THE NEWS.

CHESTER TOWN, Md.

Saturday Morning, May 20, 1854.

☞The large amount of advertisements have filled our columns to the exclusion of nearly all other matter.

(Correspondence of the Kent News.)

WASHINGTON, May 16, 1851.

Since my last letter, but little of much moment has transpired. The "Nebraska" bill is still under discussion in the House, and the friends and opponents of the measure last week were arrayed to such an extent against each other that it was feared the hall would have become disgraced again by scenes of former times. They continued in session three days and nights without adjourning, but finally made a compromise, and adjourned over to get fresh air and look at the out-door world! Some of the savans of the day seem to think the measure will pass, and others are of the opinion it will not; but those who are mere "lookers on in Venice" don't care a fig whether it passes or not.

The "Indigent Insane" bill, which passed both Houses a few weeks since, has been vetoed by the President, and is now undergoing another discussion in the Senate. It is thought the veto will be sustained.

It appears that the "Black Warrior" affair is not settled yet, and the report is that our Minister, Mr. Soule, has demanded of the Spanish government the recall of the Captain-General of Cuba, and also demanded a large sum of money as indemnity for the Black Warrior. Things begin to look squally in that quarter, and a debate is expected soon to take place in the Senate which will no doubt place matters in their true light.—If we may judge from the signs of the times, Cuba is the great point of attraction at this time, and many entertain the belief that before many months roll by, she will be added to this great sisterhood of States! If the government of the United States should even wink at an invasion of the Island, there are hundreds, yea thousands, who are ready and willing to leap into the contest, and stake their all on the result, if we are to judge from what we hear and read day after day. But if the Island should be invaded and the United States become the victors, then the question will arise whether it shall become slave or free territory, and then will commence again a battle at home, to decide its fate! Some of the more rabid and ultra journals at the North have already spoken out, and have said, in bold and unmistakable language, that it shall not become slave territory; or, if it shall, it will have to be done by the dismemberment of our glorious Union! So it seems we are ever to be annoyed by the cry of "slavery and freedom," and "freedom and slavery." And there is scarcely a subject brought before the National Legislature now-a-days, that is not burdened with this sickly and painful theme, and constantly harped upon by discontented and mischief-making politicians, who seem to be always at work to keep the country in a feverish state, instead of legislating to give it a healthy tone, and exerting their best efforts to bring about a condition of things that will be calculated to quiet all opposing parties, and give peace—lasting peace—to our common country.

Yesterday (Monday) was a gay day here for the celebration of the "Sunday School Anniversary." The day was beautiful and the girls and boys, forming a procession of about two thousand, presented a magnificent appearance. The whole city seemed to be on the move, and nothing but smiling faces were to be seen. The children were marched to the Capitol grounds, where seats were prepared for them, and were addresed by the Rev. Mr. Dashiel of the M. E Church. The address was highly spoken of, and said to have made a very favorable impression upon his youthful audience.

During the debate yesterday (Monday) in the House of Representatives, some words passed between Mr. Craig of N. Carolina, and Mr. Hunt of Louisiana, which it is thought may lead to a duel! The former gentleman asserted that the latter was a "factionist," which Mr. H. said was "false." I believe tantamount to a lie!

I have heard nothing about the adjournment of Congress as yet; it is thought the session will be a very lengthy one. There is a great amount of business before both Houses, and unless members go hard to work, and stop calling for the yeas and nays on ever occasion, they will find it necessary to keep in session the year round. It is very annoying to those who come from a distance to get a peep at their Represematives and see them transact the business of the nation, to enter the hall of the House and find them wasting their time in unprofitable debate, and calling every few minutes for the yeas and nays, in order generally to kill time, and to create noise and confusion in their deliberations!

I believe we are at last permitted to bask in the sunshine, and to feel the gentle and invigorating zephyrs, of Spring! Though she came forth amid the gloom of Winter, and struggled hard and long to dispel it, she has finally conquered her foe, and now reigns supreme. She has wove and spread her velvet carpet in every direction, has clothed the trees with their delicate and gorgeous drapery, has called around us innumerable sweet and gay birds to delight and cheer us with their love songs, and last, though not least, has given birth to the ten thousand beautiful flowers that constantly exhale their odor and delight the gaze of man! Who would not have it Spring always?
