Still Pond Grange No. 245 met in Betterton school house Tuesday night, January 13, 1920, at 5.30. Adelightful supper was served to all present. After supper we went to the upper room, the meeting was called to order by our Worthy Master, J. Leonard Price. The first on the program was installation of officers by Brother Hepburn. The meeting was then turned over to our Worthy Lecturer, she took for her subject for the evening "Smiles," and had the Grange to sing two pieces about smiles. Our Worthy Lecturer read a piece on smiles. Mr Rickey was asked to tell something about smiles: he recommended Rhode Island Red chickens for laying, and Plymouth Rock and Wyandotte chickens for table use; he also recommended dry mash for winter feeding, and wet mash for summer, given in the middle of the day. If the ladies were to feed their chickens as he recommended they would have plenty of smiles these days with eggs soaring upward. Our Worthy Lecturer introduced a play called smiles, every one entered heartily and enjoyed it very much. Dr. Clark was then asked to give something on smiles. He reminded us of the fact that sometimes what made the patrons smile, made the taxpayers frown. Mr. Derrick was asked to give us something on smiles, he took for his subject lime he said if farmers would use lime intelligently, the result would be so great the farmers would have plenty of smiles. You will hear more about this subject at the last meeting of the Grange this month, also at the Farmers Club. This very interesting meeting closed with singing Smile, Smile
