Insurance

Well done, is the greatest comfort of modern times. Realize the full meaning of the word; the certainty of something hoped for and a danger, half-feared, averted, a combination by which losses are turned backward and dark clouds are made to show their silver lining.

A lease on life, if advertised for sale, would command a fabulous price, provided its surety could be made apparent. The nearest approach to such a [illegible] is an insurance of the [illegible] value, the productive [illegible]

Massey Club Holds Exhibit

The Jr. Home-makers' Club of Massey at the last meeting of 1920 held an open club meeting and exhibit of club work completed since September.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Genevieve Cochran the roll called and minutes read by the Secretary Mary Newnam. After a short program Miss Hill gave a demonstration on "How to Judge Materials" in which she told why it was important for women to be able to judge materials. This was followed by various tests for wool, cotton, silk and linen.

While the program was being carried out, Miss Annie L. Copper and Mrs. Hurlock of Massey, judged the exhibit. Too much praise cannot be given the Massey Club Girls for the very excellent type of work which they displayed. One lady who has visited many county fairs says she has never seen an exhibit where the work was more uniform in quality. This is due to the co-operation of Miss Ware and Miss Radnor who have assisted the girls in their work.

This is the largest club in the county, having a membership of twenty-eight. Miss Hill awarded the prizes at which time she reminded the girls that the motto of the Girl's club is "To make the best better" and that no girl who received a prize should feel satisfied, however creditable her work might be.

IN MEMORIAM

In remembrance of Georgia Anna Edwards, who died January 7, 1920, one year ago, age 58.

Dearest mother, thou hast left us,
We thy loss most deeply feel,
But 'tis God that hast bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal.
Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled,
Then in Heaven with joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tear is shed.

By her son, Lee Edwards.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband and father, Oliver H. Cleaver, who departed this life five years ago January 3rd, 1916.

Just one year has passed away
Since that sad and mournful day,
God, alone, for he knew best,
Called you dear, husband, to rest,
But wait, darling husband,
For some day we, too, shall come
To be with you again forever
In that beautiful Heavenly home.

By his loving wife, Mattie Cleaver.

Dearest father, how we miss you,
Miss you more than tongue can tell,
Every minute, hour and day that passes,
Bring us nearer with you to dwell.
Jesus while our hearts are bleeding,
O'er the spoils that death has won,
We would at this solemn meeting
Calmly say, Thy will be done.

By daughters, Nellie, Mabel, Florence.

A Great Sale—H. Sachs & Son have another big adv. in the News today. W. F. Colley, the conductor of this sale, is a genius in preparing announcements of sales. His advertisements make interesting reading aside from their commercial value. A greased pig is to be caught at noon today and given away. Joseph Sachs, the courteous and hustling junior of the firm, says they have some rare bargains and claims the public can save thousands of dollars in clothing for men, boys, ladies and children.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY
Detroit, U. S. A.

December 29, 1921.

TO ALL FORD DEALERS:

Dear Sir:—Several inquiries have recently come to us concerning the liklihood of another reduction in the price of our cars, and as these inquiries no doubt emenate from prospective purchasers, we want to state again with greater emphasis that Ford cars are already being sold at a figure actually below cost and for an indefinite period another reduction or change in design is entirely out of the question and not at all contemplated.

We believe the public will be fair enough to fully appreciate the frankness of the above when they consider the extent of our recent price cut which was in fact the equivalent of several reductions in one, in our desire to contribute toward satisfying their demands for lower living costs notwithstanding our sacrifice in marketing our cars at a loss until we are able to materially reduce present costs through lower material prices and greater manufacturing efficiency. While we have of course made some progress in bringing down operating costs, we still have a long way to go before any thought can be given to further reductions in present car prices, so we have no hesitancy in making these open statements to acquaint you with the true situation.

You can therefore give assurance to prospective purchasers of Ford cars that now is their real opportunity to buy below cost and obtain delivery. Everyone is familiar with the heavy demand for Ford cars in the Spring and this year will be no exception, as in spite of conditions business is already rapidly accumulating, so that many who desire Ford cars will be obliged to wait perhaps until mid-summer for delivery causing considerable inconvenience and possibly financial loss, particularly to commercial customers.

We expect you to protect the interests of prospective buyers in your community by placing these facts before them.

Yours very truly,
FORD MOTOR COMPANY
W. A. RYAN, Manager of Sales.
