DEMOCRATIC TICKET

For President:
WOODROW WILSON.

For Vice-Pressdent:
THOMAS R. MARSHALL.

For United States Senator:
DAVID J. LEWIS,
Of Allegany.

For House of Representatives:
JESSE D. PRICE,
Of Wicomico.

THE agitation of putting the prisoners to work on roads must have caused the out break there Monday night!

REGISTRATION DAYS for this year are October 3rd and 10th. Let every Democrat see to it that his name is on the registration books so that he may help to swell the majority for Wilson and Marshall.

THE town Commissioners would do a fine thing if they would put a stone bed along the hitching racks on High street. They have the stone, the posts, the rods, sand and spend enough in throwing the "dug-out dirt" to pay for the labor. The county trade should certainly be given more consideration and this is a matter which can give comfort to many at small expense.

A RESIDENT of Baltimore well says, "Why this great excitement in our city over the fear that our children may fall victims to a terrible malady, when we have had in our midst for many years a legalized, mark you, a legalized traffic, allowed by law, that counts its victims of our boys and girls by the hundreds annually?

Your boys, my boys, it matters not whose,
Saloons, wide open handing out the booze,
Trays for the innocent, leading them astray,
Down the paths to ruin from the good old way,
Broken hearts, blasted hopes; oh, who cares
How many pitfalls, how many snares,
Draw our youthful ones down to their fates!
Help! save them from their doom ere too late.

Voters of Baltimore, you can save them by voting out the saloon November 7 next. Your conscience will then be clear and the responsibility for future ravages of the liquor evil will not rest on you.

MR. LEWIS' CLAIMS TO SUPPORT

"Never did the path of duty seem more clear, and never did a candidate for the United States Senate from Maryland present stronger claims for support from every voter who has the best interests of the people of his State at heart than the Hon. David J. Lewis who served so well during the last session in the House of Representatives. We will not dwell on the splendid example of his life to other poor and struggling young men, showing them how to win under apparently insurmountable difficulties. Nor is it necessary to speak of his sterling Democracy—further than to say that his record is proof sufficient that he can be trusted to stand true to our principles; he will wait for no report from a tariff board before voting to reduce the duties on woolen goods so that the real articles will be within reach of the common people, instead of their being compelled to use shoddy imitations that invite pneumonia and tuberculosis.

"These are merits which Mr. Lewis shares with many others. Good as they are they are dwarfed into insignificance when compared with his service in behalf of the parcel post. This reform had been advocated for a generation without success. The powerful organized opposition of the express companies, strongly intrenched in the lower House and absolutely controlling the Senate, made all efforts useless until David J. Lewis entered the field. Almost alone and unaided at first, jeered at and then savagely attacked by the predatory interests, he steadfastly pursued his course, studying to the very bottom of the subject until he is now universally recognized as the best informed man in America on that particular line; he finally won success just at the close of the last session of Congress, and he—far more than any other man—is responsible for the measure that will go into effect on January 1 next. As yet, we have hardly begun to appreciate what the adoption of a modern national parcel post means to the people of America. Like the telephone, banks checks and the postoffice itself, it will grow more useful with every year, and before long we will be amazed when we recall the times when we were without this convenience and source of profit. The few who oppose this reform themselves furnish a strong reason in favor of it. It cannot hurt a merchant or storekeeper unless it enables his customers to deal on more favorable terms elsewhere, and who but a narrow protectionist would deprive them of the chance to better themselves!

"All honor to David J. Lewis, our candidate for Senate and may every good citizen do all in his power to insure his re-election by on overwhelming majority."

Grain Drills

We have two used Hoe Drills that we will sell at a bargain. They are both 11x8, one is an ONTARIO and the other an EMPIRE. They have not been used long and they will be good for several years service. Come and see them.
