HOSIERY

We are, as we have always been headquarters for hose. We have children's hose, the best that money can buy, for 15c per pair, or 2 pairs for 25c. They are hard to tell from the regular 25c a pair quality. We have a special grade of ladies hose, medium weight and great wearers, at 3 pairs for $1.0

CORSETS

The best advertisement on earth that a man can have is a satisfied customer. A lady whoever puts on a pair of Bon Ton or Royal Worcester Corsets is certainly satisfied and comfortable and she tells her friends and neighbors. That's the cause of our immense sale.

GROCERIES

This is the season of the year for parties and when giving one you always want nice things to eat. We have the best at all times. Why pay a high price for second grade goods when you can get the best here.

We use coffee as our leader. We have a special grade of coffee which are selling at 20c a pound and which cannot be duplicated at any other store for less than 25c a pound. Our 28c quality, our customers say, is as good as they are used to paying 35c a pound for. Try a pound, and if not satisfied no charge will be made for it.

Soliciting a trial to convince you am yours for business.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

K. C. C.—In a recent issue THE SUN published the question of C. W. M. and the answer to it as follows:

"If a man dies owning personal and real estate in Maryland what part of each does his widow receive when they have children and he makes no will? Does her age make any difference as to the amount she receives from his estate? Also answer same question in reference to Virginia."

"In Maryland she would receive one-third of his real estate for life and one-half of his personal property for life regardless of her age. The balance of the estate would be divided among the children.

"In Virginia she would receive a one-third life interest in his real estate and a one-third absolute interest in his personal property."

What of the new law that gives a widow the third of the real estate absolutely? I think such a law was passed by the last Legislature. Please look it up and correct it, if correction is needed.

We are very glad to make the correction and appreciate your interest in calling our attention to the error affecting Maryland. The answer should have been as follows:

In Maryland the surviving widow of an intestate, who also leaves children, takes one-third of the personal estate remaining after payment of debt, etc., absolutely. If the intestate died since June 1, 1916, when the recent statute assimilating the law of descent of real estate to that of the distribution of personalty took effect, she is entitled to the same share of his real estate, absolutely. Should she prefer to do so, however, she is still entitled, to claim, in lieu of such one-third absolute share in his real estate, her old right of dower in the real estate, which consists of a life interest in one-third of all real estate held by the husband during marriage. It might be thought that in no case would it be of advantage to a widow to claim this life interest in lieu of the absolute one-third interest which the new law gives her; but as "dower" has priority over creditors, while the new statutory one-third absolute interest has not, cases may arise in which it would not, be of advantage to claim her dower right.

The only case in which the age of the widow makes any difference is when she has "dower" in the real estate, and it is sold under decree of court, in which event her life interest in a third is usually commuted into a proportion of the proceeds, paid to her outright, the amount of which depends upon her age.

SOME CONVINCING KANSAS CONCLUSIONS

As Given by Governor Arthur Capper In a Recent Address

I trust you will acquit me of the charge of boasting if, in telling "What Prohibition Has Done for Kansas," I present some facts about the state which are especially pertinent, some of the results obtained under prohibition, some of the things which have had to do with winning over the opposition:

Kansas sends more boys and girls to public schools, to the university and the colleges in proportion to population (census 1910) than any other state in the Union.

Kansas is one of the two states in the Union having the smallest number of persons who cannot read and write—less than two per cent of its population.

According to an investigation completed in December of last year and authenticated by the federal health department, Kansas has a death rate of 9 8, the lowest of any state in the Union comprised within the registration area recognized by the government.

Kansas has forty-two counties, out of a total of a hundred and five, which did not send a prisoner to the state penitentiary last year. This fiscal year it sent only 223 prisoners to the penitentiary, the smallest number in ten years. In Logan county the jail had been empty for two years when, in 1915, the authorities permitted its use as a corn crib, certainly a better purpose than filling it with the wrecks that corn juice, distilled, always makes.

Kansas has the largest per capita wealth in the nation on the basis of property assessed for taxation—$1,629.-61 for every man, woman and child in the state.

Kansas is one of the few states in the Union without bonded indebtedness. The last outstanding bond was taken up January 1, 1616.

Kansas had 31,471 business firms listed with the Bradstreet Mercantile agency during 1915. There were only 215 failures in all the lists, with a loss of but $188 000—the lowest of any state in all the Missouri Valley.

Kansas had nearly three billion dollars of taxable wealth, an increase of 79 millions in 1915, and the increase in 1916 will be more than double that amount.

Kansas municipal bonds are as salable and at as low rate of interest, as any municipal bonds in the nation. Three-fourths of the municipal securities issued by Kansas cities and towns are owned in Kansas; ten million dollars' worth of such bonds are held as an investment by the state school funds. The brewery interests proclaim to the world that Kansas is on the high road to financial ruin, but at the same time they invest their surplus in Kansas municipal bonds. They buy them because they know sober Kansas pays its debts, and its bonds are worth more than 100 cents on the dollar. The coupons coming home to roost show just who owns them.

Kansas under prohibition has increased its bank deposits more than one hundred per cent in ten years. Kansas banks increased their deposits $16,000,-000 in 1915 We have 240 millions of surplus wealth in our banks and savings institutions today, and this amount has more than doubled under prohibition

Kansas has an automobile for every fourth family, a record equaled by only two states.

The state has a permanent school fund of $10,485,299, and has invested in its school property more than 28 million dollars—an increase of one and three-quarters million dollars this year. We spent in the last year, $12 210,000 for educational purposes—an increase of almost one million dollars. We have enrolled in our colleges 27 000 students—the largest college attendance in proportion to population of any state. Our state university, agricultural college and normal schools received from the state $1,660,000 more last year than their cost of maintenance a decade ago; so, while our schools are not all that we are going to make them, we are making progress.

Strange, Yet True

An exchange says there is a farmer up the country who always pays for his paper two years in advance. He has never had a sick day in his life, never had any corns or tootache; his potatoes never rot, the weevil never eats his wheat the frost never kill his corn or beans, he never walks the floor with babies at night, his automobile never balks and his wife never scolds or snores in her sleep.

THE JAMES OLIVER No. 11 SULKY PLOW

By reason of its simple construction, light weight, easy draft, durability, and perfect work is

THE BEST PLOW YOU CAN BUY

SOME OF THE REASONS

The only sulky plow made with which you can turn either gee or haw equally well, leaving no hard spots, and avoid the necessity of plowing out corners.

It is the lightest draft riding plow made, due to the entire absence of landside friction and the even distribution of the load. The weight of the plow and driver is CARRIED instead of being DRAGGED along.

One share on the No. 11 will outlast four walking plow shares. It holds to the ground at all times, especially in dry weather. May be used with or without tongue. The turning and scouring qualities of the OLIVER PLOW BASES are unequalled.

Right after harvest you will be ready for your plow again. We have sold over 150 of No. 11 Oliver Sulky Plows within the last twelve months and will have what you may need for this Fall. Expecting another carload any day now
