KENT NEWS.

CHESTER TOWN, Md.

SATURDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 15, 1855.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.—We would call the attention of our readers to the large and beautiful assortment of Christmas goods just received by A. M. Russell.

PUBLIC MEETING.—Our readers need scarcely be reminded of the importance of the meeting to be held at the Court House on Tuesday next. As all are interested, no one should absent himself, and depend upon others, but every one should contribute by their presence and opinion, to some satisfactory result. It is advisable that opinions and views should be freely interchanged prior to the day of meeting,

LAND SALES.—A considerable quantity of real estate has been advertised for public sale in Chestertown on Thursday next. Persons desiring to purchase can have no difficulty in being suited with farms. See advertisement.

We have been requested to say that the cash payment required in the advertisement of E. A. Moore, Esq., as Trustee for the sale of A. A. Usilton and wife's House and Lot in Chestertown, will be changed to suit purchasers if desired.

☞ Hon. Joshua Vansant, we perceive is now in Washington, whither he has gone for the purpose of contesting the seat of the Hon. J. Morrison Harrison, from the Third Congressional District. This is rather a hopeless task, we imagine; but the Democracy have become desperate, and are repudiating the Democratic principle that the majority shall rule, when the will of the people is expressed against them. "Whom the gods destroy they first make mad."

NO SPEAKER YET.—Congress is still unorganized, and appears to be as far from an organization as ever. The fiftieth ballot, which was had on Wednesday, resulted as follows:—Banks, 105; Richardson, 75; Fuller, 33; scattering 11.—Necessary to a choice, 111. Though Mr. Banks has the highest number of votes, it is supposed that he stands no better chance of election, than some who have not yet received a vote. Matters relating to the contest, are now very much confused, and the remotest idea cannot be formed respecting the final result.

☞ The adjourned Court commenced in this place on Monday last, when the trial of the persons indicted for the murder of Wm. H. Porter, was resumed.—Great dissatisfaction prevailed in the community because negro Dave, who was tried at the regular term of Court, had not been convicted in the first degree, and on account of reports that an attempt would be made to lynch him, the Sheriff had the jail well guarded on Tuesday and Wednesday night. But it turned out to be hardly necessary as no attempt of the kind worth noticing was made. On Tuesday night a number of persons assembled before the jail and conducted themselves in a most disorderly and shameful manner, but the greater part of them appeared to be under the influence of liquor and more in the humor of having a jolly spree than of battering down the brick walls of the prison or the sturdy bodies of the resolute men who were placed there to guard it. On Wednesday morning Dave was sentenced to 17 years and 6 months in the Penitentiary, where he w astaken the same day.

Negro Sol Brown, also tried for the murder of W. A. Porter, was on Thursday convicted of murder in the first degree.—Centreville Times.

EXPENSES OF CONGRESS.—The squabble for the predominancy in the House, is well worthy the attention of politicians who are looking for public plunder. The following are the prizes for which there are about eight hundred applicants:

The Speakership, $16 a day, Public Printer about $75,000 worth of work (exclusive of paper) for the session; Clerk of the House of Representatives, $3,600 Various Clerks in his Office, combined salaries, $13,320; Sergeant-at-arms, Doorkeeper and Postmaster of the House, $6,480; Messenger, $1,756 80; Librarian of the House $1,800; Reading Clerk $1,800 Clerk to the Sergeant-at-arms $1,800; five Messengers for the Post Office of the House of Representatives, $7,200; Chaplain of the House, 750. Now for the contingent expenses: For binding documents, $70,000; for furniture and repairs (a good job for a cabinet maker,) $3,000; for stationary for members, $12,000; 21 messengers, including superintendent of folding and document rooms, $28,413; for engraving and lithographing, $50,000 messenger in charge of the hall, $1,740; laborers, $2,500; pages (boys) $5,936; for folding documents, including pay of folders, etc., $20,000; draughtsmen and clerks $9,000; binding Congressional globes, $6,640. Besides other various "contingencies" to be supplied by friends of the dispensing parties.

(Correspondence of the "Kent News.")

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11, 1855.

I presume you have all cooled down since your last election. I got a glimpse of the "old war horse" of Kent a few days ago, and he fills his seat chuck up, and looks as much like a Representative as any member of the House. He seemed to walk over the old Maryland course with the greatest ease imaginable. I think he will have a word in season for the great American party Old Maryland astonished everybody in these diggins, for the American party only calculated on two at the farthest; but when it was ascertained that they had four, the triumph was overwhelming, and the opposition went for days bowed down in great discomfiture! But they will be up and at you the next time, all eager for the fray! So look out.

Sam has had some hard rubs since I last wrote you; in some he has been worsted, and in others he has been victorious; and so it will be, I presume—victory and defeat, defeat and victory—until he shall finally triumph, and wave the stars and stripes himself over the entire Union.

It is thought that this Congress will have some difficulty with the Territory of Kansas; but by wise and prudent legislation the matter may be settled without any extraordinary excitement in Congress; and it is to be hoped for the sake of peace and quiet throughout the country, honorable gentlemen will so act and work together, as to show to the people at large that they are peacemakers, instead of disturbers and evildoers.

This is the eighth day of the session, and no Speaker is elected as yet. Banks of Mass. has been up as high as 107—only wanting 7 votes to elect him. We now expect one every day. The Message is ready for the People, but they must wait until their Representatives say they may have it! We are now having a very cold spell of weather.

WASHINGTON.

POSITION OF MARYLAND.—The attitude of this State, at this moment, is such as its citizens have just cause to be proud of. Placed upon the frontier of the slave States she has been the Flanders in which the battle that is to define the fate of the Union has been fought. Assailed by Abolitionism in the North, by nullification from the South, she has stood proudly erect, while the opposing waves spent their force upon the immovable barriers which she presented, and receded without being able to shake the deep foundation upon which she reposed. Never was there such a struggle for the mastery, as that which the enemies of the Constitution made in Maryland. But it was all in vain. Maryland was true to the Union—true to the Constitution—true to her traditions—true to the hopes of the mighty dead, whose bones repose within her limits. Her fidelity, her vigor, her incorruptible faith, entitle her to a degree of consideration among her sisters, which States of double her population have no right to claim.

The delegation which Maryland has sent to the National Councils—the American portion of it, at least—will occupy a commanding position. They are known to be eminently conservative, and they will, doubtless, carry out the wishes of their State to the uttermost. There is no fear that they will fuse, for the sake of ephemeral success, with any party which does not regard the Constitution and the laws as the final settlement of everything that can arise to disturb the harmony of the Republic. It is happy for her that she has to represent her, men who are so intimately acquainted with her wishes and are so determined to carry them out, as far as they possibly can.—Raleigh (N. C.) Register.

☞ The Annapolis Gazette reports the hall of the House of Delegates in a very shabby condition. It says:

The desks, cardet, &c., look as though they had recently been bought at a very low price, from a dealer in "spouted" furniture of the most dilapidated character. In its present condition the hall is really a disgrace to the State, besides being destitute of the most ordinary comforts for its occupants during the coming session.
