Death of J. Frank Wilson.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—It seldom falls to the lot of a correspondent to perform a sadder duty than to try to write for publication an account of the life and death of one whom he has considered as a close personal friend, and it is only a feeling of duty that the public should have as far as possible a truthful statement that induces me to undertake the task.

In January last Mr. J. Frank Wilson was taken down with a severe attack of the grip. After he became convalescent he frequently said that he did not seem to be able to get just right again, and to still further weaken him he became a victim of insomnia. Night after night he could not sleep and on Feb. 15 he was again compelled to give up and go to bed. He seemed at that time to realize that the disease had affected his brain, for he requested one of his intimate friends to unload his guns and remove the shells from the house. The immediate family hardly realized how desperate was his condition until two or three days after he was taken down, when unmistakable suicidal tendencies developed. From that time a constant watch was kept on him until Monday, Feb. 24th, on which day he was removed to Philadelphia to the Penna. Hospital for the Insane. After the first two weeks his recovery was rapid and on April 2nd he was permitted to return home as cured. After his return it was noticed that he seemed embarrassed when his friends called to see him, but this was attributed to being very sensitive over a realization of his previous condition. Tuesday and Wednesday of last week he seemed very much depressed, but his family attributed it to the weather and to the fact that work on the farm was getting behind. Thursday he drove to Still Pond and Betterton on business and seemed in much better spirits. Friday, after eating a hearty dinner, he took his gun and started for a walk, announcing that he wanted to get a shot at a yellow dog that was troubling his sheep. Later in the afternoon Mrs. Wilson became worried and started in search of him. She had not gone more than three hundred yards from the house, when she found his body lying face upward on a little hill leading down to a branch. Help was immediately summoned from the village and the body was removed to the house. There was a gunshot wound on the left side just below the ribs; the charge passed upward towards the heart and death evidently was instantaneous. From the position of the body it would be impossible to say whether it was suicide or accident, as the breech of the gun was underneath the body.

The funeral services were held at the house on Monday afternoon at 3 P. M., and were conducted by Rev. J. D. Rigg, assisted by Rev. E. C. Macnichol, of Felton, Del., Rev. Adam Stengle, Union Church, Wilmington, Del., and Rev. L. E. Barrett, St. Paul's Church, Wilmington. Probably the largest funeral procession that Still Pond has ever seen followed the remains to the grave in Still Pond cemetery, where the final services were read by the four ministers who had taken part at the house. The pall-bearers were R. T. Turner, Jr., James Birch, Geo. H. Clark, T. E. Norris, James H. Baker and John Johnston.

J. Frank Wilson was born in May, 1849, near Kennedyville, on the farm now occupied by E. B. Pennington. When about two years of age he was taken by his uncle, Mr. John Wilson, who, when he become older, sent him to the public school and then to a high school at West River. He next went to the Williamsport Seminary, where he completed his education. He was the son of Jesse Wilson, of Baltimore.

Mr. John Wilson, in the meantime, had bought the farm where young Frank was born, and in 1870 stocked it and started him farming. Mr. Wilson was married in the fall of the same year to Mary R. Watts, daughter of Wm. Watts, near Still Pond. He continued to live up the county until December 1876, when he moved to Still Pond on the Clark farm that had just been purchased by Wm. Watts. In 1878 he put Mr. S. J. Fowler at the head of affairs on the farm and went in partnership with Mr. Geo. W. Harper in the general store business. At the end of three years, finding the confinement of the store did not agree with his health, he sold out his interest to Mr. Harper and went back to farming. In 1883 he took charge of the adjoining farm, owned by his aunt, Mrs. John Wilson, and was carrying on both farms at the time of his death. He joined the M. E. Church when a child and for the last fifteen years has been formally identified with church work and church interests. He was at all times prepared to make large personal sacrifices for God's cause. At the time of his death he was superintendent of the Sunday school, teacher of a Bible class, a class leader, and secretary and treasurer of the official board. He was prepared at all times to contribute both time and money to promote any enterprise for the good of the neighborhood in which he lived. Being a man of sterling integrity and unimpeachable honor his services were in demand in the settling of estates and the management of the financial part of the different enterprises with which he was connected. In politics he was a republican and frequently attended party conferences, where his cool judgment and keen insight into human nature were of great value. He positively refused to be a candidate for any office. He leaves a widow and two children.

Still Pond, April 17, 1890. PROGRESS.

RHODE ISLAND DEMOCRATIC.—It was not until Saturday last that the second contest for Delegates to the Rhode Island Legislature was brought to a close by the final result of the vote in Providence, which gave the Democrats a majority on joint ballot in the Legislature and secures the election of Davis, democrat, as Governor, and the remainder of the Democratic State officers. The State elections in Rhode Island take place annually. Two years ago Mr. Davis was elected Governor by a majority of all the votes cast. Last year he received a plurality, but the Legislature was Republican and elected Mr. Ladd. This year Mr. Davis, who was renominated as the Democratic candidate for Governor, although he received 1,450 more votes than the Republican nominee, failed to obtain a majority of all the votes, and under these circumstances, according to the Rhode Island law, the choice for Governor fell upon the Legislature. The question of the governorship turned upon the second election which was ordered in Providence, and which was strongly contested. That election was held on Saturday last. It ended in electing the Democratic State Senator and seven Democratic Delegates, and thus give the Democrats a majority of two on joint ballot. Close as the vote is, it will elect the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, secretary of State, treasurer, the high sheriffs of the different counties, the clerks of courts and the officers of the Legislature, and thus, for the first time in many years, gives the Democrats control of the State at all points, with the prospect of holding it over the next presidential election.

CAMBRIDGE is to have water works.

FIFTH DISTRICT NEWS.

The smoke of the State Legislature and the M. E. and M. P. Conferences having cleared away, we now take a retrospective view of what has been done, and among those things we find Rev. N. McQuay has gone hence and Rev. Robt. Roe has come to Rock Hall. Mr. McQuay preached his farewell sermon on Sunday, the 6th inst., taking for his text "Finally, brethren, farewell," which was well delivered and well received by an audience that filled almost the entire sitting space of the church. Mr. Roe and family came on Thursday, the 10th inst., and the ladies as usual (God bless them) were on hand to give a warm and cordial welcome, with which the pastor and his family seemed well pleased. On Sunday last Mr. Roe preached an able sermon from 1 Peter, 1st chapter and 3d verse, to a crowded house. The people show much appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Roe.

Then again we see that the Legislature has precipitated the county into a heavy fight by interfering with our local option law. This fight will no doubt show up the real friends of every well directed effort for the promotion of temperance and the purity of the home, as all parties claim that honor. Friends of temperance, rally, rally, without respect to party, and let us doom for all future time this move of the liquor interest. We fail to see why any one wants liquor sold in this section of our county, yet such is the case; and what is worse, we have men who are willing to sign any ordinary man's application for a license, these same men claiming that as rum will be drank and as we must more or less suffer and be annoyed by it, it is best to make those who want liquor and who will have it, pay for the privilege; they, too, having sons growing up to be subjected to such traps of destruction as rum mills afford. But we feel assured that victory is ours if we do our duty unflinchingly.

Then again, we see changes made in the oyster law, which are an improvement on the present law, so far at least, as culling out all under a certain size, if it can be enforced; and every man in a boat to pay a license fee, is decidedly a good improvement.

The Rock Hall merchants and others are very enthusiastic about the new steamboat line; even friend "Ned" of the wharf, told us while down the river the other day, that he had just dug a new channel near the old one, around Gum point at the mouth of Grey's Inn creek for the new boat, and indeed, he looked like he had been doing such, for he was muddy sure. Well, we fail to see where the chances for a new line are any better or even as good as the Corsica river line was, but it is said that opposition is the life of trade.

Chesapeake and Lankford Lodges K. of P. had a pleasant trip to Ford's store, Q. A. county, on the 8th inst. for the purpose of assisting the Grand Lodge officers to institute a new lodge there. The institution was in every way successful. It took from about 7 P. M. to 6 A. M. to get through the work. At midnight a splendid oyster supper was served, which was heartily enjoyed. The lodge starts off with thirty members and a bright future. The knights of Kent appreciate the efforts of Capt. Taylor of the steamer Gratitude to accommodate them by a reduction of fare for the trip.

We are glad to see some of our farmers more cheerful than they were some time ago. The peaches are not all dead, as was supposed by many; the prospects are for a paying crop; wheat is looking fine, with encouraging prospects for a good yield. Taking all things into consideration the farmers are not so lonesome as they used to be.

The oyster market in Baltimore being quite dull, the tongers and buyers seem anxious to lay by their boats and implements for the summer. If the law had expired April 1 many of the buyers would have been money in pocket. R.

A Man With Many Peculiarities.

Most men have a peculiarity which seems necessary that different characters may be distinguished, but few men have so many peculiarities as the subject of our sketch, Mr. James Johnson, of Millington. Mr. Johnson, to the casual observer, is of ordinary habits and conduct, but, upon acquaintance, his peculiarities present themselves one by one, and, occasionally all at a time according to the peculiar mood in which you find him.

For his own satisfaction, he has collected a large number of old and rare coin, not of numismatic value, varying from one-half cent of United States to five dollars, embracing coins of many nations. If Mr. Johnson is in a peculiarly good humor, he will show you a collection of notes, embracing broken bank notes, confederate state notes, shinplasters of various denominations, and, the most treasured of all, a continental note 3 by 3¾ inches. The margin, face and back, has a fancy print border with the words seven dollars at the top. In the end margin are the united colonies; in the body of the note is: This bill entitles the bearer to receive seven Spanish mill dollars, or the value thereof in gold or silver, according to a resolution of Congress passed at Philadelphia, July 22, 1776; signed James Ash and Samuel Massey. The note contains, in a disk, a representation of pallisade above which rises the smoke of battle, and is surmounted by the word, "Serenabit." This Mr. Johnson considers the rarest of his collection.

Of almanacs and newspapers, he has files that would almost load a railroad car, all kinds and all dates from 1856. He has in his possession a file of tickets embracing all the tickets voted in his voting district from 1855 to the last election, and some of them are curious mixtures. We won't name them. Mr. Johnson has a peculiar fondness for animals from the horse down. He was almost cured of his peculiarity by a pair of pet coons.

Mr. Johnson claims that his most striking peculiarity is the persistency with which he votes the Democratic ticket, and he relates with great pleasure the story when persistency gained him a vote for his favorite party. In 1864, when McClellan was candidate for President, Mr. Johnson went to "Old Dixon's Tavern" to deposit his ballot, he found a line of United States soldiers on each side of the window with bayonets fixed. Between these lines he walked to the window and offered his vote. He was sworn, and the question asked. He was unable to answer and was ordered out, not by a citizen, but by a blue coat. After consideration and against the advice of friends, he tried it again and with the same result. Again he persisted, so determined was he to exercise his right of a citizen, and was sworn again and asked the question, "If the army of the United States and Confederacy were to meet in battle which would he wish to win." After due deliberation, he answered, "As God Almighty wills," and thereby gained his vote. At another election, at the same place, Mr. Johnson was sworn twice, and voted where less persistent men failed. In 1861 when the members of the Maryland Legislature, Judge Carmichael and others were arrested for supposed sympathy with the South, Mr. Johnson was also threatened, and says he thought it wise to "hold his peace." For these reasons Mr. Johnson claims to be the most peculiar man in the State.

Can Queen Anne's county produce a man with more peculiarities, or more persistency or a better Democrat?—Cest veille Record.

L. E. P. DENNIS, the newly-appointed collector of the port of Crisfield, entered upon the duties of his office on Saturday, succeeding Alonzo L. Miles. J. E. Sterling will succeed Deputy Collector Fontaine. The custom-house at Crisfield is the most important federal office on the Eastern Shore, being the port of entry of nearly 1,000 vessels. The salary and fees of the collector amount to nearly $2,500 per annum. The deputy collector receives $900.

College Notes.

The trees planted on Arbor day have already shown signs of life, and with the exception of one or two, the probability is that all will live.

The Shakespeare Club which met at the home of the Misses Roberts, on last Saturday evening, held one of its most interesting gatherings. The feature of the evening was the preparation of Easter eggs, inside of which were small strips of paper, on which was written a quotation from Shakespeare. The object was to properly locate this. The one succeeding in locating the greatest number received the prize. The entertainment was highly enjoyed, and reflected great credit upon those who furnished it. The club meets again this evening at the residence of Dr. Reid at the college and will finish the play of Winter's Tale.

The Athletic Association met on Monday afternoon and organized the base ball team. Prof. Clarke was elected captain, and the following will probably constitute the team; Pitcher, W. S. Stevens; left field and catcher, W. F. Porter; R. F. Duer, short stop and catcher; Prof. Clake, 1st base; Fred. Gerker, 2d. base and catcher; Wm. Beck, 3rd base; L. L. Bounds, right field; C. Perkins, center field; Harper, Usilton and Smyth, right field or center field; L. W. Wickes, short or catch. The players have not been definitely arranged yet but will go into practice at once, and we think there is a prospect for a good team this year. A game has been arranged with the Hillsborough team for Friday, 25th inst. The game is to be played upon the college grounds.

The average of Robt. Emory, which was left out unintentionally in the marks of last month, shows that it was worthy of publication; 94.66 was the point he reached and that was among the highest.

Owing to the indisposition of Dr. Reid the usual Sunday afternoon lecture was dispensed with last Sabbath. He will however be present to-morrow and every one is invited to come.

The Tennis outfits have arrived and the sport will begin at once. The lower terrace affords fine space for tennis courts, and the boys should become experts.

Miss Katie Hines is visiting Mrs. Thomas.

The college is badly in need of a gymnasium. The hall at Worton Fair Grounds, which seems to be of very little use now, would suit admirably for the purpose. Wonder if it could be bought and removed to the college campus?

The concert given by the Dickinson College Glee Club was well attended by the students. It would be well if Washington College would take a step forward in that direction. Singing is often a matter of necessity in college entertainments.

Several of the students are on the sick list. Mr. Harry Hurtt has been obliged to lay off for the balance of the year on account of ill health. It is to be hoped he will be back next year.

Matrimonial—DeCorse-Camp.

St. Paul's P. E. Church was the scene of a pretty matrimonial event on Tuesday morning. This historic edifice was made to bloom with floral loviness, the friends of the couple had trimmed the church with blooming flowers and potted plants. The interested parties in this ceremony were MR. JAMES T. DECORSE and MISS GRACE E. CAMP. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George C. Sutton, the new rector of this church. The bride was attired in a steel Henrietta with bonnet to match, while the groom wore a black Prince Albert suit. The couple were attended by Miss Ida Camp, sister of the bride, and Mr. Miller, of Baltimore. After the ceremony the happy couple took the Gratitude for Baltimore and from there they expect to take an extended trip to Boston and elsewhere. Nothwithstanding the early hours of the ceremony, 8 o'clock A. M., a good number of friends and relatives witnessed the tying of the knot. The presents were pretty and costly. They will reside in Broad Neck upon their return.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, Apr. 14, 1890, Full board present. Special session, as required by law, to appoint Trustees of the Poor. Wm. Ford, of the fourth district, Thos. H. Horsey, of the first district, and J. Walter Skirven, of the fifth district, who comprise the old board were reappointed.

Tuesday, April, 15. Full board present. John W. Robinson, of the second district, was appointed keeper of the standards of weights and measures. An order was given directing Jas. A. Pearce, att'y, to bring suit on bonds of John F. Whittington, collector for 1881 and 1882. Instructions to road supervisors were considered and amended so as to allow 20cts. for supervising hands, $1.10 per day for plain 4 horse, $1.20 per day for cart and oxen, 90cts. per day for each horse worked to road machine, and $1.60 for team of two horses whether worked to plow, harrow, scoop or wagon, to take effect April 17. Payment to be in cash on and after the 13th of May.

Under the operations of the Australian ballot law Rhode Island in the election of last week gave a Democratic victory. The law was fairly tested, and showed that its tendency was to purify elections. The testimony which Rhode Island bears to the good results of the law is in keeping with that of other States where it is in operation. Next fall it will be tried in Maryland—in Baltimore city and fourteen counties. We believe that its working here will be the same as elsewhere, tending to prevent bribery and make elections purer, and we hope that the result after this test will be such as to bring Dorchester county two years hence to adopt the law.

MR. ARCHER EXECUTES A DEAD OF TRUST.—Mr. Stevenson Archer executed a deed of trust at Belair on Monday to Stevenson A. Williams and Fred. R. Williams, trustees, for the benefit of his creditors. The deed recites that whereas he is indebted unto divers persons in large sums of money, and being desirous of having his effects sold and the proceeds speedily applied towards the payment of his several debts, he executes this deed. The trustees gave bond in the sum of $40,000, indicating assets to the amount of $20,000.

Death of Samuel J. Randall.

The death of Samuel J. Randall, which occured at his residence in Washington last Sunday morning, removes one of the most imposing figures from the galaxy of national greatness. Mr. Randall entered public life as a State Senator in 1867, and was first chosen to Congress in 1862, after a bitter conflict with other ambitious aspirants, and has had 28 years of unbroken service as a national representative. He was then, as ever, independent in his devotion to his individual convictions. He was a thorough, aggressive war Democrat; he entered the ranks and accompanied General Patterson as a private soldier in the first campaign of the war, and then cefforth, in Congress, on the stump and on every appropriate occasion, he sustained the government in every measure for the suppression of rebellion.

Mr. Randall was thrice called to the Speakership of the House, and would doubtless have continued there had not the Democratic defeat of 1880 disintegrated the Democratic power of the body. Later, when his party regained supremacy in the House, new leaders, new occasions and new duties came, and the power of the party was transferred to others. Sectional and economic questions divided the Democracy; but Randall was none the less leader of leaders in the great battles which followed. Although not in sympathy with the platform of his party at the last election and not in cordial relation with the administration, he was again elected to the House by the unanimous vote of his constituents. Most of them differed from him on the vital issue of the campaign, but the well-earned love for Randall and the profound veneration for his ability, courage, integrity and fidelity, made all unite in brightening the gathering shadows of the evening of his life. He was then sinking under wasting disease, and few expected him to be able to return to the seat he had so long and so greatly honored; but Samuel J. Randall had been faithful to every trust; he had been brave when others feared; he had been honest when temptation and debauchery ran riot around him, and the love of his people sent him back to fall in the harness and die amidst the many fadeless monuments of greatness created by the public records he has written as patriot, hero, statesman.—Phila. Times.

Mrs. Randall declined to allow public funeral services to be held over the remains of her husband in the hall of the House Representatives, and it took place at the family residence on Thursday and the remains were taken to Philadelphia for interment. Notwithstanding the general feeling among the colleagues of her late husband that public honors of this kind should be paid his memory, Mrs. Randall felt that she could not disregard the repeatedly-expressed opposition of her husband to a public funeral.

SKIN DISEASES.

Skin and Its Diseases

The DERMATOLOGICAL AND NEUROTIC INSTITUTE was established in Baltimore as a place for the special purpose of treating and curing Diseases of the Skin and Nervous Diseases by DR. C. W. BENSON, and his success is well known. Patients come from every county in the State, as well as city, to be cured, and they are not disappointed.

It makes no difference how bad, obstinate or long-standing the case may be, if it is curable, he will cure it, having devoted eighteen years to the treatment and cure of these diseases. Skin diseases and Nervous diseases are hard to diagnose and cure except by an experienced specialist, and people waste much money in advertised medicines and going to doctors, who cannot, in the nature of things, know much about these special diseases, and who, as a rule, are not prepared nor have the remedies for their proper treatment. Dr. Benson at his Institute is thoroughly prepared in every particular to diagnose and treat Skin Diseases and Nervous Diseases successfully, and sufferers from any form of these troubles, whether in adults or children, will save time, money and much suffering by placing themselves under the care and treatment of Dr. Benson, who is a graduate of medicine of the University of Maryland, and who practiced medicine in a general way for ten years; but eighteen years ago gave it up, and became a specialist in these diseases. He has a laboratory his building, and all medicines he prescribes are prepared under his own supervision.

SKIN DISEASES

Includes the treatment of the Hair and Scalp, Loss of Hair, etc., as well as the Eczemas, Tetters and Acne or Pimples, Black-Heads and all kinds of Skin troubles, from a roughness of the Skin to the worst form of eruptions and sores.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIRS

Dr. Benson permanently removes them from under faces, lips, etc., with the electric needle, and guarantees them never to return. Also, Warts, Moles and all blemishes are permanently and perfectly removed by the Electrolysis without blood or leaving any mark whatever.

Nerves! Nerves! Nerves!

Who is it that does not at times wish they had no nerves? Nothing renders a person more wretched than to be nervous or to suffer from some form of nervous disease, and nothing leads to more trouble and disaster than neglected nervous diseases. They are the origin of insanity and suicide, of paralysis and despondency, loss of power, prostration and exhaustion, and should not be neglected. Why remain wretched and miserable and in danger of worse troubles when you can be cured? There are no classes of disease that yields more promptly to proper treatment in the hands of a specialist who understands them than nervous diseases. Since specialists have devoted their time to the study and cure of nervous diseases, great strides have been made in curing them. Diseases that were a few years ago considered incurable are now cured without difficulty, and many who were hopeless sufferers, as they thought, are now rejoicing in perfect restoration. So much for science and specialists.

Electricity has worked a reformation in the treatment of nervous diseases, and has accomplised wonders. But skill, practice and experience is required to apply it with effect. The different kinds of electricity and batteries vary as much in their effects upon the system as different kinds of medicine do, and the doctor who has battery and one kind of diseases might, with as much property, use one kind of medicine for all diseases. Dr. Benson has every form and kind of battery, and is prepared to use electricity in any and every way; also, Electric Baths. In writing, give full particulars.

THE HIGH LICENSE LAW.

CHAPTER 517.

AN ACT to enable the qualified voters of Kent county to determine by ballot, whether spirituous or fermented liquors shall not be sold in said county, or shall be sold only as hereinafter provided, and to repeal all acts inconsistent herewith.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That Article Fifteen of the Code of the Public Local Laws, "title "Kent County," subtitle "Liquors and Intoxicating Drinks," shall not remain in force on and after the first day of June, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety, and that all acts, or part of acts, inconsistent with the provisions of this act, shall be repealed, after said last mentioned date, provided however that this act shall not be construed to repeal said Article Fifteen of the Code of Public Local Laws, title "Kent County," subtitle "Liquors and Intoxicating Drinks," prior to the First day of June, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety, or to effect any offence already committed, or which may be committed before this act shall take effect, but all such offences may be prosecuted and punished under the law existing at the time of the commission of said respective offences, and provided further, that if for any reason this act shall not take effect on the First day of June, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety, the said article fifteen of the Code of Public Local Laws, title "Kent County," subtitle "Liquors and Intoxicating Drinks," shall continue to remain in force until other laws shall be enacted in lieu thereof.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That the question whether or not any person, or persons, house, company, association or body corporate, as hereinafter described, may be licensed in Kent county, of this State, by whom, or in which spirituous or fermented liquor or intoxicating drinks may be sold, or whether or not no license to sell the same in the said county shall be issued, shall be submitted to the qualified voters of said county on Saturday, the Tenth day of May, eighteen hundred and ninety, and the sheriff of said county, shall, at least three weeks previous to said election, cause public notice to be given of the submission of said question by advertisement, set up at the most public places within each election district of said county, and also by advertisement in two newspapers of greatest circulation therein, which said advertisement shall contain a copy of this act, and of the time and place of holding the said election, and the cost of such advertisement and handbills shall be paid by the county commissioners of said county, but if for any cause said notice shall not be given, said failure shall not effect the validity of this act, or operate to prevent its taking effect.

SEC. 3. And be it enacted, That ballots cast at said election on the question of license or no license to be counted as deciding for or against the sale of spirituous or fermented liquors or intoxicating drinks in said county, shall have printed or written on them the words, For License, or Against License, and the votes cast for license and the votes cast against license shall be carefully counted by the judges of said election in the respective election districts of said county and the number of votes for license and the number of votes against license shall be certified by them, and the return judges of said election shall meet at the court-house on the Tuesday next after said election and cast up the whole vote for license and against license in said district, and shall make a separate written return of said whole vote to the clerk of the circuit court for Kent county, and said clerk shall record among the records of his office, and shall prepare a certificate proclaiming the result of said election in said county, and cause said certificate to be published within ten days after said returns have been received by him once in all the newspapers published in said county.
