LOCAL NOTES

Let's "sell," not "drive" or "Campaign." The Kent County Branch will "sell" health in the sale of Christmas seals, which are to be released to the county by December 1. Notice the change in the Cross on the Seal.

Electric Co. Raises Price

In another column the Chestertown Electric Company gives notice of another raise in price.

Wins Ton of Coal

The ton of coal which was raffled off on Monday evening by the local Council D. of A. was won by Miss Eulah Kelley. The lucky number being 322.

Falls Heir to $10,000

By death of a maiden aunt, Thos-Clements, of Chestertown, has fallen heir to a bequest of $10,000, including the purchase price of the residence in which he resides on Mill street.

Grange to Hold Meeting

Chestertown Grange No. 248 P. of H. will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday next, Dec. 2nd, at 7.30 p. m., at the Chestertown High School. The annual election of officers will be the order of the day. Let there be a full turn out of all members that each may have a voice in choosing officers for the different stations. It is important.

Had Two Teeth Shot Out

A fracas occured on Calvert street Sunday afternoon in which Marion Cann had two teeth shot out by Wallis Sheppard, both colored. "Aunt" Kitty when asked about the occurrence said, "oh, its only one of those scrimmages!"

Sells Bank Stock

W. F. Jarrell and Merrick Clements as administrators of Catherine S. Downes sold at public sale five shares of the Chestertown Bank of Maryland. The highest bid was $92 by Mr. Clements.

Poultrymen Increasing Stock

All the poultrymen here who are in the business on a large scale are enlarging their plants, preparatory to increasing stock. Eggs are bringing such fancy prices—$1.08 for select white and from 80 to 90 cents for select brown—that the poultrymen believe they stand to make a fine profit during the spring and summer.

Kent Has Private Detective

Leon Walbert has been granted the privilege of making arrests and carrying concealed weapons in his capacity as private detective. He has just returned from Pennsgrove where he was employed by the railroad.

To Build New Theatre

A theatre is to be built in Easton by the General Amusement Company. The officers of the new company are as follows: Henry P. Turner, president; Cleveland Smith, vice-president, and W. Mason Shehan, secretary and treasurer.

Queen Anne's Population

The population of Queen Anne's is 16,001, the smallest since 1870. The population for the towns is as follows: Centreville, 1920, 1765, 1910, 1435; Church Hill, 1920, 276, 1910, 306; Crumpton, 1920, 227, 1910, 228; Queenstown, 1920, 270, 1910, 279; Sudlersville, 1920, 276, 1910, 247.

Income Tax Payers

The following figures show the distribution of income taxpayers: Allegany county, 3,340; Anne Arundel, 967; Baltimore county, 2,335; Baltimore city, 65,945; Calvert, 135; Caroline, 200; Carroll, 630; Cecil, 610; Charles, 400; Dorchester, 275; Frederick, 1,200; Garrett, 165; Harford, 835; Howard, 350; Kent, 300; Montgomery, 700; Prince George, 1,100; Queen Anne's, 190; St. Mary's, 80; Wicomico, 375; Worcester, 335; Talbot, 300; and foreign, 4,065.

Winter Schedule

Because of a reduction in the amount of passenger and freight traffic on the various routes of the B. C. & A. and M. D. V. baywise steamer lines during the last year and no indication of any possible increase in business, it has been decided by the management of these two companies to place in effect the winter schedule next Monday and Tuesday instead of waiting until Christmas Day, when the service is usually cut.

Recruiting In Kent

The U. S. Marine recruiting officers will be in Kent for a week longer. They are making their headquarters at the Voshell House, Chestertown.

Miss Latimer Makes Address

An address was made in Christ M. P. Church Sunday morning by Miss Lillian E. Latimer in the interest of the Maryland School for the Blind. Miss Latimer told of the work that has been done in seven counties of the State and the most surprising she found was that there were more blind people living in the counties than the residents had thought. She strongly urged the people to put the association in touch with all persons who have lost their sight, especially the children, who can be trained to read, write, and follow a profession that will make them self-supporting. Miss Latimer says the blind people don't think they are the worst off in the world. But she admitted that it was a great privation and one that should be strongly guarded against. A plea was made for membership in the association on payment of $1.00 and a number joined.

HOLSTEIN ORGANIZATION

A few of the leading Holstein breeders of Kent county met in the County Agent's office last Friday evening, November 19th, and organized a Kent County Holstein Breeders' Association.

The purpose of the new farmers' organization is primarily to promote the Holstein Fresian Breed of Dairy Cattle. Other aims of the organization are to rid Kent county of scrub bulls, to help the farmers of Kent county to weed out their boarder or "coffee" cows, to introduce new and better stock into Kent county, to improve the methods of handling cows and milk, to promote the dairy industry of Kent county in general, and to make dairying a more profitable business for the farmers of Kent county.

Dr. G. E. Wolcott, Dairy Specialist of the Extension Service, was present and addressed the meeting on the value of such organization and outlined a broad field of most valuable work for the association. Talks were also given by N. V. Walters, John H. Clendaniel, C. E. Cornelius, Wm. T. Nicholson and County Agent Horace B. Derrick.

It was decided to hold the next meeting on Saturday evening, Dec. 18th, and to invite all Kent county dairymen who are especially interested in the Holstein breed. The following committee was appointed to draw up a constitution and set of by-laws to present at the next meeting: N. V. Walters, C. E. Cornelius, John H. Clendaniel and County Agent H. B. Derrick. The County Agent was appointed temporary chairman until the meeting on December 18th, when the regular officers will be elected.

FINE SPORT DUCKING

The gunners on Eastern Neck Island bagged 80 ducks Monday and saw thousands of swan. Up the county hunters are having fine sport after wild geese. Perhaps there is no kind of sport with the gun excelling a day in a sink box or blind, with just enough wind to make the quarry dart to decoys, and if the shrill whistle of wings should proclaim the approach of a group of canvassbacks, the hunter will find his heart beating faster than it has ever done before. He will know that the least movement in advance of exactly the right moment to shoot will likely lose him that chance, so he waits eagerly, under terrific tension, for the fowl to come within the zone of his gunfire. It is a thrilling moment when he downs one of the precious canvasbacks with his right barrel and another with his left, and how he yearns for a third shot as he sees the others of the flock darting away at the speed of an airplane.

While epicures have taught us that the canvasback fowl is fit food for a king, his next of kin, the "red head," is so near an approach in flavor and juicy tenderness that it requires an educated palate to tell the difference between the two kinds.

The black duck, too, is but little less savory and he is much more abundant and less coy, especially, than the canvasback, who is ever alert to danger and is rarely caught off guard. The canvasback can fly 80 miles an hour, and it has been claimed—an excuse, perhaps, when one muffs his shot—that he can dodge the charge.

Then there are geese and brant awaiting to match their cunning against the hunter and his gun. In them the sportsmen will find a quarry worthy of his skill, and if the former did not resort to subterfuge to deceive, they would live to die of age. The brant is especially shy and wary, and it requires the deception of a "Raffles" to get near enough to him to even puncture the outer armor courses of his feather and quill shield.

A sad accident occured in Worcester county last week when young Francis Wilson accidentally killed his guide who put his head up over the "blind" just as the shot was fired from an adjacent hiding place.

The Federal Government's step in protecting the wild fowl to and from their breeding grounds in the far North has probably increased the year's broods and proved the wisdom of such action. With his safety assured as he goes to his summer nests and later returns with the fledglings, the prohibition of airplanes and machine guns in the short fall open season probably will preserve this form of sport for several generations.

RELATIVE TO SALE OF GAME

On account of the great number of inquiries which have been made relative to the sale of rabbits, birds, etc., we direct attention to the provisions of Chapter 520 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland of 1920.

After providing the open season to be from the 10th of November to the first day of January in each year and forbidding hunting upon Sunday and when the ground is covered with snow and at night, the law goes on to provide as follows:

"And it shall be unlawful to sell, offer for sale, purchase, or offer to purchase or buy such named birds and animals at any time, whether same are caught or killed within the State of Maryland, or any other State, territory or country."

Now squirrels, rabbits, otter and muskrat and deer are certainly animals and the law forbids the purchase or sale of any of those animals at any time, in explicit language.

WON BY CHESTERTOWN

Chestertown won a gruelling contest from Centreville Thursday 7 to 0. In the fourth quarter Russell plunged over on a fourth down for the only score, Chapman kicking goal. The entire Chestertown team played bang-up football, while Bright, Mason and Jump starred for the visitors. The lineup:

EASTON, 7; CHESTERTOWN, 0.

The game between the eleven of the Easton and Chestertown High Schools at Federal Park Friday afternoon drew a large crowd. It was the last game the home team will play on its home grounds this season and it celebrated the occasion by winning 7 to 0. During the first quarter E. Russell, of Chestertown, broke two bones in his left ankle and foot and was rushed to the office of Dr. C. F. Davidson. In the last quarter Kennedy, of Chestertown, fell and hurt his back and had to retire. Roberts and Vernon Kirby took the places of the injured players. The lineup:

Easton.		Chestertown

WILL CONTEST IN KENT

Argument was heard in Dover on Tuesday, October 26th, before Chief Justice Pennewill and Associate Judges Conrad and Heisel, in an appeal from the Register of Wills of Kent county in the case of Joseph R. Smith, executor under the last will and testament of Mary A. Gordon, deceased, and Violet Crew and Mabel K. Mitchell, devisees, vs. Daniel Cornelius Crew, Robert Crew, Benjamin Crew, Howell Caldwell Crew, Philip Crew, James Shepherd, Carey Shepherd, Jr., and Warren Crew. The will had been refused probate by the register of wills.

Practically all of the day was spent in reading the testimony taken at the hearing of the case before the register of wills, a few months ago. The Court handed down a verdict Wednesday in favor of Violet Crew and Mabel K. Mitchell, devisees. Wm. Frazier Russell, Jr., Esq., represented the latter in the case. The amount involved was between eight and ten thousand dollars.

IN MEMORIAM

In ever loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Elizabeth Hessner, who departed this life Nov. 25, 1909.

You are not forgotten, daughter, dear,
As you rest beneath the sod,
In our thoughts you'll rest forever,
For we love you next to God.
We miss your kind and willing hand,
Your fond and earnest care,
We miss you, O, dear daughter,
We miss you everywhere.

Mother,

We miss thee, dear Elizabeth,
Our hearts are filled with grief;
Only faith and trust in God
Gives comfort and relief.
'Tis He who gives and He who takes
The ones He loveth best,
Then let us say, "Thy will be done
Grant her eternal rest."

Fondly loved and sadly missed by her Sisters.

Personal Tidings

G. L. McNabb and family, of New Jersey, are guests of E. D. Albaugh and wife on Princess street.

W. Robert Huey attended the funeral of his uncle, I. N. Huey, in Massey yesterday.

S. W. Granberry and wife expect to remain on the Avenue another year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Satterfield, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Malin visited the Crisfield lodges of Juniors Saturday evening.

J. Richard Jones, Esq., and family, of Cambridge, are guests of Frank A. Hurlock and family.

Mrs. Wm. B. Usilton and daughter, Nancy Jean, are guests of the former's sisters in Baltimore.

Miss Ethel Bacchus is the guest of Baltimore friends.

Edw. C. Newton and family, of Cecilton, expect to remove to their newly-purchased home on Main St. extended, on December 1st. Mr. and Mrs. Newton recently purchased the property for cash from Dr. T. H. Fowler, of New York, Miss Anna Newton acting as agent for her brother. Mr. Newton expects to make much improvements to his property.

Mrs. G. K. Thompson, of near Rolph's Wharf, left this week for New York where she will spend the winter with her husband.

Wm. A. Burke received a letter on Monday from his son, William, who has been seriously ill in a Philadelphia hospital advising that he was now convalescent and would be removed to his home in a few days.

Mrs. Harry Wilkison and son, John, of Baltimore, are spending several days the guest of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Barnes.

Miss Rebecca Kendall, of Wilmington, was the week-end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Kendall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crane, of Philadelphia, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. M. Brooks.
