Equity. No. 1867.

THE object of the Bill is to procure a decree for divorce a vinculo matrimonii.

The Bill states:

1. That for more than two years last past your orator has been, and he still continues to be, a resident of Kent county, Maryland.

2. That your orator and Mary C. Elliott, the defendant, were married in Baltimore City, Maryland, on or about the 14th day of September, 1880, by Rev. Marion L. Firor, and lived together until some time during the month of February, 1910

3. That one child was born to them as a result of said marriage, whose name is William Nevin Elliott, and who was fifteen years old in May, 1913; and that the said William Nevin Elliott now resides with his mother, the said Mary C. Elliott.

4. That, although the conduct of your orator towards his wife, the said Mary C. Elliott, has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Mary C. Elliott has, without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted him, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least three years, and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation.

5. That ever since their marriage your orator has behaved himself as a faithful, true and affectionate husband toward the said Mary C. Elliott.

6. That the said Mary C. Elliott is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and is now residing at Steelton, in the State of Pendsylvania.

It is thereupon, this 12th day of February, 1914, ordered by the Circuit Court of Kent county, in Equity, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Kent county once in each of four successive weeks before the 16th day of March next, giving notice to the said non resident defendant, Mary C. Elliott, and warning her to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 2d day of April next, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Public Sale

The undersigned, removing to a smaller farm, will positively sell without reserve, on the "Dr. Stines Farm," three miles west of Middletown,

WEDNESDAY, February 18, 1914

At 10 o'clock A. M. the following described Personal Property, to wit:

11 HEAD OF

Horses and Colts

No. 1. FRANK, dun horse, 6 years old, 16½ hands high, will weigh 1400 lbs., sound, safe and true everywhere. He is one of the best big horses I know, broken to do anything; he is quick as a pony and rugged as a mule; hot and cold weather are all good to him, and he likes to eat.

No. 2. TOM, chestnut horse, 8 years old, 16 hands high, weighs 1300 lbs. This is a splendid horse, full mate to No. 1, been worked together past two years and ought not to be separated; without doubt as a general purpose team they have no superior, both sound and kind, and I hate to sell them, but they go for the high dollar.

No. 3. CHUCK, bay horse, 15¾ hands high, a good, useful horse; works or drives and a lot of service in him yet; have used him as a family and general purpose horse. He is all sound and 16 years old.

No. 4. RUDOLPH, brown horse, 16 hands high. This is a good looking, sound, big horse; he can do anything, he is a road horse, a work horse, a little fussy about automobiles, otherwise nobody has a better one. He is 15 years old and looks like an 8-year old, and he feels that way all the time.

No. 5. KATE, bay mare, 15 years old, 15½ hands high; have used this mare all her life, a good, honest mare, has raised me some good colts; always ready to do her part, sound, safe and lots of work in her yet.

No. 6. SHAMROCK. Here is a great big, brown horse, 6 years old, and just as good as he looks will work right everywhere and always ready, prompt and true; weighs about 1200 lbs. and he is sound.

No. 7. JIM SPLINTER, an elegant little horse, quick as a flash, true as steel; will try his best all the time spent, drives sound and kind, weighs about 700 lbs.; 5 years old.

No. 8. MARCHAWAY, foaled April 6th, 1910, by Prince March, 13½ hands high. Dam Bess by Happy Russell, 2nd dam Minnie, standard and registered, by Hambletonian. This is a splendid colt, solid black in color, just nicely broken, 15½ hands high, a true gaited, live trotter; if he falls in the proper hands he will be a trotter, too; his disposition is perfect, with the best of manners and his breeding he will make money for some one. He is too good to wear out on the farm, I don't train them, and he goes for somebody's money.

No. 9. LIZZIE, gray filly, foaled March 23rd, 1911, by a Percheron bred horse. Dam Bess by Happy Russell. Nice great big colt, will be big and useful for any purpose.

No. 10. JACK, gray colt, foaled April 25th, 1912, by Percheron bred horse. Dam Kate No. 5 in sale. Splendid big colts Nos. 9 and 10 should make a splendid and all purpose team, both good gaited and nice big colts.

No. 11. PRINCE MARCH, JR., foaled April 15th, 1912, by Prince March, 13½ hands high, dam Mary by Woodlock, 2nd dam Bess, by Happy Russell. Look out for this little fellow, he is some colt. He is a sorrel colt, and a gaited one right now, come chase him down the lane, he may be an R. T. C., he is bred that way, goes that way; he is sound and right, his breeding right, and I would like to see him have a chance. He will make good for some one, he will be sold February 18th, 1914.

Cattle

Twenty head of Milch Cows, high graded Holsteins, among them big fine Cows of the very best types; all good ages, sound and quiet. The heifers are a nice growthy lot, coming in profit this spring, some by day of Sale. Most of these cattle trace directly to Bert DeKol and he by Paul DeKol.

HOGS—Seven Brood Sows, some with pigs by day of sale, the others will farrow in March. One Poland China Boar, a fine hog; 65 Shoats, weigh from 50 to 75 lbs., all healthy and good, never had any sickness on the farm.

BIG BEN

—$2.50—

It will soon be time that YOU will need a reminder that Spring will soon be here and that work must be done.

There is no better or more pleasant reminder than the BIG BEN ALARM CLOCK. He calls you at the right time which means so much to you. He costs $2.50 and lasts and runs like a real expensive clock.

We also have the cheaper Alarm Clocks and a full line of Plain and Ornamental Mantle Clocks—some bargains. Call and see them.
