Isn't is about time for the Christian nations to adopt a militant warfare against the Turks instead of telling about conditions?

Mr. Harding seeks both rest and recreation by a sojourn in Florida, but it is not likely the politicians will allow him to enjoy much of either, and the officeholders will pursue him remorselessly.

KENT FARMERS' PROBLEMS

Elsewhere in the News today is the report of an important meeting of Kent farmers held in Chestertown on Tuesday. As usual, the great mass of interested persons left the business of importance to be transacted by a few. When farmers awake to the point that they will not "let George do it" all, and always, then a better day will dawn for him. This statement is made, however, only incidentally.

The business of the meeting to which we refer, dealt entirely with the question of wages for day and month men, time of service and for help in the kitchen. The figures given were only to be used as a standard and farmers are to use common sense in adopting these schedules to fit their localities. The farmers expressed their desire to deal honestly, justly and fairly with labor and we believe labor is anxious to do the same.

If this be a fact; if it is true that labor is meeting weekly throughout [illegible]nt; then why not have a conference between representatives from each side. The meeting Tuesday decided to name one man from each district who should form a committee to interview farmers with the purpose of getting their co-operation. Why should not the colored help at their district meetings, name a like committee, which shall discuss these important matters and agree on a scale of wage which shall be satisfactory to all concerned. With such a back-[illegible]g as this the plan agreed upon [illegible]ould give Kent county farmers a [illegible] start in 1921, and with the prom-[illegible] of great success. It would be a [illegible]p taken which would set a stand-[illegible] throughout this State conducive [illegible]d of all concerned. The em-[illegible]d employee have the same [illegible] and both have minds with [illegible] solve these problems.
