I had the best doctors in Eau Claire and they wanted me to have an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me so I did not need the operation, and I am telling all my friends about it."—Mrs. A. W. BINZER, Black River Falls, Wis.

YESTERDAY, TODAY AND TOMORROW

Yesterday: War raged in Europe. Khaki clad boys streamed from camp to ships, across and into the mud of the trenches. Each day brought its casualty list, the list that meant the end of all happiness for thousands of hearts. Mothers and fathers gave up their sons to the service with prayers for the uncertain future, bravely facing the possibility of their loss. Sacrifice was the order of the day, sacrifice for the ideals and principles for which this country stands. And these principles won.

Today: We are celebrating Victory. In a far shorter time than that which the most hopeful optimists judged would be necessary the American soldiers turned the tide on the enemy, forcing him to sue for peace. By the wholeheartedness with which the United States went into the war an untold number of lives were saved. The greater part of the army of two million men that was sent across the ocean are already home, the rest, barring the sixty thousand who lie in France, will be back before many weeks. America has cause to be grateful, and the opportunity to "show forth" this gratitude presents itself at the present moment. By supporting the Victory Liberty Loan we can not only express our thankfulness but make the future sure.

Tomorrow: There will be peace. Peace that brings prosperity will follow the meeting of today's obligations. The sooner business industries are resumed the sooner tomorrow will be here, but business cannot be normal until all obligations of the nation have been met. This can best be accomplished through the support of the government.

Yesterday, sacrifice and uncertainty—Today, Victory and obligation—Tomorrow, peace and prosperity.

A BIG WAR TANK IN ACTION HERE

An Exhibition Given In Chestertown Of A Thrilling Character—College Students As Fighters—Visits Other Places In Kent.

The Victory Loan Committee put on a real stunt Tuesday afternoon when a monster tank known as a "Whippet" reached Chestertown by train and an exhibition was given in the ravine near the water works at 4 p. m. Allan A. Harris opened the meeting on the square near the News office and introduced Sergeant Nish Walkerand Gunner Roy N. Hoffman, who had seen service in France and L. B. Russell. Several thousand dollars in bonds were subscribed. After the meeting the tank went to the ravine at foot of Kent street and demonstrated its ability to climb hills, ford ditches and knock down small trees. Scores of college students armed with rifles made a vivid exhibearers were on the job.

The machine weighed 6,000 pounds bition of warfare. Even the stretcher and was equipped with a 45-horse power, 4-cylinder engine.

This tank was manned by Roy C. Hoffman, of Richmond, and Albert M. Cox, of New Jersey. Private Hoffman gave an account of some of his experiences in fighting with the tanks. Hoffman was with the British on the Cambria front and was with the large tanks. These tanks have a crew of fifteen men and weigh about thirty-five tons. They cost $50,000 each. The one in town cost about $15,000.

In one of the battles in which he fought about forty tanks went in and only fourteen came out. He said that the men from this country went in to win this war and were willing to go to any extreme because they knew that the people in this country were back of them.

Speaking of the St. Mihiel salient, Gen. Rockenbaugh, commander of the Tanks Corps, wrote to Col. George S. Patton, Jr., the head of the two battalions:

"Preceding our infantry, you not only saved us many losses, but by planting your red, yellow and blue flag well in advance and on the Hindenburg line, you had a very great, far reaching and disastrous effect on the enemy."

U. S. "Protected" Real Protection

Out in the open, where seas sweep the deck or wharf, where the gale flings broad the icy waters, fishermen who know values wear U. S. "Protected" rubber boots. These boots will keep your feet and legs dry and warm.

Comfort, economy, durability—these are the qualities that make "U. S." the best boots for you.

U. S. "Protected" rubber boots stand the hardest tests of service. They are built for double-duty, reinforced where the wear is greatest. The Government probably used more U. S. "Protected" rubber boots during the war, than of all the other makes combined.

Every pair of "U. S." bears the "U. S. Seal"—trade mark of the largest rubber manufacturer in the world. Look for this seal when buying rubber boots. It means real protection for your feet and pocketbook.

There's a kind of "U. S." specially suited to your needs. Your dealer has it or can get it quickly.
