MAY ESTABLISH AERIAL ROUTE TO THE SHORE

Master Stewart Littlepage, of Baltimore, has returned home after a prolonged visit of three months with his grandmother, Mrs. Charles Jones, of Rock Hall.

Miss Helen Jones, of Rock Hall, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Bertha Littlepage, 2118 W. Mulberry street, Baltimore.

Airplanes laden with both freight and passengers may soon be seen making daily flight across Chesapeake Bay between points on the Eastern and Western Shores. Steps have been taken to organize in Baltimore a company to put flying on a commercial basis. Options have been secured on a field at Libert Heights avenue and Buck's lane, Baltimore, and also for a field on the waterfront east of River View. Bids have been submitted to the United States Government for the purchase of 50 planes wheich were built for the army.

These preliminary steps have been taken with a view of establishing a regular mail freight and passenger route between the two shores of Maryland.

The planes, for which negotiations have been started, will carry ten passengers, or an equal weight of freight. The company proposes to start its air-line between Baltimore and Chestertown, and will make every effort to obtain mail contracts from the post-office department.

The incorporators of the new company are: Lieu. W. B. Smoot, recently of the Aviation Corps of the United States Army; Lieut. E. A. Dietrich, of the British Royal Air Forces, a Baltimorean, and A. P. Bengal, a Baltimore business man. Lieut. L. T. Lenderking, Jr., and R. F. Bengal are also interested in the company.

Both Lieut. Smoot and Lieut. Lenderking have just received their discharge from the army.

HAND OF DEATH

W. Cookman Orrell.

Walton Cookman Orrell, for many years leader of the Republican party in Queen Anne's county, and former postmaster of Centreville, died at his home on Commerce street, Centreville, Friday morning at 2.45 o'clock.

The deceased was born October 26, 1861, in Queen Anne's county. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Zebulon Orrell, native of Talbott county.

As a young man Mr. Orrell learned the trade of blacksmithing and wheelwrighting, and first began business for himself at Wye Mills. He married Miss Cora Edora Story, who died in 1913. He moved from Wye Mills to Chestertown, and later to Washington, D. C., where he engaged in the same business. Later he returned to Wye Mills, and it was there that he first commenced to manifest an interest in politics. He was appointed magistrate, and served in this capacity for four years.

Nineteen years ago he removed, with his family, to Centreville, and established a blacksmithing and wheelwrighting business on the corner of Broadway and Liberty street. A few years after coming to Centreville he began to take a greater interest in politics and in 1904 was appointed postmaster of Centreville to succeed John E. Wilson.

As postmaster, Mr. Orrell served three four-year terms. In 1904 and 1908 he was appointed by the late Theodore Roosevelt, and in 1912 President Taft re-appointed him.

For a number of years the deceased had been prominent in musical circles and had instructed and led numerous bands during his life including one in Chestertown.

He is survived by four children, viz.: Mrs. Harry P. Draper, of Centreville; Sergeant W. Cookman Orrell, Jr., with the American Expeditionary Forces in France; Mrs. Clarence L. Butler, of Golt, and Robert H. Orrell, of Centreville.
