CHESTERTOWN - DEC. 14, 1889.

Hints to Smokers.

About tobacco—a word from Vienna. An alleged case of death from tobacco poison acting on the otherwise diseased heart of an inveterate smoker, has of late greatly interested the medical profession of that city. At a conference on the subject Dr. Favarger has given the following advice to smokers: Never smoke when the stomach is empty. Do not hold the pipe or cigar continually in the mouth when smoking, but withdraw it for breathing space between the whiffs. Never smoke a foul pipe or cigar-holder, and smoke strong and weak cigars alternately. There is no better antidote to nicotine, says Favarger, than tannic acid, which is an important ingredient of red wine as of tea and coffee. Therefore, says he, let the smoker who would have the least harm done him by nicotine drink when he is smoking red wine, coffee or tea.

A French physician has been giving some counsel to smokers. He has found that the disease most frequently induced by smoking is fatty degeneration of the heart, but he is a smoker himself and does not advise his patients to forswear long habit. That, he thinks, would cause their last state to be worse than the first. Instead of doing this, he lays down a code of rules for the guidance of smokers, to which it is to be feared they will not pay as much attention as they ought.

Never smoke fasting, says the doctor. It has hitherto been supposed that smoking is an excellent antidote to hunger, and many a traveller has certainly found it to be so.

Maryland's Leading Clothiers.

Mabley & Carew, the largest retailers of men's and youth's finest made clothing in this State, are offering just now some enormous bargains which our reades would do well to note. The Baltimore American of recent date refers to them as follows;

"The enormous suit sale which Mabley & Carew started last Monday morning has drawn a strong, steady trade, despite the inclement weather. Yesterday there was a regular jam. Nor was the rush confined to the gentlemen's department, where the $15 suits were displayed; it extended upstairs to the children's department, and a goodly share of it went into the overcoat department, on the third floor. The capacity of the establishment from basement to roof is tested to its utmost to contain the immense piles of clothing heaped up within it. To one unacquainted with the immense patronage which this firm enjoys, it would seem that under the most favorable circumstances they could not sell such a stock this season; and yet, to judge from the bustle and buying of yesterday, the firm knew what they were doing when they stocked up so heavily. Mabley & Carew are the embodiment of the modern theory in mercantile life, viz., that it is better to do a business of half a million dollars on a margin of 10 per cent. than a quarter million on a margin of 20 per cent. To be busy! that's their aim. Their children's department yesterday looked more like some popular notion bazar than a clothing emporium, and it is the rule, rather than the exception, to find it so. To make it still livelier, they start tomorrow a special $5 sale of knee-pant suits, and this, with their enormous $15 sale of gentlemen's fine suits, which goes on this week again, will keep their hands full."

True Friendship.

A man for whom we have always had the highest regard said in our hearing recently: "A man's friends are his capital," a truth to which we heartily assent. One may have honor, position, great wealth or learning, but if we have not friends of what avail are they! There is no treasure so precious as a life-long friendship. How few such friendships there are! There are so many ways of losing friends that when one is gained he should be grappled to with hooks of steel. Pride, selfishness, advancement or adversity, should never be thought of between friends. If only the same excellence is looked for that we are willing should be sought for in us, if only the same standard is used by which we are willing to be measured, then there would be much less to divide those who give promise of being life long friends, and it must always be remembered if a man is to have friends he must show himself friendly.

A TEST OF BREEDING.—It is told of a wealthy family in New York that it is their regular custom to apply to new acquaintances a test of breeding which they are accustomed to call the "boody trap." They seat the stranger in a rocking-chair and sit about to watch him on her. If the visitor rocks the verdict is given against him, and he is thenceforth cut off from the calling list of the family. If he or she sits quetily and does not sway to and fro the case is considered as being decidedly in his or her favor.

To make an intelligent test of this, try the following method: Hang a strip of leather in a bottle of Acme Blacking, and leave it there for a day or a month. Take it out and hang it up to dry and examine its condition carefully. We recommend ladies to make a similar test with French Dressing, and gentlemen with any liquid solution of Paste Blacking, or with liquid blacking that comes in stone jugs.
