ROCK HALL

Lightnings prank on Sunday evening last causing the death of Miss Lillian Watson has made many heart pangs in this community.

The Conservation Commission has flooded this section with literature, suggesting the taking up of water bottoms for oyster culture. Our watermen are not that way inclined, for the simple reason, there is nothing in it for the catcher or buyer.

Among the week-end and Sunday visitors to this section were John Ayres, Charles Brown, James Davis, of Baltimore, W. G. Hindes, of Aberdeen Proving Ground, and Ara Leary and children, of Ford's Store.

A jolly good time with plenty of good eats is offered to all comers by the M. P. Society at their Church Hall this Saturday night. Let's all be there.

J. T. Taylor was badly injured a few days ago by falling from a telephone pole while in the act of adjusting an electric light.

Some of our watermen are having fine sport catching with hook and line, "hard head" fish.

Accident.—On Saturday morning while James Taylor was changing wires from an old to a new telephone pole near Reybold Wilson's store at Rock Hall, he lost his balance on the ladder and fell to the ground, cutting and bruising his face and chest and spraining his right wrist, while the ladder fell on his left wrist and smashed it. He was picked up and carried into the office of Dr. W. W. Beall which was across the street where his injuries were dressed before he regained consciousness. He later was taken to his home and is now making considerable progress toward recovery.

Serious Cutting Affray. — Jacob Pryor, colored, is in the county jail charged with assault with intent to kill his common-law wife, Mary Pryor. The assault occured Monday night at a house in "Lynchburg" where the couple occupied a room. Pryor stabbed the woman several times in the back with a knife, also nearly severed the wrist. Dr. H. G. Simpers dressed the wounds taking sixteen stitches in the incisions. After the assault Pryor escaped town before arrest but was caught near Middletown, Del., on Tuesday and committed to jail.

Accepts Position At Massey.—After seven year's service as manager of The Shop, Centreville, Owens L. Phillips has resigned to accept a position with E. Thomas Massey, of Massey. Mr. Massey is engaged in the insurance, phosphate, lime and dairy feed business and also sells Lauson tractors. After a vacation of two weeks, Mr. Phillips will become actively identified with the business interests of upper Queen Anne's and Kent counties, and later in the year probably will move his family to Massey. Mr. Phillips is a popular and aggressive young business man, and has a host of friends throughout Queen Anne's county. He should prove a valuable assistant to Mr. Massey.
