THE above statement was made by a Washington business man who two years ago was doing a gross business of $300.00 per month. Today he is doing over 1200 per cent. more business per month than at that time.

All of his business is not done in Washington. He sells large orders to customers in cities in several of the surrounding states—by telephone.

If the telephone can be so successfully used by this man, it will certainly do as much for you.

Consider the speed, certainty and satisfaction in a telephone call. And the rates are reasonable.

The pages in the front of your telephone directory will give complete information about the different classes of calls.

Ask the operator for rates to any point.
