WASHINGTON COLLEGE.

This ancient Institution, founded more than seventy years ago, constitutes, with St. John's College at Annapolis, the original University of Maryland. Though it may not be known by the present generation, it is certainly true that Washington College was built by the private contributions of our forefathers; and the names of the contributors, the fathers of many persons now living, are still preserved among the archives of the College as the most precious and cherished mementoes of the past.

Washington and St. John's were liberally endowed by the Legislature of Maryland; and during a period of twenty years, while this allowance was annually received and an able Faculty maintained, flourished beyond example. Many of the most distinguished men of the State, and indeed of other States, Divines, Statesmen, Physicians and Lawyers, were graduated in this Institution.

A year or two before the close of the last century, the Legislature, under the influence of a misguided policy, deprived the Colleges of their funds. The consequence of this measure was a rapid and hopeless declension. The College languished until 1827, when a disastrous fire reduced our magnificent edifice to ashes.

The Visitors and Governors, tho' discouraged, did not despair. By continued exertion they procured a small annual grant from the State and by the strictest economy in the management of their resources and employing for some years only one Professor, they accumulated a fund by which the present building was erected, a Philosophical Apparatus of limited extent, but of superior quality, was procured and the nucleus of a Library was formed.—To these, annual additions are made as our narrow funds will allow.

This building presents a handsome exterior, but is too small to accommodate more than the family of the Principal and 16 to 20 boarders and afford recitation-rooms for more than 50 to 60 students. Of course, the great desideratum now is an additional building containing comfortable chambers. We have grounds for the belief that if comfortable accommodations were provided for fifty more Boarders, that number would soon be supplied. It is the intention of the Visitors to employ additional Professors of known ability and zeal; and having placed the College under the government of DR FRANCIS WATERS, a gentleman of undoubted qualifications in every branch of the full collegiate course, they confidently anticipate ample success.

The advantages of a College located among our own people have not been fully appreciated. When our sons are sent abroad to be educated, it is at an age when impressions are easily made, but not so easily eradicated. Such impressions are generally lasting as their lives. They return home after a curriculum of 4 or 5 years with feelings hostile to our institutions and customs and with a loss of acclimation which is frequently destructive to their future health. Many thousands of dollars, which if spent in their native place, would bring forth abundant fruits of improvement, are wasted abroad to the serious detriment of their health and especially their moral culture.

With a firm conviction of the truth of these remarks—and deducing hence the absolute necessity of a Peninsular College, we confidently appeal to the liberality of our fellow citizens to aid us in our enterprise. We have in hand funds to begin, but insufficient to complete, the erection of wings to the present building, of such size as will accommodate the large additions we expect to the present number of pupils.—We wish to give them fine, airy, commodious and healthy apartments. And we pledge ourselves to use every exertion in order to secure a full and able Faculty and promise us complete an education, moral and scientific, as can be had at any college in the United States.

By order,

E. F. CHAMBERS,
Pres Board of Visitors.
