POMONA GRANGE MEETS AT STILL POND

Still Pond Grange had the great pleasure of entertaining the Pomona Grange of Kent County on Saturday, April 16th, at Grange Hall.

The spirit of loving kindness for Patrons of Husbandry was in the Still Pond air quite early while the hall arrayed in the cheering spring colors, yellow and white; fruit blossoms and potted plants carrying out the color scheme, beckoned "welcome" to ye visiting grangers.

The meeting was called by Worthy Master Wm. G. Smyth, whose forcible executive ability was most pleasing to all during the entire session.

The meeting was opened by the song "Cultivator," followed by the reading of the minutes of the last Pomona meeting at Fairlee by Mrs. W. G. Smyth. Then following the discussion of questions presented by Grange, The regular business of the Grange was duly disposed of. The resignation of Arthur B. Harris as Pomona Secretary was accepted and Mrs. Harvey Moore duly elected to fill the vacancy.

The meeting was surely full of spirit—good humored repartee and some lengthy discussions—while in the midst of these came the call for dinner. A most appetizing and bountifully served dinner enjoyed by 200 persons. After this splendid repast the meeting convened about one p. m.

Mr. Miller from the Agricultural Department at Washington, D. C., addressed the grangers on the advantages of "Organization to Farmers," urging farmers to join forces and bring their business up to commercial standards. Business farming is 25 years behind commercial business. Co-ordination and co-operation necessary to form a phalanx to meet conditions. Questions of interest and importance were extensively discussed and much light thrown on some matters that seemed hazy before.

The ready pep and characteristic style of the Worthy Lecturer, Mrs. Clara Williams, was the life of the session—never mind Mrs. Lecturer—the only "bugaboo" to those "Lords of Creation" is the woman voter. They may wrangle over who made the tax rate so high. They may slam and slash at each others throats, but the hurt that hurts the most is they don't know all about these new voters. Forget such differences and make a firm decision for betterment.

A male quartette from Still Pond Grange talent delighted the afternoon by a selection "The Wayside Cross."

Miss Hill explained what she understood "Clean Up Week" to include: Giving two main reasons for such an upheaval on the premises. Giving some of this debris as misplaced matter and such places the breeding places of mosquitoes, fleas and malaria.

A recitation by Bertha Cooper was most pleasingly rendered, this was followed by a song "Wayside Blossoms," sung by Grange. Another song, an "Ideal Man," by Mrs. Shallcross and Mrs. Gary. Then Elenor Keyser gave an entertaining recitation entitled Railroad Crossing. Indeed the end of the perfect day was all too soon approaching and the correspondent would love to tell all the enjoyable things that happened, but that poultry show on the ground floor would do credit to a "State Fair." Now, Brother F. H. Cornelius, of Lynch, had this in charge, and he had some of the prettiest Barred Rock ever exhibited any place, while John Moffett's display of Rhode Island Reds actually made onlookers green with envy to see these profitable birds even laying while on exhibition. Mrs. Rollison had some good looking Houdans that really were odd looking with their top knots. There were several others that displaced blue ribbons on the coops. J. P. Newcomb, Mrs. A. N. Stavely, Albert Jervis, Mrs. E. E. Bowers, Mrs. Joe Norris, we are indebted to for these birds and the nice arrangement of the exhibit.

Harry Rickey, of Maryland University, gave a most instructive talk on poultry and how to get children interested by giving them a few chickens. Mr. Rickey has a charming address and his manner most delightful. To the Pomona Grange we welcome you again, and bring a larger representation next time.

According to the official report recently completed by the Chestertown postmaster, the sales of government savings securities amounted to $30.95 here last month. The report, which has been sent to Washington, a transcript being furnished the Government Savings Organization of this district, seems to indicate, as does that for the state at large, increasing interest in savings and safe investment.
