Left all to an orphanage

I heard of a man the other day who didn't believe in life insurance so he left all he had to an orphan asylum. Did he leave much? Yes, three sons and two daughters. My telephone number is still 187 and I still represent the Continental Life Insurance Company (one of the best dividend-paying companies in America.) When you think of life insurance think of FRANK SIMPERS.

Freighting!!

Tomatoes are going up and I will pay my growers the same as Baltimore packers.

I have purchased the power barge "Dahlia" of Capt. Riggin and will be better fitted than ever to do freighting.

WEDDING NOTES

Miss Bertha M. Myers, of Betterton, and Vernon M. Robinson, of Still Pond, were married at Elkton on Saturday last.

Lieutenatn-Colonel Robert E. Jones, Infantry, Executive Officer, Camp Upton, New York, announces the engagement of his sister, Daisy Parthenia, to Ernest Arthur DeWitt, Lieutenant of Infantry, United States Army. Miss Jones is the sister of Mrs. Harry T. Williams and Mrs. Roger Harris, both of Worton, Md. One other brother is also in the regular army, Captain Charles R. Jones, 21st Infantry, stationed at Fort D. A. Russell, Cheyenne, Wyoming. Miss Jones is a former Kent county girl and at present time is a member of the Army Nurse Corps, having volunteered for this duty at the beginning of the war with Germany. For the past year she has been stationed at Manila, Philippine Islands. Lieutenant DeWitt is from Providence, Island, and at the present time also stationed at Manila, Philippines.

Miss Alice Virginia Dowling and Roland Owen Warner were married at eight-thirty o'clock, Wednesday evening, April 30th, at the Methodist Episcopal Parsonage at Rock Hall by Rev. Thurston C. Smoot. The bridal couple were attended by Miss Frances Davis and William Owens, of Betterton. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Dowling, Sr., where best wishes for wedded happiness were tendered by Mr. and Mrs. Dowling, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Warner, mother of the groom, and hosts of relatives and friends. After the departure of the guests the newly-weds repaired to the pretty little home which had been prepared for their occupancy.

The following account of the wedding of Ensign William Lester Baldwin, of Chestertown, is from the Pensacola Times published at the home of the bride:

Typical of springtime and beautiful in the charming simplicity was the marriage last evening of Miss Irene Cecile Pinney to Ensign William Lester Baldwin which was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clifford Pinney, 200 West DeSoto street at 8 o'clock.

Great quantities of delicate pink and lavander sweet peas with ferns and smilax were effectively used in carrying out the lovely decorations of the apartments which were thrown ensuite for the occasion.

In the drawing room where the impressive ceremony was performed by Reverend Father Fullerton, of St. Michal's Roman Catholic Church, assisted by Father Cullen. Florida palms and handsome potted plants formed an effective background for the wedding party. Sweet peas and pink rosebuds in tall cut glass vases filled the rooms with their fragrance and twinings of delicate fernery converted into a bower of greenery the chandelier from which pink shaded lights reflected a rosy glow.

Preceding the ceremony two violin solos, The Cradle Song, by Hauser and Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mrs. Henry Hyer at the piano accompanied by O'Brien Motta on the violin. During the ceremony Heart's Ease, by Moret, was softly rendered by Mr. Motta.

The bride had as her attendants, Mrs. Frank Courtney, of Mobile, who served as matron-of-honor and her sister, Miss Lannie Pinney, as maid-of-honor. Miss Courtney wore a beautiful French gown of orchid georgette, and Miss Pinney was lovely in a girlish model of flesh colored georgette daintly embroidered. Both carried shower bouquets of lavender and pink sweet peas. Lucy Davis, the beautiful little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcom Yonge, who served as flower-girl, was lovely in a dainty frock of white georgette with a wreath of lavander and pink sweet peas on her curls. She carried a huge, loosely showered bouquet of sweet peas. The groom had as his attendant, Lieutenant Albert I. Price, of the Pensacola naval air station.

The bride, who is of an exquisite type of brunette beauty, was a vision of girlish loveliness in her wedding dress fashioned of heavy white satin, elaborately draped with court train and tulle sleeves.

She wore a long tulle veil, becomingly arranged cap effect and caught with sprays of orange blossoms and carried a large arm bouquet of bride's roses showered with lillies-of-the-valley.

After the ceremony the guests assembled in the dining room where the bride's cake was cut and light refreshments served. Here as in the drawingroom, sweet peas carried out the decorations and the color moth of lavender and pink was shown in the lovely ices and mints. The bride's cake was of a huge heart shape beautifully embossed with pink and lavender sweet peas with a border of lilies-of-the-valley. The table, lovely in its appointments was centered with a large French basket filled to overflowing with sweet peas and delicate ferns. Intertwinings of ferns covered the chandelier and the lights were softly shaded in pink.

Mrs. Pinney, who received her guests in a handsome gown of gray georgette, elaborately embroidered, was assisted by Mrs. J. R. McLane, Mrs. Henry Hyer, Mrs. B. S. Hancock and Mrs. H. O. Anson.

Many handsome wedding gifts were received, among them a handsome chest of silver from the bride's mother.

Ensign and Mrs. Baldwin left in the late evening for an extended wedding itineary which will include points of interest in the south and northeast and will later go to Baltimore, where Ensign Baldwin is engaged in the practice of law, to make their home.

Mrs. Baldwin's traveling suit was a chic model of navy blue with hat and boots to match.

Mrs. Baldwin is one of the city's most charming and popular society girls and has hosts of friends here and in Mobile who regret that she leaves to make her home elsewhere, Ensign Baldwin, a prominent young attorney of Baltimore, was formerly stationed at the Pensacola naval air station and has numerous friends in Pensacola by whom he is being heartily congratulated.
