HOG CHOLERA IN KENT COUNTY

Kent county is now experimenting one of the worst outbreaks of hog cholera in years. According to Dr. W. H. Wright, Government Inspector of Elkton, the disease is now raging in the vicinity of Rock Hall, Tolchester, Galena and Massey and is causing serious losses to farmers in these neighborhoods.

While most people believe that hog cholera is a disease which appears very mysteriously and unaccountably, Dr. Wright reports that there is nothing strange about the manner of its coming to Kent county. An investigation shows that the original or primary outbreak of the disease in each of these neighborhoods was caused by infection introduced in garbage or kitchen scraps fed to the hogs, in spite of the fact that the Federal authorities have frequently warned hog raisers against this practice.

Unfortunately some parties concerned in these cases had very little regard for their neighbors' interests and failed to make proper disposition of the dead animals. The disease was thus spread by dogs and buzzards while in other instances it was carried by persons visiting back and forth and by water. One man carried the infection home on his shoes after visiting a farm where the hogs were sick and introduced it into a community four miles from any outbreak.

Dr. Wright states that there is a noticeable lack of interest on the part of farmers in regard to the disease and that the spread of infection from the primary cases is due almost entirely to carelessness. All farmers in the neighborhood of these outbreaks were warned of their existence and had ample time to have their herds treated with anti-hog cholera serum, the only known preventive for the disease, but few availed themselves of this protection.

The Federal authorities believe that it is for the farmers in the vicinity of these cases to determine whether they are to be victims of the hog cholera germ or whether they are to save their winter's supply of meat. If they are willing to bury dead animals, tie up their dogs, stay away from infected premises, keep strangers away from their hog lots and treat their herds with anti-hog cholera serum, there is some hope that the disease can be kept under control. Otherwise, swine raisers can continue to look for widespread outbreaks of cholera in Kent

WOULD GO FROM HOUSE TO HOUSE

Donoho Wishes He Could Tell Everybody What A Blessing Tanlac Was To Him.

Tanlac has made me gain seven pounds and has been such a blessing to me I wish it was so I could go from house to house telling everybody about it," declared Derry J. Donoho, 239 Collington St., Baltimore, Md., brewer for the Globe Brewing Co.

"Three years ago the 'flu' kept me in bed three weeks and it was altogether six weeks before I could go back to work. Even then I could hardly do a thing and had to go home many a time before the day was over. My stomach was so badly out of order and what I ate disagreed with me so terribly, I was in constant pains which nearly drew me double. My appetite left me and I got to be almost skin and bones. I suffered all the time with constipation and had the most fearful headaches and dizzy spells, and my nerves were on edge.

"I was actually astonished at what Tanlac did for me. In three days I was feeling better than I had in years. Now I have a ravenous appetite, my stomach never bothers me and all my other traubles have disappeared too. I never lose an opportunity to recommend Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.
