The Moral Effect of Being Insured

Have you ever stopped to think that to be insured makes us better—morally better? It is the performance of a duty—the fulfillment of a natural desire—the protecting of our own. It calls for the payment of money—a sacrifice and without sacrifices the world would be a desert. Nothing is more uplifting or has a greater moral effect upon our daily life than the knowledge of duty done and the greater the sacrifice, the greater the blessings that will surely follow. The moral effect of being insured, with everything guaranteed and made certain, is often greater than the policyholder realizes.

IN MEMORIAM

On June 10th, 1919, LEONARD E. MAGEE, beloved husband of Mary Toulson Magee, died suddenly.

I did not see him pass away,
Or did not see him die,
And only knew he passed away
Without bidding me good-bye.
I think of you in silence,
No eyes can see me weep,
But many a silent tear I shed
While others are asleep.
When you ask me do I miss him?
Yes, it fills my heart with pain,
But his spirit softly whisper,
Wheep not, in Heaven we meet again.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear son, OWEN L. HARRISON, who departed this life one year ago June 16, 1919. Gone but not forgotten.

My heart has been crushed and wounded,
My life is lonely and sad,
Which only the presence of your dear face
Could ever make me glad.
Days of sadness still come over me,
Hidden tears so often flow;
Memory keeps my son near me,
Although he died one year ago.
More and more each day we miss him,
Friends may think the wounds are healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.

By his broken hearted Mother.

We have only your memory, dear brother,
To remember our whole life through,
And that is the one we never will forget,
For we will always think of you.
The hands that toiled for us are folded
And his work on earth is done,
You have been a faithful brother
That is known by every one.

By his loving Sisters and Brother.

It is sweet to be remembered,
How nice it is to find,
Although you may be absent,
You are still within our minds.
The flowers we placed upon his grave
May whither and decay,
But love for him who sleeps beneath
Will never fade away.

By his loving Grandparents.

The flowers that is dearest and rarest,
Is the one that is killed by the frost,
And the love that is purest and fairest
Is the one that we have lost.

By his loving Aunt Clara.

For loving thoughts and sad regrets,
For days forever had;
For a nephew I loved and cannot forget
Lies with the silent dead.
Each word look and tone to my memory still clings
Like the ivy that clings to the oak;
And nothing can loosen that hold on my heart
Until severed by death's fatal stroke.

By his loving Aunt Mamie.

Attention, Farmers!

Having just received a carload of the old reliable CHAMPION BINDERS, MOWERS and RAKES and being advise by manufacturers that another invoice is doubtful, and if so, at about 15 per cent advance. We would advise an early order. This machinery needs no boosting as it is too well known on this market. So we advise all who are in the market for them and our other well famed machinery to give us our earliest favor.

A Five Year Investment Yielding 7.70 Per Cent

Available in $1000 and $500 Amounts

The bond secured obligations of one of the three largest companies of its kind in the United States

Fifty-eight per cent. of the population of the entire state of California is served with such everyday necessities as gas and electricity by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, which is one of the three largest organizations of its kind in the country.

Gross earnings of the Company in 1919 were over $26,500,000. Net earnings for the last five years, after liberal depreciation charges, have averaged nearly twice interest requirements. About two-thirds of the Company's installed electrical capacity is derived from hydro-electrical developments.

We recommend and offer the five year 7% Notes of this Company, due May 1, 1925, at 97½ and interest, yielding 7.70%. These Notes are secured by deposit with the trustee of the Company's general and refunding mortgage 5% bonds. The market value of the deposited bonds must be maintained to at least equal 115% of the par value of all Notes outstanding.

The Notes may be converted at par, if desired, any time prior to April 1, 1925, into the Company's preferred stock at 95, or on or before May 1, 1922, into its common stock at 80, and thereafter until April 1, 1925, at 85.

Our association with this Company's financing extends over a great many years. Our recommendation of this Note issue is, therefore, the outgrowth of an intimate knowledge of its security.

Additional details regarding this issue will be sent upon request for circular CE-1. Our Mr. E. Holt Eliason will be pleased to give all Kent County inquiries his personal attention.
