SATURDAY, JUNE 3, 1916.

HARRY C. WILLIS, of Kent, has been named on the Board of Labor and Statistics at a salary of $500.

AT the first meeting of the newly-reorganized State Roads Commission held Wednesday, John E. George, of Queen Anne's county, was elected assistant to the chairman at salary of $3,000 a year. The salary of the chairman of the Commission, Frank H. Zouck, is fixed by law at $2,500 a year, and that of the two other members, G. Clinton Uhl, Mudd of Charles county, is set at $2,000 a year each. No other appointments were made. Mr. George was Automobile Commissioner during the last two years of the Crothers administration.

COUNTIES ASK HELP

The Macedonian cry was "Come over and help us." Today, the counties of the Eastern Shore of Maryland and many on the Western Shore raise their voices and shout "by your votes against the liquor traffic, help us!" The counties have voted the liquor business out of existence but because of the wholesale and retail houses in our big city of Baltimore the conditions are not as good as they might be. The voters of Kent cannot do more at this time but beseech the people of Baltimore to vote out liquor and thus not only help themselves but help their neighbors over here.

When the missionaries were sent abroad into foreign countries they found the people ready to receive the Gospel, but in the same boat was carried the demon rum which seemed to vitiate much of the good aimed at by these devoted missionaries. The latter wrote home to friends beseeching them to get the shipment stopped.

There is no two sides to the liquor question. Even its advocates can not advance a sound argument and stand upon two weak and puny legs—Personal Liberty and Revenue.

Archbishop Ireland says, "The claim of saloon keepers to freedom in their traffic, is the claim to spread disease, sin and pauperism. The great cause of social crime is drink. If I go to the gallows and ask the victim its cause, the answer is—Drink. Then I ask myself in perfect wonderment, WHY DO NOT MEN PUT A STOP TO THIS THING?"

Some plead that we need the revenue from the liquor traffic. Would you be willing to accept revenue from licensing slavery lottery, polygamy, the opium traffic, gambling and prostitution? Permanent prosperity will not come to a people who derives its revenues from the vices of its people. For every dollar of revenue Baltimore secures from the traffic, $20 is paid to support it and its victims. According to the United States Supreme Court we are richer without this revenue for she will be a gainer a thousandfold in the health, wealth and happiness of our people.

Money! There are some things that money cannot buy. What price do you put on your boy and girl? Were millions lost in revenue from destroying the liquor business, it must be ended, because the traffic destroys morals and men. The news from States which have tried Prohibition should be sufficient to convince any man that the loss of revenue is really not felt. Kansas is today free of debt and a shining example of what effect the banishment of liquor can have on a people.

Look at our border State of West Virginia which only "went dry" a year or two ago. What a striking comparison! West Virginia, dry for just two years, reduces her tax rate from 14 to 10 cents on the hundred dollars. Maryland, in the grip of the liquor traffic, raises her tax rate from 32.3 cents to 35 cents on the hundred dollars, and next year it is to go higher.

Prosperity with a big P is the rule in West Virginia. Property values since the state went dry have increased by leaps and bounds. Saloons which were not respectable and could not rent for much money have been transformed into decent places of business and their value thereby enhanced. Breweries have been rebuilt into places where useful commerce is carried on. The deposits in savings banks have increased by tremendous sums. Men are spending more money for groceries, dry goods, shoes and clothing, thereby imparting a new impulse to the financial movement, which has been felt in every department of commercial activity throughout the state. The action of the state authorities in making a reduction of 4 cents on the hundred dollars in the levy for this year is a reflex of the improved business conditions following the closing out of the saloons in that state.

If Maryland is wise, she will close the saloons in every section of the state in November, next.

Local Notes

THE Still Pond Grange will meet this Saturday afternoon at 2 30.

BIDS will be advertised for shortly for the building at the college to replace William Smith Hall.

THE auto firm of Owen L. Smith & Co. have this week sold to Mr. Wm. L. Fowler a Regal 5-passenger machine, to be used in his business. They also sold to Coleman Bros., of near Melitota, a Ford.

A FARMER near town, Mr. James Merrick, Jr., has a flock of 30 sheep from which he sheared 255 pounds of wool, and for which he received $91.80. A young ewe yielded 14 pounds and 11 ounces of wool!

THE directors of the People's National Bank and Citizens' National Bank, of Middletown, Del., at a joint meeting last Wednesday, decided to consolidate the two institutions into one trust company. It will probably be several months before the plans are perfected.

TAKE a look at your neighbor's yard. It may look better than yours. Your neighbor may even be cleaning it up while you are looking, when as a matter of fact you ought to be cleaning up yourself in order to make your yard better than his. That is the way to make strangers look twice at a town as they pass through.

ON Tuesday the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway disposed of four of its old steamers which were household words among the traveling public to Eastern Shore points. They were bought by City Councilman Jording, who said he would make junk of them except the hulls, which he expected would be found valuable by towing companies to fit up as barges. The steamers sold were the iron side-wheelers Enoch Pratt and Helen, the propeller steamer Chesapeake and the wooden propeller steamer Minnie Wheeler, built in Baltimore in 1881.

THROUGH the kindness of Mr. Raymond Moody, the Men's Club of the M. E. Church has arranged to have Mr. Edgar T. Fell lecture next Wednesday evening at the M. E. Church on "The Ford Expedition and Constuctive Peace." From what we can learn of Mr. Fell's attainments, we are assured that such a talk will be highly interesting and exceedingly instructive. Bring a silver offering and hear this talented young man speak. Special music.

ROASTING ear corn stalks three feet high were shown this week by Isaac Brown, the early gardener of Mr. Samuel Vannort, of Chestertown.

As most of the cheap American flags are "made in Germany" there will be a shortage this year for Fourth of July celebrations and other occasions. There ought to be a U. S. law against foreign competition in the making of American flags. That we must go to Germany to get cheap flags is about the limit.

MR. GEORGE V. BYRON had a box of immense frogs for sale here last week. They were caught up Chester river. He also had the first soft crabs Monday.

AN enjoyable dance was held Friday evening in Firemen's Hall. The music was furnished by the Whiteley-Healy orchestra.

THE Junior Class of the Chestertown High school gave an interesting play Monday evening at the Grammar School Auditorium to a good crowd. The play entitled, "Ye Village Skeme of Long Ago," was acted in a charming manner.

THE curfew law for Kent County went into effect June 1.

PREPARATIONS are being made to put the annual dressing upon the state road from Chestertown to Centreville and from here to Galena. Also in Chestertown a much-needed dressing will be put on.

WHISKEY was plentiful Decoration Day. Here is the result of its work: Buddy Rattler, House of Correction, 4 months; Matt. Graves and Sliny Thomas held for grand jury, charged with selling rum; Addie Glenn, Butcher Murray and Jessie Stewart, fined each $5; Marion Cann, 12 months in House of Correction; Sylvester Freeman, 60 days in jail; H. Gilbert was held for grand jury for larceny of bicycle.

NEXT Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, in the court house at Chestertown, Mr. Reuben Brigham, State Agent of Boys' Corn Club, and Mr. H. E. Warner, of the Baltimore Sun, will explain the Corn Club work and the Home State Tour of corn contest prize winners for this fall. It is proposed to organize for the October tour of the State corn prize winners Both county and town people are invited.

THE NONAGENARIAN, 1818-1911

Dedicated To My Mother

Dear Lord—the Christ, I sing the song that millions more have sung,
But find this feeble frame of mine—this falt'ring, aged tongue
Too weak to sound the love afar that fills this heart of mine
With joy, with hope, with happiness, with blissful peace divine.

I ope mine eyes to dimly see the days that come and go,
And praise the One that turned my steps from ways of endless woe
To "Paths of Peace;" and made me shun the world's alluring dross,
And placed my head on Jesus' breast—my arms about the Cross.

But that was many years ago—the friends who knew me then
Have long since pass'd to their reward. A galaxy of men
Have march'd athwart my wond'ring gaze—the Evil and the Just
Have wilted like the autumn leaf, and faded into dust.

But here I am—the withered leaf—still clinging to the bough
That gave me birth, but yet can scarce keep hold upon me now.
I still rejoice to think that I—"the last leaf on the tree"—
Continue yet to trend my way toward immortality.

The blighting storms of life have trac'd deep furrows on my brow,
But, as it is Divine behest, to them I humbly bow.
I raise mine eyes in mute appeal with longings not suffic'd,
To know more fully yet the love of Him—The Risen Christ.

My pray'rs ascend, tho' dark the hours that ever see me here
On this, my pillow, where I wait the Angel hov'ring near.
In sweet communion I repose—mine eyes become a flood
Of joyous tears to know I'm wash'd in "His own precious blood."

I lay me down, and in review, past scenes of life appear,
My pleasures and my wrongs alike each help to give me cheer.
To think I've stemm'd the mighty flood it thrills my ardent pride,
To feel I'll reach the other shore, and meet the Crucified.

Listen to the murm'ring breeze, 'tis but a sweet refrain
Of all those songs that gave me joy when I was "born again."
I sing again those gladsome words, "My soul looks up to Thee;"
And shout that "My Redeemer lives"—"The Rock was cleft for me.",

"His all redeeming love" has been my comfort and my guide,
And now I wait eternal peace with Him—the Glorified.
I long to stand about the throne in its celestial sheen;
To walk beside the Christ—the Lord—the lowly Nazarene.

'Tis thus I wile my hours away—my lips hold words unsung;
My heart attunes to fervent praise that quavers on my tongue.
The richness of the love that fills my heart will never wane;
And now I feel the Crown is mine—a blest reward to gain.

The Great Unknown appears quite near, the host in Heaven waits,
Angelic arms my soul sustains—"I'm sweeping thro' the Gates."
The Golden Street is at my feet where saints have ever trod;
I'll soon find rest and be at home with Jesus and my God.

All That Desirable Water Front Farm and Tract of Land Called the "Langford's Neck" or "Grey's Inn Point Farm" and known as the Edgar Strong Farm, situated in the Fifth Election District of Kent county, Maryland, in Piney Neck, on the right side of the public road leading into said neck, adjoining the lands formerly belonging to Thos. A. Hudson and others, and containing

544 ACRES
33 Roods & 22 Perches of Land more or less.

This land, all of which is most desirable, is very productive, in a high state of cultivation, and is especially adapted to the growth of corn, wheat, tomatoes, asparagus and fruits. Only about 200 acres of this land is under cultivation; about 300 acres is in wood, containing some good timber and fine cord wood, and the balance of between forty and fifty acres is in marsh land, well set in grass and affording fine pasture for cattle and sheep. There is a small Apple Orchard on the farm, as also a few Damson Teees.

The Improvements consist of a Large, Commodious and Comfortable with Eleven Rooms and Frame Kitchen, all in good repair. The house is surrounded by two lawns, facing the water, with rows of beautiful and elegant shade trees, affording the coolest and most pleasant atmosphere in summer.

THREE STORY
BRICK DWELLING

The outbuildings consist of a barn and stable combined, in excellent condiition; a new 90 foot carriage house, implement shed and work shop; a new hen house and meat house, together with all other necessary outbuildings.

There is also a two-story, four room Frame Tenant House, in good condition, on the farm.

Beautifully Situated on Chester River and Grey's Inn Creek

This property is beautifully situated on the Chester River on one side and Grey's Inn Creek on another side, and an excellent view of the water can be had from the dwelling; it makes a delightfully cool home in the summer; it is conveniently located as to schools, churches and steamboat landing; the produce from the farm can be delivered from its shores, while all of the delicacies from the water can be easily and quickly obtained. Some of the best oyster rocks in Chester river and its tributaries can be found off this farm; the adjacent waters abound in fish of all kinds, and in winter fine sport can be had for wild duck shooting from its shores.

A great opportunity is now offered for a profitable investment or to one seeking a delightful home.

TERMS OF SALE:

The terms of sale as prescribed by the decree are: One-third of the purchase money cash on the day of sale, and the balance in two equal installments, payable in six and twelve months from the day of sale, or all cash, at the option of the purchaser; all deferred payments to bear interest from the day of sale and to be secured to the satisfaction of the undersigned; all title papers at the cost of the purchaser.

All of the landlord's share in all crops for the year 1916 are reserved, while the Trustees will pay the State and county taxes for the year 1916. Possession given January 1st, 1917, together with the rights of an incoming tenant.

Feed It Again---Keep It Growing

Your Growing Crops, Like a Growing Child, Need Feeding Often

Now that your growing crops are above ground, and going good, give them a helping hand, toward maturity, by a second and even a third application of fertilizer. It will not only increase the yield and improve the quality but will hasten their maturity.

With corn and other crops, past experience has shown this method of cultivation is not only expedient but necessary to get the best yields possible. The plant food placed in the soil previous to planting will be largely consumed by the plant by June. It is time then to feed them again and help them grow. It is not too late now to overcome a bad start by a second and then a third application of fertilizer.
