WELCOME

When Freedom from Her mountain height looks down on you and me,
And views this demonstration to you boys from o'er the sea—
To each brave lad in khaki clad—to him who wears the blue—
She'll hear our shouts of welcome as the eagle screams for you.
A kindred feeling thrills our hearts with all consuming pride,
To greet once more you soldier boys on whom the world relied
To fling a despot from this throne—to bear a wondrous creed
To men who dreamed of liberty, but never knew its meed.
No matter where you served the flag, you had but one intent,
To show the world that Maryland had loyal sons in Kent:—
You stood between the starry flag and one we now abhor,
And waited for the day you'd cross the Rhine's polluted shore.
"They of the free heart's hope and home," throw wide your folds today
O'er these the boys who drew the sword that held our foe at bay;
They're with us now—we know their worth—to each we proudly bow,
And with immortal chansons place the the laurel on each brow.
The thunders of the mighty surge no longer shake the world—
The warring legions rest in peace—their battle-flags are furl'd:
The boys who left our homes are here again within our ken,
Enough to pale the glories of a million other men.
The trumpets hail them one and all—come, let your smile attest
Your ready welcome to the boys—to these, Kent county's best:—
Then, as you smile, forget not them—The ward afore the foe—
Nor let reflection fail your soul to heed another's woe.
Now, hero's all, forth among the toilers of the earth—
Leap to the fray without delay—discover what you're worth—
Strike hard and well, your deeds will tell—you have the brain and thew;
Our State should feel her wondrous weal to have such boys as you.

DEMOBILIZATION AND HOME-COMING SERVICE

Christ M. P. Church Scene Of An Interesting Welcome Service In Honor Of The 28 Soldier Boys Who Went From That Church—All In States But One.

Sunday evening between 7 and 8 o'clock a hearty welcome was extended the following 28 boys whose service in the late war was recognized by stars in a flag hung near the pulpit: James L. Bacchus, Barber R. Bartley, Max Blakeney, Norman S. Crouch, Arthur Cooper, Julian R. Carter, Nick L. Denny, Wm. L. Denny, Wm. Eli Elliott, Charles Lee Gill, E. Leon Hicks, Webster Hague, Gaylord Hurlock, William Henry, Wilbur R. Hubbard, Joseph Lambert, Harold Matthews, W. Graham Nelson, Bryan Newton, W. F. Russell, Jr., L. B. Russell, Jr., O. B. Stafford, Charles F. Smith, Everett Sheats, Walter Truitt, Galen Vansant, Albert L. Wheat, Perkins Rolph.

All but one of these boys are in the States and this church deemed it fitting to celebrate their home coming with a welcome and demobilization of the service flag. Blooming flowers and flags adorned the pulpit while a fine audience was present to show their interest.

The program included introductory remarks by the leader, prayer by Dr. L. E. Barrett followed by words of welcome from the following departments:

Rev. J. L. Ward, Church.
Mrs. Amy McMenamin, Sunday School.
Mrs. Ella Robinson, Christian Endeavor.
Miss Flossie Kent, Intermediates.
Miss Myrtle Needles, Juniors.
J. W. Russell, Young Men's Club.

Col. W. J. Vannort a Civil War vetrean and who has recently passed his 84th milestone, spoke for the heroes of the past.

W. Frazier Russell, Esq., on behalf of the returned soldiers, made the address in response to the welcome speeches.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hydie Thompson sang a beautiful duet during the program while appropriate songs of praise and thanksgiving were renrered by the audience and choir.

The closing number was the bestowing of a L. L. S. on each boy in this manner: While Misses Maud Duyer and Dorothy Woodall pinned a daisy on each star of the service flag the congregation read in concert "Recessional."

The leader announced that the white border of the daisy stood for Love, the gold of the centre for Loyalty and the red of the service flag for Service thus making the L. L. S. Then came a solo "Home, Sweet Home" by Mrs. Fred. G. Usilton, the audience singing the chorus followed by prayer and benediction by the pastor.

NEGRO ACCUSED OF MURDER

Joseph Price, colored, 33 years old, was arrested at Owens Cottage, Betterton, Friday afternoon by Officer Robert Moore and brought to Chestertown and given into the custody of Sheriff George W. Carter, charged with the murder of a white man, Jacob Price, in New York City June 17th. The accused man kept a clothes-cleaning and repair establishment in New York. On the date named the murdered man is said to have gone to the negro's store and pulled out a roll of money amounting to $490. This is said to have excited the negro so much that he struck the white man, causing his death.

The dead man was found in the negro's store the next day. The negro was traced to Kent county through a letter to friends and found at Betterton, employed as a waiter. He admits having struck Jacob Price in his store but says he only got $90. The murdered man was about 60 years old.
