FOR WASHINGTON COLLEGE

In the office of former Governor Phillips Lee Goldsborough, president of the National Union Bank, a movement was started Friday to secure financial aid for Washington College at Chestertown, Md. The Governor was waited upon by the committee representing the trustees, residents of the town and alumni. They were: Dr. Clarence P. Gould, president of the college; Judge Lewin W. Wickes, W. W. Beck, Harrison W. Vickers, C. W. Perkins, Charles F. Harley and Van Lear Black, a member of the State Board of Education, has accepted a membership of the committee. Governor Goldsborough's co-operation was sought because of his influence on the Eastern Shore and in Baltimore. The visitors made a statement showing the pressing financial needs of the college. Its debt is $60,000, with a deficit of $15,000 near. It is proposed to appeal to the alumni friends of the college and friends of education in general for funds with which to discharge these obligations.

Accompanied by Mr. Goldsborough, the committee called upon Governor Ritchie, with whom the affairs of the college were discussed. While greatly interested, the Governor said he was powerless to extend any State aid at this time. The suggestion has been made that the college be added exclusively to the Normal School equipment of the State. Albert S. Cook, superintendent of public education and the State Board of Education will look into this proposition and will see whether it can be worked out.

NEWS BY AIR PLANE

C. J. Boylan, of the Central automobile Co., Baltimore, brought a bundle of news in a Curtis seagull plane to Chestertown Thursday arriving at 3.35 p. m., making the trip in half an hour. The early news sold quickly at 5 cents each.

Among those taking a trip in the air were John E. Barnes and wife, Miss Dorothy Woodall, L. B. Russell, Jr., Harry Rouse, J. W. Russell, Jos. N. Wheatley, Billy Usilton, Lewin U. Skirven and son.

An hydroplane from Baltimore arrived at Chestertown wharf last Friday making the trip in half an hour. The owner was out for business, and with the help of John S. Vandegrift, was soon conducting air trips about town at $10 for single passenger or $15 for a pair. Those who took a "fly" were W. Frazier Russell, Jr., A. S. Turner, Jr., H. D. Orem, Jr., Belt Townshend, Walter Lecompte, J. G. Metcalfe, Carl Bordley, Misses Ellen Beck, Elizabeth Wickes, Helen and Esther Urie, Ethel Bacchus. His landing in the water was a beautiful and graceful sight.

HAND OF DEATH

John McCauley died at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Hessner in Kennedyville Tuesday at 11 a. m., aged 87 years. The deceased was a bachelor and lived alone for many years amassing a fortune estimated to be around $100,000. His property consists of a farm tenanted by William Hurlock and cash. The funeral was held at St. Dennis Church, Galena, yesterday morning, Rev. John Dailey officiating; interment in Galena Cemetery; W. H. Krusen, undertaker.

Mary Grace, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Merchant, of Galena, died at her home Sunday morning, June 13th, from tuberculosis following an attack of influenza pneumonia last winter, age 26 years. Her long illness and great suffering, she bore with patience, trusting in the divine power of the Lord.

Funeral services were held at the home on Tuesday, 2 p. m., conducted by Rev. J. T. Rowlenson, of Crumpton M. E. Church, and assisted by Rev. G. W. Staples, of Chesterville Church, South, and Rev. H. D. West, of Galena. The pall-bearers were Spencer Stevens, Cooper Dixon, Sam'l Caldwell, Milburn Sutton, Eddie Walmsley and Julian Everett, interment in Church Hill Cemetery; undertaker, J. A. Tobin. of Millington.

C. E. CONVENTION

Christ M. P. Church entertained the Christian Endeavorers of Kent county at the annual convention held Thursday. Supper was served on the lawn adjoining the church which was enjoyed by nearly a hundred. W. R. Huey presided over the session with Miss Bessie Nicholson secretary.

Splendid addresses were made by Messrs. Sisco, Hopkins and Ritterbusch in the afternoon while at night Rev. T. Roland Phillips occupied the pulpit in an impressive address.

The following new officers were elected: President, H.Stockton Startt; vice president, Mrs. A. F. T. Raum; secretary, Miss Maud Duyer; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Urie.

The convention next year will be held at St James.

REAL ESTATE SALES

Judge Lewin W. Wickes, trustee, with W. F. Russell, Jr., attorney, on Tuesday sold at public sale the town property held by the late W. W. Boyer. The store property on Cross St. was purchased by John S. Wilmore, of Philadelphia, at $2100; and the dwelling on Church street was sold to Israel Clark at $1025.

The Mrs. Catherine S. Downes farm of 210 acres, near Downes Station, was sold at public sale Tuesday by Merrick Clements, W. F. Jarrell and Fred. R. Owens, trustees. W. A. Walls, of Talbot county, was the purchaser, the price being $22,000. J. Harry Walls, son of the purchaser, will occupy the place at the end of the present year.

Matilda Brinsfield heirs have sold the Brinsfield farm, near Crumpton of 224 acres, to Geo. H. Brinsfield. Price private.

Summer Base Ball.—Manager J. Thomas Kibler has secured some of the best base ball material ever seen on the local diamond, and Chestertown is assured of a winning team. The line up will be as follows: Gordy and Wright, pitchers; Davis, catch; Bounds or Wallace, short stop; Johnston, 3rd base; Usilton, 1st base; Kibler, 2nd base; with Blackway and Walls and negotiating pending with Duffy to do field duty.

Manager Kibler is endeavoring to arrange several preliminary games prior to the opening of the season, the first of which will be with Millington, on Saturday, on Washington field. The season is expected to open on Wednesday next, with Centreville after which several games a week will be played. No regular schedule has as yet been arranged as a number of towns which are anticipating joining the league have not been able to perfect an organization.

Sufficient funds has been raised by popular subscription to insure Chestertown fans an opportunity to enjoy the summer sport throughout the season, and it is hoped that all lovers of baseball will turn out in force and help boost the team.

FARMERS FIELD MEETING

There will be a Field Meeting for all farmers of Kent county at the experimental plots on the farm of J. Bayard Sutton, opposite the County Alms House, on Saturday, June 26th, at 2.30 p. m., until 4.30 p. m. today.

The purpose of this meeting is to show the farmers of Kent county the results of fertilizer experiments on corn, wheat, potatoes and hay.

There are four small fields, one in corn, one in wheat, one in potatoes and the other in hay. Each field is divided into nine plots. Each plot has been treated with different fertilizers or combinations of fertilizers with check plots throughout to show the difference between the different treatments and no treatment at all.

FOUNTAIN IS CAUGHT

Did Not Get More Than 14 Miles From Easton—Hid In Barn And Lived On Cherries And Vegetables From Gardens—A Little Girl Finds Him In Stable.

Isaiah Fountain was captured shortly after 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Calvin Anderson farm, near Queen Anne, about 14 miles above Easton. He was rushed to the Easton jail in a closely guarded automobile before most of the people in the town knew he had been captured.

Contrary to the fears that had been expressed previously, the crowd was not in an ugly temper. Everybody seemed to be glad that Foutain has been caught at last. Even Fountain himself appeared relieved that he was again back in jail.

The first thing he did when he was put in the jail was to ask Mrs. Soulsby, wife of the Talbot county Sheriff, for something to eat, and he wanted a lot of it. He had eaten nothing, he said, except cherries and what he could get from gardens since his escape.

Fountain escaped from jail exactly a week ago Tuesday.

Fountain said that until Tuesday night he had not been a mile from Easton since his escape. He said he had gone to the farm of Raymond Marvel, near the old fair grounds, about one mile from Easton, and stayed in a barn loft during the daytime. At night, he said, he ventured out to find food. He exonerated all the negroes who have been arrested on the suspicion that they aided his escape. He said none of those held, among whom are several of his relatives, had anything to do with his escape. More than a dozen were held in the jail. He said the file with which he filed through the bars of his cell was given him by Joe Allison, a white man, member of a theatrical troupe, who is being held on the charge of stealing a set of false teeth from a woman. Allison, said Fountain, also helped him bend back one bar of his cell.

Fountain was first seen about three o'clock by Virginia Anderson, daughter of Calvin Anderson, who has a farm near Queen Anne, a town at the junction point of Queen Anne's, Talbot and Caroline counties. Miss Anderson, who is 15 years old, went to the barn on her father's farm to get a horse, preparatory to taking a horse-back ride. She heard a noise, and looking up saw the negro. She became frightened, and running back to the house told her mother. Her father was away at the time.

Mrs. Anderson immediately telephoned Hyde A. Frampton, a neighbor. Mr. Frampton notified the authorities at Easton and requested that armed men be sent immediately, as the negro might be Fountain.

Considerable difficulty was experienced at Easton in getting a posse to go to Queen Anne. Practically all available men were down in the vicinity of Hebron, in Wicomico county, in pursuit of a negro in that vicinity who was believed to be Fountain. About 50 men were gathered, however, all armed, loaded into automobiles and rushed to Queen Anne. They were under the leadership of Frampton.

The negro, when the posse got to the barn, had gone. The hunters were able to track him, however, as he had left marks in the ground with his bare feet. The trail led to a small stream, and here the posse came to a spot where the negro apparently had sat down to put on his shoes. From here the trail led to a swampy woods.

The posse surrounded the woods, and Wordsworth Bevan, a farmer, and Frampton began to search for Fountain. The two men were soon in swampy mire up to their knees. Frampton saw Fountain standing near a tree. Covering him with a pistol Frampton ordered him to throw up his hands.

"Don't shoot," said Fountain; "I haven't anything, not even a pistol."

Frampton and Bevans searched Fountain and found that he was telling the truth.

Frampton and Bevans then hustled Fountain into the automobile of G. Parker Quimby, of Skipton. The negro was placed on the back seat. Quimby drove and those who rode in the car and acted as guards were Frampton, Edw. S. Blades, Bevans and John W. Chaires, of Easton. The automobile was driven rapidly to Easton. Fountain was spirited in a side door of the jail and into a cell before any people in Easton knew he had been caught. Only a few persons were around the jail at the time, these being the few that have frequented the jail since the escape. These didn't know that the negro under arrest was Fountain.

Fountain was placed in a different cell from the one he was occupying when he escaped. Two doors would have to be passed to get out now, in addition to the cell door, instead of only one, as formerly.

According to Fountain, he only ventured away from Easton last Monday night. He went on foot through the fields and woods, he said, from the farm of Marvel, near Easton, to Queen Anne. He said it was his intention to work North after getting a day's rest in the Anderson barn, at Queen Anne.

Fountain, when he was caught, was wearing the same clothes as when he escaped. The plan for the present is to keep Fountain in Easton, unless trouble develops.

Friday, July 23rd, has been fixed as the day for the execution.

The county's Ford auto in custody of Engineer Applegarth was stolen Sunday night from the garage in Chestertown. There were three machines under the same roof—a Reo owned by Miss Derringer, a Chevrolet owned by C. C. Jones and the Ford. Locks were broken off with apparent ease and the gasoline from C. C. Jones' car taken out and placed in the Ford. Notice of the lost car is in hand.

WEDDING NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Parsons announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary R. to Edgar H. Carver, of Washington, on Wednesday, June 16, at Baltimore. They will reside in Washington.

The parsonage of Still Pond M. E. Church was the scene of one of the prettiest weddings in its history on June 10th, when Miss Hope Hackett became the bride of Earl Kennard Jones, of Baltimore, in the presence of a host of friends. The bride was of friends. The bride was beautifully attired in white chiffon over white Bride's roses and orange blossoms. The bridal veil was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. She was attended by her sister, Miss Edna Louise Hackett, as maid of honor, who was dressed in plain white organdy with blue ribbons and carried pink carnations. The groom wore the conventional black with boutinere of orange blossoms. After the impressive ring ceremony and congratulations of their friends amid a shower of rice the happy couple left for Elkton where they boarded the midnight train for Baltimore where they will make their future home. The bride's traveling suit was old blue with hat and gloves to match. The parsonage was beautifully decorated by kind and loving friends.

The wedding of Miss Geraldine Vickers Wilmer, formerly of Chestertown, to Dr. Judson Thomas Williams, of Colorado Springs, Col., will take place this Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at St. Michael and All Angels' Church, Baltimore, with a full choral service. The Rev. Dr. Philip Cook, rector of the church, will officiate. The bride will wear a gown of white satin, with old family pearls. Her tulle veil, combined with old lace, will be arranged with orange blossoms. The bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Leonora Page Wilmer, of Chestertown, as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will include Mrs. Berkley Courtney, Miss Margaret Shaw, Miss Augusta Hansen, of Baltimore, and Miss Dorothy E. Lamb, of St. Louis, Mo. Dr. Williams will have as his best man Berkley Courteney, and the ushers will be the four brothers of the bride, William B. Wilmer, Philip G. Wilmer, A. Jessop Wilmer and Malcom H. Wilmer. Little Leonora Harris Springer, a cousin of the bride, will be the flower girl, and Gordon Graham Duce will act as page.

Christ M. P. Church was made to represent a bower of lovliness Wednesday, the occasion being the marriage of Miss Marghuerita Lucille Dodd, of Chestertown, to Capt. Milton Harris, of Gloucester Point, Va. Crimson Rambler roses, red and white, Dorothy Perkins pink roses and evergreens were used in the color scheme while the arrangement was graceful and artistic. Rev. N. O. Gibson performed the ceremony in the presence of the friends of the couple. The bride, tastily attired in white Georgette and carrying a shower bouquet of Brides' roses, was given in marriage by her uncle, Dr. H. L. Dodd. Miss Mary Hyland, of Federalsburg, acted as bridesmaid. She was dressed in a handsome pink taffeta and carried Maryland roses. Charles F. Wheatley acted as best man to the groom, the ushers being Burton, Henri Wollen and James Hurlock, graduates of Hurlock High School, of which the bride was principal, and Joseph N. Wheatley, of Chestertown. Miss Clara Usilton played the wedding march and during the ceremony rendered "To Thee, Fair Marghuerita." After an automobile tour of northern cities the young couple will reside at Gloucester Point, Va., where the groom is engaged as captain on a large steamer.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC CONFERENCE

A Young People's Conference was held at Dover Tuesday consisting of representatives from the Eastern Shore District of the M. P. Church. Rev. N. O. Gibson, of Chestertown, presided, and Rev. J. L. Nichols lead the singing. Rev. P. T. Crosby, pastor of Dover Church, read the scripture lesson. Addresses were made by President J. H. Straughn on Trained Leadership; C. C. Day, of Harrington, on Attendance; W. L. Hoffman, of Laurel, on Home Department; B. F. Ruley, of Seaford, Consecration; E. D. Stone, of Baltimore, Salvation; E. A.
