Report of Analysis of Quick Lime

DELIVERED by Messrs. Ermentrout at my farm. The specimens were taken with my own hand from a number of cart loads after they were deposited in the field, and the sample was a fair representation of the whole:

Lime weight of, as pure Lime, or Oxide of Calcium,	60.37
Magnesia, weight of, as pure, or Calcined Magnesia, or Oxide of Magnesia,	22.38
Potash and Soda,	01.00
Iron and alumina, or clay,	06.60
Silica, or sand,	01.10
Silica acid, or soluble silica,	03 00
Bone earth, weight as Phosphate of Magnesia,	00 49
Loss, supposed to be carbonic acid and water,	05.15
	100

REMARKS—Every hundred bushels of this Lime contains Phosphates about equal to one bushel of Bones when ones are dissolved and infinitely divided, it is said that the immediate effects of one bushel is equal to four: if so the value of these phosphates is more than one bushel.

Respectfully, DAVID STEWART, M. D.

P. S. The above Lime is called the Epler's Rock, Reading Lime, proprietors, Zacharias & Ermentrout, Reading Pa.

I have showed the annexed to our State Ag. Chemist, Dr. Higgins and he says he could send you any amount of orders.

Extract from a letter of Fred. Wm. Heckell, M. D. of of New York.

"As under manure we understand a compound substance which restore to the soil, what previous or succeeding crops abstract. Therefore, it of course follows, beyond a doubt, that your lime must be beneficial to any soil and prevent its exhaustion." This Lime will be forwarded on accommodating terms.

Dr. R. T. Allen, of Kent county Md. has seen the original letters and report and has given us permission to refer to refer to him for further particulars.
