FORD MOVIE LABORATORY

While the production of motion pictures by the Ford Motor Company is only a side line, yet the studio and laboratory which produce the "Ford Educational Weekly,, are amongst the country's finest and most completely equipped. Everything needed to convert raw film into finished pictures by expert motion picture men may be found there.

From this effectively organized picture-producing plant, one hundred fifty some odd thousand feet of film weekly starts its long journey thru the theatres of America, Mexico, Brazil, Chile, Argentine, South America, Spain, France, Russia, Scandanavia, Japan and Alaska. Each week, ten million people see "The Ford Educational Weekly."

It is shown in seven thousand—nearly half—the moving picture theaters in the United States; and has gained for the Ford Motor Company the distinction of having the largest circulation of motion pictures in the world.

A staff of camera men are employed continuously to provide pictures for the laboratory.

One of the most recent films portrays scenes from Henry Ford's life. It shows something of his early life on the farm where he tinkered with machinery when his other work permitted, gives one a glimmering of his early mechanical genius, shows him at work on the first car, and later shows all of the Ford industries in Detroit. The last scene, taken last fall pictures Mr. and Mrs. Ford riding on their farm near Dearborn, Mich., in the first Ford car, which, incidentally is still in very good running condition.
