A bold attempt was made on Monday night to rob the store of C. R. Jones. Mr. Jones, not feeling very well, had retired early. Mr. Hallett was counting up the reciepts of the day when he observed a face between two hands pressed closely against the glass of the front door. He continued counting and presently heard a suspicious noise in the grocery room. On going there, with money in hand to investigate, he was met by a strange man. He quickly retreated to the front room and slammed the partition door shut, and bolted it, put the cash quickly in the safe and locked it, and called for Mr. Jones. The stranger at the same time continued trying to force an entrance. On the appearance of Mr. Jones, the man hurriedly disappeared without securing anything of value for his efforts. Our merchants are now on their guard and prepared for a recurrence of such attempts.

GRANGE NOTES

Kent Pomona Grange will convene at Worton Hall at 10.30 a. m., Wednesday morning, August 11. Every member of Galena, Kennedyville, Still Pond, Chestertown, Fairlee and Rock Hall Granges are cordially invited and urged to be present. Matters of great importance to the farmers business, hence your business, will come up. Don't expect the other fellow to attend to your business. At 3 p. m. sharp, the meeting is open to the public. Every farmer and all others in Kent County are invited to this open meeting. A prominent speaker will talk on "The Temple of Agriculture." Mr. Farmer you have always complained that you couldn't get justice because the other enterprises were represented at our Halls of Legislature and the farmer was not. This topic treats on that and shows how we can can come into our own. The farmer asks nothing more than justice and to be put on an equal footing with other industries. We hope every farmer, Granger or not, will come and hear this address. Worton orchestra will furnish some fine music, two sweet young ladies will recite. Bro. J. T. Anthony will give the cipher code to all Grangers who so desire. A splendid dinner and a royal good time at Worton, August 11. A word to wise is sufficient, "Be There," at 3 p. m. Everybody welcome.

IN MEMORIAM

A few lines in memory of Mr. John McCauley, who was a true friend of mine, having lived in my father's home the late Charles Hessner, for over fifty years. He was a true friend to us, and many others. He was a very intelligent man, with a beautiful disposition speaking evil of no one. He was a Catholic and lived as near as possible to his religion, never missing a Sabbath from church when his health would permit, rain or shine. He has gone to his reward. We love his memory and hope by living as best we can to meet our friend in Heaven. When earth cares are over God will take care of us all.

I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead.
He is just away!
With a cherry smile
And a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you—oh, you who the wildest yearn,
For the old-time step and the glad return,
Think of him, faring on, as dear
In the love of thee, as the love of here.
Think of him still as the same, I say,
He is not dead—he is just away.

SOLD MELLON CROP FOR $10,000

Last week Irving Culver, of Delmar, sold to a city buyer the unripened and unpicked crop of his thirty-six acre cantaloupe patch. The price paid for these melons was $10.000 in cash, and the purchaser is under contract to furnish packages in which to ship the fruit. This is one of the largest single deals in cantaloupes which has been contracted in lower Delaware for many yars. Wicomico county's first cantaloupes of the season were shipped to New York last week by Gabriel Banks, of Pittsville, and netted him about $2 a carrier of 45 melons. The cantaloupe season will open in earnest down the State within a few days. The indications are for an exceptionally fine crop. It is expected that the early shipment prices will range around $2 to $2.50 a carrier.

Why So Many Agencies?

Some one asks. Why so many life insurance agencies? Because we are in competition with death, whose agencies are numberless and whose agents never sleep.

Putting off insurance is like waiting for a rising river to run by. The longer you wait, the smaller becomes the opportunity to cross.

They say that a bumble bee is biggest when first born. We think a man feels biggest when first insured.

A CORRECTION

Rock Hall, Md., Aug. 3, 1920.
To the Editors of Kent News:

Under Rock Hall news in the edition of Kent News July 31st, 1920, there appeared an unwarranted attack on the substitute mail carrier for R. F. D. No. 2.

I am one of the patrons of that route and have conversed with others on the same route and all are of the opinion that the service rendered by the recent substitute for Mr. Parsons was first class and without complaint.

The article in question was not only unwarranted but also cowardly, inasmuch as the name of the writer did not appear.

Trusting you will publish this in this week's Rock Hall news column of Kent News, I remain
(Rev.) A. F. T. RAUM.
