Local Notes

THE price of coal is up so high that it belongs in the attic instead of in the cellar.

BUY at home this Christmas. Just as good, just as cheap, and makes you feel better and also our merchants, who deserve your patronage.

THIEVES have stolen a dozen fine chickens from Rev. H. B. Jester, pastor of St. James M. P. Church.

THE home of Mr. Wm. Walter Chapman on the avenue has been greatly improved by a new coat of paint.

THE old pump house at foot of Spring and Washington avenue has been removed. The old pumps were sold to contractor Price.

THE Chestertown W. C. T. U. will meet next Tueseay afternoon at 2 30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Clifton L. Jarrell on Queen street.

A PETITION has been circulated this week by Mr. J. S. Vandegrift asking that the new bridge across Chester river start from foot of High street.

THE County Milk Producers' Association will meet at Kennedyville at 7 30 P M Friday, Dec 8th. Important business. The Peninsula Association will meet in Chestertown on the 18th of Dec.

THE local jewelry stores are ready for the holidays. They keep fine stocks and there is no need for anyone to go to the city for jewelry, etc. Try Chestertown first.

THE laying of concrete on the new road near town has been held up awaiting warmer weather. The grading has been finished to the branch and no more of the road will be disturbed until next spring.

THE Thanksgiving bird was roosting so high that only the millionaire, the farmer and a few others could afford to feast on him Thursday. They were bringing 35 and 40 cents dressed in Chestertown markets.

THE American Strawboard Co. has decided to try an experiment with auto trucks in hauling straw. The Chestertown plant has been selected to make this test and Mr. Walter Bennett arrived this week with a big machine. This auto will be used to haul the wagons.

THE paper mill whistle gave the alarm of fire at 2 o'clock Thursday morning followed by the bell on Firemen's Hall Fortunately the blaze was soon extinguished. The fire was caused by lime under the straw carrier. The heavy rain prevnented a bigger blaze. Many got as far as the cemetery when word came that the fire was out.

NEXT Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 6th and 7th, at Emmanuel P. E. Parish House will be held two extra fine events. On Wednesday evening Mrs. Jarley's wax works will be held; also a bazaar. On Thursday evening will be held a supper consisting of all the seasons's delicacies. Both of these affairs will be worthy your attention and patronage.

THE duckers have had fine sport at Wilson's Point and at Hale Point during the past week. Messrs. Edw Hurtt and E B. Pennington have bagged about 80 ducks while Mr. W. A. Pote added a wild goose to his string. Messrs. W. B. Strong, J. L. Deputy, W. G. Smyth, Edgar and Howard Strong, and others at Hale Point have had fine ducking.

ROCK HALL claims to have the oldest resident in Kent in the person of Mrs. Thomas Hague who is over 95 years of age. Joseph Culley, of Galena, is 89 years old. He has lived in Kent the greater part of his life, is active, has never worn glasses and can walk without a cane. Mrs. J W. Hurtt and Mr. Robert Comly are Locust Grove's two elderly residents, each being over 80.

THERE was a meeting at the Eastern Shore Inn Monday at 3 p. m. for the completion of the organization of the Kent County Association for Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis, also to arrange for sale of Red Cross Christmas seals. Mrs. P. A M. Brooks, Mrs. Lewis R. Woods and Mrs J. D. Bacchus were named as a committee to arrange for the sale. This is a commendable work and should have the encouragement and cooperation of all citizens.

A RARE musical treat was given a fair audience of music lovers at the Chestertown Lyceum Monday evening by Miss Gertrude Rennyson, leading soprano of the Boston Opera Company. Mr. T. Kemp Bordley is due the credit for bringing this high class artist to our town. She is attractive in statue, majestic in carriage, beautiful in her translation of the composers' themes, sweet in voice and the synonym of gracefulness. The program was of extensive emotional range and one which called for interpretive resources of the highest order. We would have enjoyed more of the English renditions but inasmuch as she gave some of English, Italian and French it made a menu for all. She was as sweet as she was pretty and as graceful as she was majestic. Miss Mabel Toulson, of Chestertown, presided at the piano as accompanist with rare skill and modestly received the applause of the audience.

FIRST SIGNS OF CHRISTMAS

Red Cross Seals Make Their Appearance Throughout State.

Perhaps you hadn't realized it, but Christmas is not so very far off and if you don't watch out Santa Claus is going to catch you unprepared on December 25th. There is no more sure sign that the holidays are upon us, than is afforded by the knowledge that the Red Cross Christmas Seals are on sale, the little stickers which are sold all over the country each year during the Christmas season to raise funds to fight tuberculosis and to better health conditions generally.

The 1916 seals have made their appearance throughout the State and in consequence a great many organizations, individuals and school children will devote considerable time and effort between now and New-Year's in an attempt to make this season's sale surpass all previous ones. The Maryland Association for Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis, which acts as State agent for the Seals, has been gradually but consistently developing the state sale until there is scarcely a town or hamlet in Maryland where there is not a selling agency of some kind.

The Christmas Seal does two very definite and desirable things—first, it is a powerful educational factor, in that it directs the attention of hundreds of thousands of people here in the state to the need for more healthful living conditions and obtains the active personal co-operation of many others in furthering the "better health" movement, including the children who assist in selling the Seals; and secondly, the Seals supply a goodly share of the funds necessary for financing the many things that have to be done throughout the State to bring relief to people suffering with tuberculosis and to keep the general public alive to the vital issues involved.
