SATURDAY, MAY 22, 1920

Another fatal accident recorded in News. Again we advise our autoists to "go slow." "Safety first" should be the motto of all drivers.

The "strike" at the college is off. Students returned Thursday. The boys made a mistake. If they do not realize it now, they will later.

Kent was highly honored at the State Convention by the selection of one of its citizens as a district delegate. Capt. Curtis E. Crane was bestowed this honor.

Senator France has become the laughing stock of the country in his statement that he is willing to become the Republican candidate for President. What fools money makes of men and women, too.

"Old man" Weller, the Republican candidate for United States Senator, has come out "Wet." Now let's see what'll happen. Congressman Andrews will have to vote against him if he is consistent.

Debs, convict No. 2253, is a candidate for President on the Socialist ticket. This party polled 600,000 votes in 1916. The Socialists are known as the party of the discontents, but have leaders of poor judgment and less tact.

Asked to hurry to the Cambridge Hospital, where many surgical cases had accumulated, Dr. Robert M. Lewis, Baltimore, stepped into a hydroplane one day recently from the landing stage, at River View Park. Fifty-five minutes later he was in Cambridge.

Director General Hines says transportation service will be less satisfactory for a while than it was during Government control. That is very discouraging, for when we consider what kind of service Uncle Sam rendered we cannot believe it could be any worse.

The Democratic State Convention in Baltimore this week passed a resolution in favor of beer and wines. The Republicans, altho "wetter" than the Democrats, will likely ignore the question. Until the Supreme Court gives its opinion we think this question of "wet" or "dry" is not a matter for decision by parties.

With a shortage of farm labor threatening to be as acute as in 1918, Secretary of Agriculture Meredith has issued an appeal to city men, college students and others who can do so to spend their vacations working on farms, particularly as helpers in the harvest fields. Reports to the Department from practically every State indicate that the supply of hired farm labor is only about 72 per cent of normal, compared with 84 per cent normal a year ago. Secretary Meredith feels that the situation must be relieved if food production is to be brought to near normal. What is needed is an increase rather than a decrease in farm crops.

From Hammond, Ind., comes word of unemployment. Men by the hundreds, according to the story, may be seen at the factory doors daily, applying for work. Pitiful as this sounds, it has an explanation less pitiful than peculiar. The applicants seek work at wages of a dollar an hour; it appears that they readily get it at that rate or something near. Then they punch the time clock for perhaps three days, cash in their pay and retire from business to lead a life of leisure for the rest of the week. Then back to the mill; and hence the numerous applicants for work. Among the horny hands thus engaged are to be seen numbers of the former Hoosier farm workers. Who will till the corn 300 hours a month for $25 when light factory work will yield the same sum for one-tenth or so of the actual working time? And whence will come the corn at $2 a bushel, with no farm help at the wages that made that figure possible?

What does it mean? Stores all over the country are advertising 10, 20 and 25 per cent reduction in clothing, dresses, shoes, etc. The greatest orgy of buying that Omaha has ever experienced was staged all of Monday when the big department stores, in a war among themselves, started cutting prices. At the close of business at night some of the stores were cutting as much as 50 per cent and practically all of the larger ones in the city were involved.

Various reasons are given for the price war, the usual one being the desire of the stores to help knock the high cost of living. However, the President of the Brandeis stores, the largest in the city, says in a full page advertisement in the afternoon newspapers:

"For several weeks we have known the high prices of merchandise could longer be maintained. The change in the money market made that impossible. The reduction has now come. We can afford the reduction because we can now replace merchandise in most lines at lower prices. Welcome to Chestertown and Kent county.

Be sure of getting Genuine Ford Parts—don't buy Gold Bricks. I solicit your repair business. C. A. Goodwin, Ford, Fordson, Authorized Dealer, Chestertown, Md. 2t

The Rev. Dr. John Heyl Vincent for many years a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church and notable among other things as the founder in 1878 of the Chautauqua Assembly in New York, died suddenly Sunday at his home, 5700 Blackstone avenue, Chicago, at the age of 88 years.

JAMES G. BECK,

John T. Stone, one of Baltimore's best Christian men, died Sunday night. The death of Mr. Stone is a big loss to the business community of Baltimore. He had been identified with every movement of importance that had to do with the building up of the city, its trade, its morals, and the company which he founded had not a little to do with the prestige of that city in the surety business of the country.
