SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1922

President Harding won in his first endeavor to impose his rule as party leader upon the disgruntled and inharmonious Republicans of the United States Senate, when, at a caucus vote taken Monday afternoon, it was decided, by 37 ayes to 11 nays, to let the Bonus bill alone until the Tariff bill is disposed of. This, however, was not much of a victory, as the majority vote is less than a majority of the Senate membership, and caucus action at times is not certain.

In the change of Charter, election of new Governors and new officials Washington College looks forward to an era of wonderful progress and prosperity. The retiring men have given loyal service to this institution and held her up amid trying waves of financial difficulties. None will hail with greater satisfaction the success of the college than these very men who turn the institution into other hands. H. Staunton Brown, the newly elected Chairman of the Board of Visitors and Governors, is a native Kent countian, educated in our public schools, ocllege and in the business world. He is of fine address and give promise of being the man for the job. He succeeds Hon. Lewin W. Wickes. The News wishes for him great success in the management of our venerable institution and is ready to cooperate toward this end.

LET'S HAVE THE TRUTH

Soon after Governor Ritchie was inaugurated, a Baltimore contractor named Leibowitz called on him at the executive office and tendered him a quantity of whiskey of a popular brand, in pint bottles. The governor says he declined the gift, but after much persistence by the contractor finally accepted it as the easier way out of a somewhat embarassing situation.

Recently, Governor Ritchie had occasion to arraign Dr. Wade, treasurer of the State Board of Supplies, on a charge of accepting from this same Baltimore contractor the gift of an automobile, and the hearing was set for Friday.

Governor Ritchie was very indiscreet in accepting even a small present from the Baltimore contractor, but many persons realize how difficult it is at times to get away from the presumed good will offerings of others, even when a sense of propriety suggests rejection. The governor, however, manfully admits his slight fall from grace, and refuses to offend in respect of the other and more serious allegation against an official of the State.

So here we have most interesting evidence of the thorough soundness of the ancient maxim: "Beware of the Greeks bearing gifts."

THAT REASSESSMENT

As already announced a reassessment of property will be made in Kent beginning about July 1st. The assessors will start in on July 1st, and if you are desirous of cutting down the expenses much can be saved if each person will fill out the personal schedule blanks.

Real and personal property will be reassessed, but before the assessors start out the personal schedules will be sent to every taxpayer to fill out with a request to the taxpayer to fill out the schedule, giving complete statement of his tangible and intangible personal property. If this is ready for the assessors when they call, it will save the county considerable expense, as the assessors are paid by the day.

As the assessors complete their work it will be turned over to the supervisor weekly, and on the completion of the review assessors' work is reviewed by the County Commissioners and supervisor sitting as a board of control and review. The days' notice and an opportunity to be heard in regard to their assessment.

The position of an assessor is far from an enviable one. His friends unconsciously attempt to use their friendship to warp his judgment, while his enemies make every effort to beat down his valuations and place him in a false light. To be a really useful assessor one must have good judgment, lot of courage, and an honest heart. In glancing over the list of appointees, we find some of our most substantial citizens, a few of whom have had experience in this line, so that with a little supervision and some conferences a fair basis of taxation should be reached.

As they enter upon their duties we would urge the assessors to forget the war-time prices of a few years ago. Then many of our local farmers were told they did not know the value of their places. Suffice it to say they pocketed the fancy prices offered and today time has proven that their judgment was sound. As a result we have had some forced sales of fine properties. Right here it is only proper to call attention to the fact that probably nine-tenths of these properties have been bought in by the mortgagees at far less than the original selling price. There simply were no bidders at any price.

From every standpoint it is essential that a moderate valuation be placed on Kent properties.

Governor Ritchie has issued a proclamation declaring Monday, July 3rd a legal holiday in Maryland, this making a three-day vacation for bank employees and public officials.

Washington College is very dear to every citizen of Chestertown and our disposition to criticise flagrant actions of recent occurrence is halted by the hope of decided improvements under the new regime.

Governor Ritchie adn Samuel Leibowitz are safe from prosecution under the Volstead act, so far as the Anti-Saloon League and the United States District Attorney are concerned, apparently, but Edmund Budnitz, Prohibition Director for Maryland, has come to no conclusion about the case.

Both the Governor and Leibowitz violated Section 3 of the Volstead act in their liquor transaction, according to George W. Crabbe, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland, and J. Bibb Mills, council for the league. Leibowitz, in his statement, said he took the gift of whiskey to the Governor at Annapolis, and the Governor, in his statement, said he accepted the whiskey.

Mrs. G. L. Reif Gives Evidence

Declares She Put Tanlac To A Rigid Test In Her Own Case.

Before I took Tanlac myself I often wondered if it really was all the papers claimed it to be. But I have no doubt about it now, for it has helped me after all other medicines failed," said Mrs. G. L. Reif, a highly esteemed resident of 3502 Tait Ave., Baltimore, a few days ago.

"For years I have ruffered from indigestion and have had no appetite My stomach was so weak that I could scarcely stand the sight of food. I simply had to force down what little I did eat and so careful as I was of my diet gas would form and cause me no end of trouble.

"I have also suffered for years with bronchial trouble and the irritation in my throat would keep me awake most all night. As a result of these troubles I became badly run-down and continually lost energy and strength.

"After reading a number of testimonials from Baltimore people I began taking Tanlac and my only regret is that I did not have it long ago. The difference Tanlac has made in my condition is too wonderful for words to express.

"I now eat as I please, as much as I please, and never have a particle of trouble afterwards. And I don't know how Tanlac did it, unless it is the way it has built up my system, but my bronchial trouble is gone completely. I sleep splendidly and feel so much stronger and more energetic that I am like a different person. Tanlac is just grand and I am glad for my testimonial to be used in letting others know about it."

The stomach regulates the condition of the blood and is the fountain head of health or disease as the case may be. Tanlac is intended primarily for the regulation of the stomach and the correction of catarrhal inflamation, but it is no uncommon thing for persons who have used it to find that it has relieved them, not only of indigestion, but also of rheumatism, kidney complaints and many other ailments not generally recognized as having their origin in stomach trouble.

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.
