LOCAL NOTES

The sale of Imperial furniture, sheets, curtains, etc., drew a big crowd to the court house green Saturday. Auctioneer Startt kept the stuff going until after 6 o'clock and good prices were obtained especially for the small articles.

Thos. G. Wroth sold the Kershaw farm three miles from Elkton on Saturday to Henry B. Applford for $30,000. This farm contains 117 acres with a splendid residence, up-to-date cow barns, eac. It was owned by Mr. Young, of New York, who tried raising blooded stock. He raised 90 tons of hay off 30 acres this year. Mr. Applford will remove there as soon as possible.

Attempting to cast off a line to allow the tugboat Radiant, Atlantic Refining Company, to sail from Baugh's wharf, foot of Clinton street, Louis Sykes, of Betterton, a deck hand, had his right thumb caught between the hawser and the housing, almost severing it.

The St. James supper held last week took in $300.

The State Councilor also State Vice Councilor of Baltimore will visit Chestertown Council No. 58 Daughters of America on Monday evening next, October 4th. Members of Chesapeake City and Crumpton Councils will also be present and a large attendance of members is desired. Beginning with October 1st, the order will meet at 7.30 p. m.

The 12th Anniversary Sale of W. P. Newnam closed on Saturday last. The $25 Victrola which was given away free was won by Miss Ann R. Brown. An attractive sewing machine demonstration was also held each day.

Large quantities of cultivated chestnuts are being shipped by parcel post from the Chestertown postoffice. C. J. Reiche and Capt. Edward W. Emory have about 25 trees each and the yield is large.

The State road to Rock Hall is to be completed at once, the four banks of Chestertown having agreed to finance the necessary funds, aggregating $40,000 until provision can be made for same in county levy and by State legislation.

For the mail messenger service between Chestertown postoffice and the railroad station, there was but one applicant, W. B. Stafford, the present messenger, who is at present under the employ of the railroad. The government proposes to take control of this service.

A number of young folks enjoyed an oyster scald and fish fry on the Chester river at Quaker Neck Wharf Saturday afternoon. Those in the party were the Misses Clements, Mrs. Omar E. Jones, Mrs. T. D. Bowers, Miss Laura Thomas, Mrs. H. F. Jefferson and daughter, Margaret, Mrs. W. R. Huey, Rev. O. E. Jones, M. W. Thomas and Harry Fowler.

The watch in Kreeger's window was awarded to Walter Barnes who guessed 57, the correct number in the window.

The home of W. L. Fowler on High street has been treated to a becoming coat of paint.

Down come the price of Overlands, Essex, Hudson, Willys-Knight, Studebaker and others. Henry Ford seems to have knocked the props from under something. Even sugar is down to 13 1-2 cents in cities. Flour is down $2 per barrel and other necessities are fast tumbling—on paper. These low prices have not reached Kent yet.

The Kent County Council for Home Demonstration Work will meet Tuesday, October 12th, at 3 o'clock, in the Auditorium of the Chestertown High School. Let every member come and help in the up-building of your community.

The Chestertown Brass Band has reorganized and is selling chances on a new Ford touring car for fifty cents to be given a way October 15th. This organization is much larger this time having about twenty members and after a few rehearsals expect to give a concert in the park each week. Help the boys and give them your support. We need a band.

HAND OF DEATH

Charles Edward Long died at his late home near Fairlee on Friday aged 81 years. He is survived by his widow, Sarah J. Long, and the following children, Mrs. Mary A. Leaverton, Charles E., George H., and Joseph E. Long, Mrs. Laura V. Seeney, Mrs. Bessie M. Joiner, Mrs. Sarah Adelaide Kernan. Funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Avery Donovan. The following were bearers: Harry Rash, William Stouffer, Ralph Usilton, Walter Greenwood, Charles Crew, L. Truitt. Interment in Chester Cemetery, C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

Mrs. Susan Ann Clements died at her home on High street, Chestertown, Sunday morning after a long illness, aged 77. She was a patient sufferer and during her illness had the constant attention of Mrs. Roberts and friends. Since the death of her husband, Joel R. Clements in June, 1918, she has been in failing health and sat in the shaddow of a great grief.

Early in life Mrs. Clements connected herself with the M. E. Church, in the affairs of which she was ever active. She was married to Joel R. Clements in 1864, and for a number of years resided at Rolph Wharf, moving with him to Chestertown in 1882, since which time she had been a willing worker in the church of which she was a member. She was also a staunch and faithful adherent of the W. C. T. U. since its organization.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning from her late residence at 11.30 o'clock, conducted by Dr. Alfred Smith, Dr. L. E. Barrett and Rev. O. E. Jones, with interment in Chester Cemetery. The bearers were Roy Merrick, a cousin, James Dunbracco, Norman, Charles and Miller Wilson and Joel R. Clements, nephews of the deceased. Undertaker, W. T. Hicks.

Annie B., wife of Alanson E. Rittenhouse, died Tuesday at State Road, Del., aged 57. Funeral was held yesterday, interment in Bethel Cemetery. She was the sister of Mrs. Ambrose Frazier and Mrs. Theodore Walbert, of Kent.

Frank Edgar, infant baby of Mr. and Mrs. Umpry Chance, died at his home near Galena, on Monday night, September 27th.

W. Ashbie Hawkins, Colored Lawyer Of Baltimore, Announces His Candidacy For The United States Senate Before A Large Audience In Janes M. E. Church, Chestertown, Tuesday Night.

When will wonders cease! The event herein chronicled is another result of the unrest which has seized the people of the world and caused all prophesies to fail and many customs to be set aside. It evidences an awakening upon the fact of the colored race of this old State as to how they have been treated by their white Bosses and an intelligence which enables them to see conditions as they exist today.

Janes Methodist Episcopal Church, Chestertown, was filled with men and women voters Tuesday night when W. Ashbie Hawkins, a colored lawyer of Baltimore City, arose and addressed them for over an hour. He was introduced in a most earnest manner by Rev. Johns, the popular pastor of the church and addressed his auditors thus:

"Ladies and gentlemen: I am here this evening to announce my candidacy for the high office of representative of this State in the United States Senate. Such a thing was never before heard of, but under our laws any man with certain qualifications may do this very thing. I was born in this State, graduated in law and am one of your race. My color was given me just as other color was given other men. I am not responsible for this. I am amenable however to my fellowman and it is up to me to make the best use of my talents. I believe the time is ripe for us to shake off the shackles of slavery which have bound us for fifty years—and take the things which belong to us. I don't mean to steal anything, but to reach out and do some thinking for ourselves.

For 50 years we black people have been putting white men in office and making of poor white folks rich men and what have we gotten? Lloyd Lowndes and Phil Goldsborough would never have seen the State House but for us and when they go in office none of us was given a job of any kind. In Baltimore we elected Broening to the high office of Mayor. We sent our boys to Flanders' Field to fight the Germans and at home elected a German to fill a high office but he was smart enough to keep his sympathy for Germany under cover.

We asked for places under Broening and what did we get? Two places as keepers of the toilet rooms! I would call them comfort stations but fear you would not realize what that meant. They were the very lowest places that any man is called upon to fill. Then there were two constable jobs we had for a few months. But when the city councilmen which we elected got thru dickering with the Democrats these places were taken from us. Folks, isn't a black man fit to serve a writ for rent or some other thing!

How has the black man been treated in the matter of schools? I can go all over this State and show you the colored school houses. Whenever you see an old shack discarded perhaps by the whites it has been considered good enough for us. Have your teachers been paid equal with the other teachers! No. They have been employed at the smallest salary possible.

I do not want social equality with the white people. None of us do, for we would not feel at home. What we ask for is justice and if you voters do not arise now and show your determination to shake off the shackles which bind us these conditions will continue. We do the voting and the white man gets all the plums.

The Baltimore Sun in speaking of my candidacy says the colored man is on trial. This is a fact. If you fail to support me for United States Senator it will mean that you do not want to be free men, that you do not want to be represented on the school boards, in offices of trust and profit and that you are willing to remain slaves. I am glad the women have been given a vote. I hope they will help improve conditions. We have been voting 50 years and have not gotten very far. Maybe they will do better. It is certainly to be hoped so.

Some argue that this is not the opportune time. Why not! When we were fighting for freedom in the sixties there were some old slaves in good homes who said also this is not the opportune time to set free. And if we had listened to them we'd still be without the liberty we enjoy in some respects today. The opportune time, friends, is today. Let's rally to our defense and claim the things which belong to us.

Some charge that I am after money. If I was I could get it tomorrow. I never saw John Walter Smith nor O. E. Weller the men running against me for this office. I could see them, however, if I chose to send for them and in my office too. But the man who charges bribery in this case places himself in this class. There's not money enough in this country to make me sell my race. I am in this fight to win for you those things which belong to you.

Who furnish the votes to elect white men to office in Kent. You do. How many men have you on the State Central Committee—one. What can he do with two white men against him. I understand you have about 1200 colored votes and a few hundred whites and yet you only have one man on the governing body of your party. Have you a colored representative on the school board? Why not? We furnish fat places for white folks and get nothing. Not even a decent car to ride in on the railroad. Have to go in a 'Jim Crow' apartment.

I am for Harding and Coolidge and want every black voter to make his mark opposite their names, but when it comes to the United States Senate, put your cross mark opposite a member of your own race, W. Ashbie Hawkins, the first man in these United States who raised his hand and voice to help you shaking off the political shackles which have bound you in an awful slavery for 50 years."

Throughout his address he was greeted with enthusiastic applause.
