If your farm's small—make the Cletrac your righthand man. It speeds up every farm job, saves time and helps you make more money.

When the spring rush hits you, the Cletrac's ready. It works day and night—plows deep and fast; prepares the seed-bed in the thorough way that produces bigger crops.

And the Cletrac doesn't stop there. It's a big help in harvesting, threshing, silo-filling, clearing roads, sawing wood and hauling manure. One Cletrac, run by a boy, replaces four to eight animals and saves you their care and feed bills.

Come in and look this tractor over. See for yourself its sturdy construction. Let us show you what it will do for you on your own farm.

U. S. 1919 WHEAT COST GROWER $2.15 A BUSHEL

The 1919 American wheat crop was produced at an average cost to the grower of $2.15 a bushel, the Department of Agriculture announced in making public its recent cost of production survey. The survey covered 14 representative districts of the wheat belt, nine in the winter wheat areas of Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri, and five in the spring wheat reginos of Minnesota, North and South Dakota.

The survey further revealed, the department said that to permit a profit on 809 per cent. of the wheat produced on the farms covered by the survey, the price would have to be about $2.60.

Cost of producing winter wheat was much lower than for spring wheat, the costs being given as $1.87 and $2.65 respectively.

"Dollar wheat" once the aspiration of wheat growers, would have paid the cost of production on only two of the 481 farms included in the survey.
