Kent News.

CHESTERTOWN - DEC. 7, 1889.

For the Kent News:

WOMAN'S NOBLE WORK.

In my last I only reported the opening exercises of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in convention assembled at Chicago.

These were followed by addresses of welcome from the State of Illinois, by its president, Mrs. Rounds, on behalf of the unions of the city, by Mrs. Matilda Carse, and from the churches of Chicago, by Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson, president of the Chicago Presbyterian Theological Seminary. Would like to give extracts from all; they were all so worthy, but space and time forbid. Miss Willard then called upon Miss Fessenden, of Boston, to answer back, on behalf of the East; Mrs. Barker, of Dakota, for the West, and Miss Fannie Griffith, of Alabama, to respond for the South. These addresses, interspersed with music by Mr. and Mrs. Dent, of Maine, cornetists, and by a quartette choir, of N. E., were succeeded by Miss Willard's annual address, which was, as usual, excellent. This closed the exercises of the first day.

The second day was devoted to the reception of fraternal delegates from the Good Templars, from England, Canada, Sandwhich Islands, T. Powderly, and from the superintendent of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union for the Paris Exposition, who reported the reception of the gold medal, the only one awarded by that exposition for woman's work. One evening was devoted to the young women's department, and presided over and conducted by them. An interesting feature was the contest for a diamond medal. Seven contestants were presented and all were remarkably well drilled, but the prize was finally given to the youngest, a little girl of about ten or eleven years of age. She was decorated with the silver and two gold medals, none being allowed to compete for the diamond medal who had not won the others. Mr. Demorest was himself present and came on the stage with the little girl and made some timely remarks. He has already given away 4,500 medals; has sent them to Europe and wherever his conditions were complied with. Seventy boys were on the stage this evening from the Sunday-school of the Episcopal Church of this city, who were pledged not only to abstain from alcoholics, but from cigarettes as well; they sung delightfully; one sang solos, who had the best voice I ever heard. Reports from the forty departments of work showed a busy year and much good accomplished. An intelligent colored woman reported of work among the colored people in the South; also a white woman, superintendent of that branch of the work reported from the North.

The superintendent of scientific instruction in schools, a lady from Boston, reports that they have succeded after years of labor and research in arranging a series of books for children from eight years old and upwards, containing studies from all the best authors, and now the great desire is to place them in the hands of every teacher. One southern lady remarked that Miss Willard had accomplished what Sherman and Grant failed to do—won the hearts of the women of the South to union, that there was now no South, no North, no East, no West; but one united whole, united by the simple knot of white ribbon.

Sunday the noted women of the convention were distributed over the city and spoke in most of the various churches, of all denominations, both morning and evening. Several of the best speakers were reserved for Battery D, to whom I had the pleasure of listening.

An earnest invitation was received from the General Assembly of Georgia for the next N. W. C. T. U. to meet at Atlanta; also one from San Francisco, Cal. The convention closed on Tuesday night, Nov. 11, about midnight with prayer and singing, "God be with you till we meet again."

Before leaving this bustling, busy city, second in size in the United States, we visited the largest temperance publication house in the world, where one hundred and twenty-five million pages of literature were published the past year, most of the work in this vast building is performed by the women of the W. C. T. U., also the editing of various papers of our association. The day after the close of the convention we were invited to a reception at the home of our president, Miss Frances E. Willard, at Evanstown, twelve miles from Chicago. Eight hundred accepted the invitation. Excursion tickets were issued, the engine decorated with the knot of white ribbon with long streamers, as were also the trainmen. It is a beautiful town with lovely decorated grounds and beautiful homes, and none were more lovely than Miss Willard's. Upon returning to the city the ladies gave the Chataqua salute, the waving of the handkerchief, and sang America to the railroad men and dispersed.

DELEGATE FROM THE EASTERN SHORE.

An Unusually Short Name.

A funny fact came to light recently at the registration of the birth of a child. The happy father was asked the maiden name of his wife, to which he answered:

"Rose B."

"Well, how do you spell it? Bee, By, Bey or how?

"Just simply B."

"That cannot be. B is only an initial, not a name."

"It is all the name my wife ever had until she married me. Neither she nor any of her family have ever had any other name than just B, neither more or less."

They could hardly have had less, and an examination of the records showed that they had really never had more. Beyond doubt the B family bears the shortest name in France, perhaps in the world. Only one other name of equal brevity is known, and that is the name of a place. About fifteen miles from Peronne, on the Ham line, there is a commune known as Y. It has some two hundred inhabitants. The origin of the name of Y is unknown, and it would be curious to investigate the origin of the patronymic of the B family.—Paris Letter in Nashville American.

A SUGGESTION TO MAHONE.—Thus does the St. Louis Globe-Democrat pour oil into the wounds of General Mahone: "General Mahone is said to be preparing an address to tell why he was not successful. Such trouble on his part seems hardly worth while in view of the very explicit information supplied by the election returns."

Boy—Mother, since I have been using Wolff's Acme Blacking my shoes wear longer than ever before, and I never got my feet wet, but I do not think they look as smooth as when I first used it.

Mother—Indeed, my son, I am sorry you are so careless. You forgot that even a good thing is only good when properly used. You have not even looked at the directions, for they are yet around the neck of the bottle. Now you must read them, and they will get you out of your trouble. Your father and I keep our shoes in elegant order by its use. I use it about once a month and paps about once a week.

Wolff's ACME Blacking
