SATURDAY, MAY 30, 1914.

KENT is a Paradise of beauty these days.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT has returned and has been given a royal welcome. Evidently he has had a tougher experience in the South American jungles than reported, for he seems to be far from being a well man. But his recuperative powers are wonderful and he will soon be himself again.

THE County Commissioners are having plenty of applicants for the assessorship in Kent. The position pays $800 and calls for more than the usual intelligence. Among the names mentioned for the position we hear Messrs. T. Ossmun, Thos. C. Roe, Wm. Steel, Gove Everett, Chas. Casey, Harry Davis; Edw. Robinson, Ellwood Morris, Linwood Sutton, Foster Cannon, Wm. F. Malin, Wm. H. McKee, Harvey Brice, Thos. Toulson, Harvey Moore, Harry McWhorter, and others.

UNDER the provisions of the School Legislation passed at the recent session of the Legislature, the School Boards of the counties of Maryland will have many added duties, and chief among them will be the matter of medical inspection of all the scholars and all the teachers and janitors employed in the various schools. The law is very stringent in this inspection and will no doubt cause much dissatisfaction from parents with unhealthy children and from teachers who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted with diseases like tuberculosis and other communicable affections. Under this law the School Commissioners are called upon to appoint one or more school physicians, who are legally qualified to practice medicine in Maryland, and it shall be the duty of all teachers to open the doors of their schools for these physicians to make a careful examination of the health of each pupil attending school.

TUBERCULOSIS AMONG CATTLE.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published at Springfield, Ohio, D. S. Burch, associate editor, writing an article on the milk business, says that the question of tubercular cattle is becoming tremendously important. In the following extract from his article he gives some important facts.

"Taking the country as a whole, about one-twentieth of dairy cattle in untested herds are tubercular, and a large amount of statistics, which however, are not entirely conclusive, indicate that one-tenth of human tuberculosis is of bovine origin.

"The cost of testing cows for tuberculosis is not necessarily expensive. It is about ten dollars for a herd of [illegible] animals, though the charges will vary with individual veterinarians. When from twenty to forty cows are tested at a time, fifty cents per head is the usual fee. These figures are from Wisconsin. In small herds the cost may be from a dollar to two dollars a head, seldom over that. The knowledge that a cow is free from the disease is certainly worth that price.

A HOMELY LESSON.

The killing of a cadet at St. John's college brings the hazing question up for consideration again. Washington college and its friends can well pause to think. As far as punishment of the man who fired the shot is concerned, it may be assume that he has inflicted himself a severer penalty than any court is likely to impose. Whatever aggravation—and it doubtless did to him at the time very great—he will regret all his life the result of his action, even though he did not intend to wound but only to frighten the tormentors who were breaking down the door of the room in which he and his companions had taken refuge.

When the case is sifted in the end the offending freshman will not be the person on trial. The management of college itself will be at the bar as the culprit, because it is chiefly responsible for the lack of discipline and order in which all the circumstances of the case plainly indicate. Hazing has been going on for a long time, and it never has got to such a pass at all without that the hazers will run the risk of ruin if the institutions do not run them. A college that is mainly, if not entirely, dependent upon State patronage for its continuance may hesitate in fear of pecuniary results, to wield the iron hand and the iron foot to crush young men who come to it if it cannot maintain its discipline it had better go out of existence. We venture to say that it would lose far more than it would lose, in confidence and in public patronage the stern repression of the brutal hazing and brutality of which it is the concrete expression.

BARROLL, ESQ., evidently regards the efforts of his son to land an office in. In a news article in the Sun it is stated that Hope H. Barroll, county, "wants to be a Federal judge. The Sun says it is reliably informed that this statement is incorrect. Mr. Barroll has no such aspiration. The statement in the Sun arose from the fact that Mr. Barroll's son, L. Barroll, of Baltimore, has been citing support all over the state for his candidacy.

THE appointment Wednesday by Governor Goldsbrough of the commission which will conduct the educational survey of the State makes one of the most important steps in an undertaking which is expected to be of the greatest value. The commission named by the Governor is composed of B. Howell Griswold, Jr., the Baltimore banker; former Judge James Alfred Pearce, of Chestertown, and Dr. J. McPherson Scott, of Hagerstown.

They will have an appropriation of $5,000 under the Maloy act providing for the survey, but it is expected that the commission will put forth strong effort at an early date to have either the Rockefeller Foundation or the Carnegie Foundation undertake the actual work.

THE Baltimore News, the most unrelenting Republican newspaper in the State—a paper that ardently opposed the election of Mr. Wilson for the Presidency—a paper whose owner is one of the largest contributors to Republican campaign funds—is now engaged in its old game of trying to stir up strife among the Democrats of Maryland. It is bitterly opposed to Senator Smith because he is a successful leader, and is now engaged in nominating a Democratic Senator to succeed him; but just before the balloting commences, if it follows its custom, it will be supporting the Republican nominee. It failed to get Hon. Thos. Hayes to make the fight, but is still trying to get another, and all for the good of the Republican or Bull Moose parties.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

MESSRS. EDITORS KENT NEWS:

The "New School House Bills" which will be submitted to the voters this fall carries with its approval the expenditure of $54,700 for new school buildings for Kent county. It is certainly proper for the tax-payers to seriously consider this proposition, and either to defeat it if it seems an unnecessary expenditure, or to pass it if there be a need for this improvement; and further if the county's finances at this time justify this expense.

The bill provides for a new primary school in Chestertown, costing $20,000; a new school in Rock Hall, costing $12,000; $9,000 for Millington, $7,000 for Betterton and $6,000 for Kennedyville. When one assumes a position of opposition to this proposition he is charged with being opposed to education. Just as absurd is it to charge a man with opposition to being protected by a comfortable dwelling if he thinks he is financially unable to live in an extravagantly appointed house. The writer believes in education for the masses in comfortable buildings, but in all the towns and villages asking for buildings the accommodations are now comfortable.

Take Chestertown. It has a new high school costing over $30,000 (not yet paid for) and this, together with the quarters now rented, ought to accommodate comfortably the pupils now in attendance. Twelve years ago Chestertown had nearly as many children attending school as it has today. Then why this additional $20,000 on top of the $30,000 spent about ten years ago?

There should be no opposition to children, living close to Chestertown, coming from Queen Annes to the Chestertown High School unless their presence over-crowds our schools, in which event it would be more economical for Kent to refuse admitting pupils from out of the county, and forfeit the sum paid by Queen Annes. It is poor economy for Kent county to be forced to borrow $20,000 in order to accommodate children from Queen Annes. A man who has his family comfortably housed in an 8-room house would be foolish to borrow money to erect a 16 room house to accommodate a few boarders, when he has no desire to conduct a boarding house. I am familiar with the school buildings at Rock Hall, Kennedyville, Millington and Betterton. I have yet to see scholars demanding admittance and being refused, and if any of these buildings are over crowded they can be made sufficiently commodious by expenditure of one-third what is asked in the Bill. New buildings would be very nice, we all agree to this, but without some great and imperative need for them it is certainly not the time to erect them.

The population of these towns have not increased 10 per cent. during the last ten years, save possibly Betterton, then why erect schools costing five times the cost of the present buildings?

With Kent county facing a State Tax of 32 cents a County tax of $1.10, are we able to assume an indebtedness of $54,000? There is a limit to the taxpayers ability.

In justice to Kennedyville, however, it is claimed that the unsanitary conditions of the school's location, makes it almost imperative to buy a lot and erect a new school building there.
