The Liberty Loan Campaign opens today. Kent's quota is 500,000. Let's get busy and subscribe for the amount at once. There are about three million dollars on deposit in Kent banks and surely one-sixth in bonds would not be much of a sacrifice.

Registration days this year will be October 1 and 8, at which time new voters may register or those who have changed their places of residence may transfer to their new voting places. The official notice of time and places is published elsewhere in this issue.

No one should confuse the political registration with Uncle Sam's registration, which was for selective draft service and does not entitle a registrant to vote. In our opinion, to vote is a duty as well as a privilege, and while politics must take a rear seat in war times, every one entitled to register and vote should attend to it. Better do it the first day—Tuesday, October 1.

WAR WORK CAMPAIGN

Early in November, when the Liberty Loan campaign will have closed and the Thanksgiving spirit is in the air, the people of Maryland will be called to give, in thankfulness, in gratitude and glad hearts, $1,500,000 in order to make easier and more comfortable the lot of the American forces on the battle fronts and in the war camps of the country.

This money will be part of a fund of $170,500,000 that the country will be called on to raise in the week of November 11-18 for the work that has been undertaken among American soldiers and sailors overseas and here and among our Allies as well, by the Young Men's Christian Association, the Young Women's Christian Association, the Knights of Columbus, the Jewish Welfare Board, the War Camp Community Service, the American Library Association and the Salvation Army.

At the request of President Wilson, the appeals for funds for these agencies which are recognized by the War Department as accepted instrumentalities through which men in the ranks are to be assisted "in many essential matters of recreation and morale," have been combined into one appeal which is to be presented to the country at one time, "in order" to quote the President "that the spirit of this country in this matter may be expressed without distinction of race or religion in support of what is in reality a common service." Kent's quota is placed at $9,000 and we feel confident our people will do their best.

JUST WHY USE OF SUGAR HAS TO BE CUT DOWN

Just why is sugar so scarce at the present time? This is the question that is now agitating most Maryland housewives.

"It is a very complicated situation at present," explains the head of a wholesale concern.

"The sugar crop is allocated by an International Sugar Commission at New York. Great Britain, France, Italy, the United States and Canada each get a share of the available crop. For this year Canada and the United States were each allocated 80 per cent. of their normal requirements, but conditions have altered the situation, so that in this last quarter of the sugar year a severe retrenchment will have to be made.

"When the German armies made further encroachments on northern France in their last great drive they came into possession of the main sugar beet producing part of France. Thus France needs more sugar than was anticipated at the time the allocation was made.

"Italy, too, requires more than the quantity originally allotted to her, for when the Venetian Plains were invaded by the enemy last fall, Italy lost her main sugar producing country.

"The submarine activity in the Atlantic has taken a bigger percentage of the sugar in transit to Britain, France and Italy than was expected. In consequence these countries will require more sugar than was anticipated."

There is only one solution to the problem for the present, and that is that Canada and the United States, though they themselves have lost something like 20,000 tons through the recent submarine campaign along the Atlantic coast of America, must surrender a part of their allotment to the less fortunate countries overseas. These countries have been on much shorter sugar rations than have we on this continent, and it was felt that rather than place our allies on a much lower percentage, Canada and the United States should reduce their requirements from the large percentage allotted to them in comparison to the European allotment. This reduction, coming in the last quarter of the sugar campaign, will mean a very extreme shortage of supplies.

Saving sugar saves shipping space for sending soldiers and supplies.

Housewives should learn to read the Fair Price List as faithfully as men read the baseball score.

Keep The Hun On the Run.

Now we have the enemy on the run. Now is no time to relax in our pursuit. This is the time to redouble our efforts and keep the fight in our own hands.

More soldiers must be sent and more food must be saved. The more severe the fighting, the greater is the need of certain foods to restore their energy and strength.

They need the heavy beef, not we at home. They need the sugar, not we. Save and send, that together we may bring about a glorious victory.

Rules For Conservation.

Among the ways in which the public are asked to conserve sugar, in addition to observing the honor ration of not more than two pounds per person per month for ordinary purposes, are the following:

Use white corn syrup in part in canning and preserving.

Use no more than one level teaspoonful of sugar in sweeting any cup of tea, coffee or other beverage.

Discontinue the making of rich pastries.

Use no more sugar in canning and preserving than is absolutely necessary.
