BETTERTON NEWS

Storm Did Little Damage—First German—Guests at Various Cottages And Hotels.

Though the pleasant weather at the upper bay resort has been marred by occasional rainstorms almost daily, nothing has daunted the pleasures of the guests registered at the various hotels and cottages, which are now filled to their capacity. The heavy rainstorm and gale of Tuesday night did but little damage to the place in general. Although the Tolchester Line wharf was endangered in the early morning, the tide soon receded and the wind calmed, leaving everything in exceptionally good shape. By Wednesday noon the debris was all cleared away and the boardwalks were back in shape for the pedestrians' use.

Capt. James R. Malone's twenty-first annual shooting tournament was held during the week and drew a large squad of shooters from a distance, as well as a fair crowd from the county. A gallery of ladies was always in attendance, watching the skill of the many marksmen. Capt. Malone is to be congratulated on this interesting event, which has become so popular here.

The first German of the season was held at the Betterton Casino Wednesday evening, under the direction of Mr. Albert J. Shartle, and, as usual, proved the most important social event of the season. The german was led in a beautiful manner by the Misses Helen Urie and Adiline Kratzer and Messrs. Phillip Kratzer and Hanson Stavely, all of Chestertown. Pretty favors were distributed among the ladies. Rattles and horns were given all participants and helped to enliven the occasion. Confetti was freely scattered among the dancers. The music was furnished by Farson's Orchestra, under the management of Prof. Oscar Appel. Many people attended from Chestertown, Georgetown, Galena and other nearby towns.

Mrs. Bud Fisher, formerly Miss Pauline Welsh, of Baltimore and wife of Mr. Bud Fisher, the creator of Mutt and Jeff, is now a guest at Hotel Rigbie.

Mrs. Mary Wooters and interesting little daughter, Laura of Queen Anne, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Owens at Cliffnolme. Other guests at the hotels and cottages are :
