DEMOCRATIC TICKET

For President:
WOODROW WILSON.

For Vice-Pressdent:
THOMAS R. MARSHALL.

For United States Senator:
DAVID J. LEWIS,
Of Allegany.

For House of Representatives:
JESSE D. PRICE,
Of Wicomico.

MAYOR THOMPSON, of Chicago, revoked the license of 22 saloons in the first step of a new campaign to enforce the Sunday closing law. When will Chestertown get in line?

THE German submarine Deutschland is on the high seas headed for home. She safely evaded the cordon of British battleships off the capes and the betting favors her safe arrival.

EX-GOV. GOLDSBOROUGH has advertised for sale his property in Cambridge. He will make Baltimore his permanent home after September 1, when he assumes his duties as president of the National Union Bank.

THE Eastern Shore Inn is winning friends daily. Why not? When the ladies take hold with a vim things must go. Success to you, Mrs. Hubbard, and your fine corp of workers.

PRESIDENT WILSON thinks that the question of granting the franchise to women is one for each state to determine itself, and that it is not properly a federal question. Governor Hughes has declared himself unreservedly for the federal amendment granting suffrage to women, of course. But that will not make him any more votes neither in Maryland nor in any other Southern State.

REPORTS from almost every county in the State show an increase in the tax rate. It may be possible to say that this or that is not managed just the way it should be, but it is very plain to any fair-minded person that "people are not contented to live the same way as they did a generation ago. They demand modern and up-to-date things of every description, and consequenfly the cost is greater." We do not say there are no "leaks," but to live the way the present generation is going we say it costs more. This is so plain it needs no further argument.

DAVID LEWIS

Having been told now that the Democratic party has nominated him for the United States Senate, the Hon. David J. Lewis may now be expected to go to work with the vigor and good sense that have made him so successful a campaigner in the past.

If there is one principle with regard to public office which the American people should adhere to more strictly than any other, it is that faithful work in office should be rewarded. Mr. Lewis has proved himself an exceptionally able and useful Congressman. Very few representatives, in this State or any other, have so quickly made themselves important factors in the work of the House or so well maintained a promptly gained reputation. His efforts in behalf of the parcel post constitute only a part of his useful activities. Only a few days ago in the House Speaker Clark, summing up the work of the Democratic Congress, referred to "David J. Lewis, the able chairman of the Labor Committee in the House—also the next Senator from Maryland—a student, philosopher and worker." The description is perfectly accurate, the prophecy will doubtless prove equally so.

So competent, indeed, has Mr. Lewis proved in office that Maryland would cast doubts upon its capacity for self-government if it failed to give him the promotion he so richly deserves. And that would still be true if his opponent in the present contest were a man of much larger political stature than he has shown himself to be.—From the Baltimore Sun.
