6,000,000 WOMEN SIGN PETITION

A Great Concerted Drive Against John Barleycorn—President Wilson Urged To Stop The Production Of Malt Liquors In Interest Of Food Conservation.

March 1, 1918, stands as one of the most notable days in the history of the prohibition movement in America marking as it did the greatest concerted drive ever undertaken by the women of the United States against John Barleycorn. It was promoted by the National W. C. T. U. and took the form of a petition to President Wilson urging in the interest of food conservation that the production of malt liquors in the United States cease immediately by proclamation of the President.

The petition in its character and scope is without precedent, representing by its signatures women only, and speaking for such a multitude of organizations and individuals as to make it representative of the united womanhood of America. The list of official signatures is headed by the president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the individual signatures by the name of Mrs. Frances F. Cleveland Preston, and it represents in its entirety about 6,000,000 women.

In the long list appear the official signatures of twenty-nine presidents of national organizations, these alone representing 5,917,976 women. Among these are the names of Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, president General Federation of Woman's Clubs, Mrs. George Thacher Guernsey, president General Daughters Amercian Revolution, Mrs. H. K. Schoff, president National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association, Mrs. Robert E. Speer, president of the Young Women's Christian Association of America, Myra Kingman Miller, president National Federation of College Women, Anna A. Gordon, president National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Added are the personal signatures of numbers of the noted women of America, among them wives of U. S. Senators and Representatives, wives of governors, women members of state legislatures and Miss Jeannette Rankin, member of Congress from Montana. Among the names of educators of national repute are those of Mrs. C. C. Bradford, president National Educational Association, Ella Flagg Young, Julia C. Lathrop, Mary E. Wooley, president Mount Holyoke College, Ella F. Pendleton, president Wellsley College, M. Carey Thomas, president Bryn Mawr College, and the Dean of Women of many of the largest colleges in America.

With the individual group of petitioners are presidents and chairmen of state organizations, such as Colonial Dames, Daughters of American Revolution, Waman's Christian, Temperance Union, Red Cross Societies, Florence Crittenton Missions, Missionary Sosieties of all denominations, Equal Suffrage Associations, Federation Woman's Clubs, Woman's Committee Council National Defense, Dames of Loyal Legion, Woman's Liberty Loan Committee, Woman's Relief Corps, Nationl League for Women's Service, Federation Music Clubs, War Work Councils, Order Eastern Star, Mother's Congress and Parent-Teacher Associations, Juvenile Protective Association, State Boards Charities and Corrections, Sunshine Society, Good Government Leagues, Royal Neighbors, Anti-Suffrage Association, Ladies of the Grand Army Republic, Graduate Nurses' Association, Home Makers Associations, Child Welfare Leagues, International Order King's Daughters and Sons, Ladies of the Maccabees, Consumers Leagues, Humane Education Societies, Woman's Party, Catholic Altar Societies, Medical Women's Associations. Associations Collegiate Alumnae, Needlework Guilds, Woman's Farm and Garden Associations, Neighbors Leagues, Rebekah Assemblies, Pythian Sisters, Playground Associations, Council Jewish Women, United Daughters Confederacy, Women's Bank Associations.

There are the signatures of women state officials in suffrage states, Deputy Commissioners Public Lands, members Labor Commissioners, State Factory Inspectors, Deputy Superintendents Public Instruction, Chairmen State Public Safety Commissions, and Assistant Attorney Generals.

Standing out conspicuously are the signatures of women of national reputation, Jane Addams, Hull House, Mrs. Raymond Robins, Laura Clary, Kate M. Gordon, Hean Gordon, Mrs. Truman H. Newberry, Daisy McLaurin Stevens, member Naval Commission on Training Activities, Maud Ballington Booth, Mrs. Frances C. Axtell, vice-chairman United States Employees Compensation Commission, Alice Stebbins Wells, president International Association of Policewomen, Katherine Bement Davis, Anna Jarvis, founder Mother's Day, Kate Waller Barrett, Helen Ring Robinson, Mrs. John A. Logan.

Of wives of prominent men in America, Mrs. Philander P. Claxton, Mrs. William J. Bryan, Mrs. Wilfred T. Grenfell, Mrs. Stephen S. Wise, Mrs. Booth Tharkington, Mrs. Owen Lovejoy, Mrs. Luther Burbank, and wives of United States Senators and Representatives, of governors, of members State Supreme Courts, Attorney Generals, State Senators and Representatives, State Auditors, Commissioners Labor, Secretaries of State.

Among the petitioners are authors, editors, artists, pen women, doctors, lawyers, from almost every state in the Union are the signatures of journalists; conspicuous are the names of the authors, Alice Hegan Rice, Gene Stratton Porter, Marietta Holley; of artists and illustrators, Mary Mears, Jessie Smith, and Annetta St. Gaudens.

It is a "Win the War" appeal from women who are responding to all conservation requests of the United States government.

It is safe to say that no petition of similar magnitude, representing so many organizations of national importance and carrying the official or personal signatures of so many women well known in educational, social, religious, moral and political fields was ever presented to the President of the United States.
