BRAVERY OF AMERICAN BOYS

Congressman Linthicum Describes The Battlefields Of France.

"How in the name of Heaven the American boys ever captured the Bellieu Woods against the vast odds which they faced, and how they were able to maintain any sort of discipline and fighting courage against the veritable rain and hail of German artillery and machine guns, is more than I can understand. The bravery of the American soldiers in that bloody conflict alone will go down in history as one of the crowning achievements of the war."

Congressman J. Charles Linthicum, who has just returned from France, where he visited a number of the battlefields, thus spoke at the big mass meeting in Chestertown Thursday night. Mr. Linthicum said the outstanding feature and the supreme wonderment of his entire trip was the hail of fire and shell through which the men must have gone in their determination to turn the Germans back from Paris, and which has since been heralded as the turning point in the war in favor of the Allies.

"Ask an Frenchman," he said," who stopped the onrush of the Germans toward Paris, and he will tell you the Americans did it. It is also the belief in Paris that had not the Americans been sent to that point at the psychological moment, the Kaiser would now be dictating peace terms in Paris instead of President Wilson turning that trick in Washington."

Mr. Linthicum said he visited the Bellicu Woods, which were on a rather steep hill, and that to his utter astonishment many of the tree trunks that were left standing, contained hundreds of bullets and pieces of shrapnel showing that the German fire concentrated on that one sector, was like a hail storm, and his wonder was, that there were any Americans left to tell the tale. He said for miles around the woods, the innumerable nests of German Machine guns and artillery, were all turned on that woods, and when the Americans advanced over the top, they must have been raked as never before a sector of its size was raked, with fire and steel. He also visited the Chateau-Thierry sector, where the Americans again distinguished themselves, and said the same story was applicable there.

HORTICULTURAL MEETING

The Peninsula Horticultural Society has arranged a very interesting and instructive program for the meeting to be held in Bridgeville, Del., on Jan. 14th, 15th and 16th. F. M. Soper, the apple king, will report on apples and Orlando Harrison, the peach and nursery king, will report on peaches. There will be experts on all phases of the spraying proposition and Prof. McCue, of Delaware College, will conduct a round table on spraying in which experts, both scientific and practical will take part and give their experiences. Dr. Quaintance, U. S. Entomologist, who for years has been investigating fruit insects; Dr. Headlee, State Entomologist of New Jersey, and Prof. Ernest N. Cory, State Entomologist of Maryland, will all be present and will be able to tell all that is known about these pests and how to get rid of them. A dozen other speakers will take part in the program and the State Corn Show program will follow immediately. The apple show will be the biggest and best ever held on the Peninsula.

The State Grange will meet in Dover on Tuesday, December 10th. Horace L. Dilworth, of Wilmington, will preside.

IN MEMORIAM

Died October 12, 1918, Annie M. beloved wife of William Berryman.

When I saw my precious darling,
Whom I tended with so much care,
Slowly fading from my presence,
How my aching heart despaired.

The Days are so long since you left me
And the nights are so lonely and drear,
But my home would be full of love and light,
If my darling wife was here.

By Her Devoted Husband.

We did not know the pain you bore,
We did not see you die,
We only knew you were taken away,
Before we could say good bye.

We never can forget you Annie,
While in this world we stay,
When the frown of death overcomes us.
Meet us, dear Annie, on our way.
Peaceful be thy rest, dear Annie,
'Tis sweet to hear thy name.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.

By Her Loving Mother and Father.

My heart in deep sorrow return to the day,
As memory recalls how death bore you away
And left me in tears in grief and in woe,
As I stood by your side one month ago.
A devoted sister I once had,
How sweet her memory still,
But death has left a vacant chair,
This world can never fill.

By Her Brother Willie.

Rest dear sister thy labor's o'er,
Thy willing hands will toil no more,
A faithful sister both true and kind,
A more loving sister you could never find.

By Her Brother Alvin.

A tear within a brother's eye,
A brother's breaking heart
Can only tell the agony,
How hard it was to part.

By Her Brother Millard.

Farewell, dear Annie, a sad farewell;
The loss to us no tongue can tell;
Your stay on earth was short, but sweet,
We hope in Heaven we soon shall meet.
Her busy hands are folded,
Her toil on earth is done;
Her troubles are all ended,
Her heavenly crown is won.

By Her Loving Sisters, Myrtle and Yula.

What is the difference between an OCULIST and an OPTOMETRIST?

The Oculist treats diseased eyes and fits glasses according to the laws of optics. The Optometrist uses the same means for detecting any disease, but does not treat, but refers to the Oculist or family Physician. The Optometrist fits glasses according to the laws of optics just the same as the Oculist, but without drugs or drops.
