CHESTERTOWN - AUG. 16, 1890

To Make Crops Abundant and Sure.

Prince Krapotkin, in the Forum for Aug., recites facts about market-gardening under glass that should command the attention of every farmer in the land. "Our means of obtaining from the soil whatever we want, under any climate and upon any soil, have been so improved of late," he says, "that we cannot even foresee what is the limit of productivity of a few yards of land." The present failure of our supply of vegetables, fruits and berries could not have occurred, he would say, if we had adopted even to a limited extent the modes of culture now employed on a large scale in the islands of the British Channel, in England and Scotland. The Prince speaks from observation, not as the exponent of an untried theory. Glasshouse culture is to be the feature of future improvement in agriculture. All over the island of Guernsey, wherever one looks, greenhouses are seen. They rise amid the fields—they cover large areas. Specially profitable are these houses for grapes grown for the early season. These do not know what a failure of crops mean, and crop after crop throughout the spring, summer and autumn. In a glass-covered house covering three-fourths of an acre the Prince found the product was eight tons of tomatoes and two hundred pounds of beans for a first crop in April and May, followed by two other crops in the summer and autumn. There was one gardener, with two assistants, a small gas engine for watering purposes consuming $1 worth of gas a month, and a small amount of coke was used for heating during three months in the spring. This was a well-equipped establishment, but simple glass and plank shelters give wonderful results in peas, potatoes, &c. The cost is not excessive. Well-built, glass covered houses, without heating pipes, cost but $2 34 per sq. yard. Simple shelters made of thin plank and glass, without heat, cost but 10 cents a square foot. Their value is not only that they increase the product and ripen it at a season when prices are good, but that they almost wholly eliminate the element of chance. The glass-house, is therefore, the Prince thinks, to become the kitchen garden of the market gardener of the future. It is worth the attraction of those who supply our markets.

The Reason For It.

Mr. J. DePuy Davis, of Reading, Pa., in a letter to the Philadelphia Times, takes the ground that the Force Bill is intended to nullify the Australian ballot-law in the North. He says:

Alleged intimidation of negroes in the South is only a pretext. If it were the true reason then Southern Republicans, white and black, would favor the measure, which they do not, but, on the contrary, bitterly oppose. Its authors know that it will make the South more solid than ever. But it is a greater danger that they know they must overcome if they can, even by the most desperate means.

In New York, Indiana, West Virginia, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, and other States they see nothing but defeat and ruin staring them in the face, with bribery and intimidation practically prevented by a reform ballot law. This, therefore, is the real reason why the desperate men who have seized control of the Republican organization are determined that the Force and Fraud bill shall become a law. There can be no doubt that the Australian ballot law would be practically nullified by the enforcement of the infamous provisions of the Force bill in the hands of the instruments who would be selected for that purpose.

No wonder that Senator Hoar would see the people of Massachusetts earning fifty cents a day and living on codfish rather than have the Force bill defeated.

ABANDONING THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.—Hon. Leonidas J. Moore, of Newberne, one of the most influential republicans of North Carolina, gives the following reasons for his change of party relations which it would be well for the republican wiseacres to ponder and heed. "The time has come," says Mr. Moore, "when no man who lives in the South can longer affiliate with the republican party without an utter indifference to the welfare and well-being of the whole people of the Southern States. The legislation of the present Congress has been such as to convince any man of sense that if the South is to be a man resist the encroachment of the republican party upon its rights and interests very soon we will be but provinces, so to speak, and the general legislation of the republic will not apply to us. I regard the South as a part of this American Union, and when I see a party in all its legislation ignoring that fact and passing special laws, oppressive and humiliating in their character, affecting us as a section, then, in my opinion, it is the duty of every man to the manner born to resist such legislation with all his power. I know many men who, like myself, have for years acted with the republican party and who have felt obliged to change their political relations and associations by the violent and unlawful legislation of the present Congress." For twenty years Mr. Moore has cast a straight republican ballot.

THE CENTER OF POPULATION.—In 1790 the center of population was twenty-two miles west of Baltimore; since that time it has moved westward at an average rate of about fifty-one miles in each decade, never deviating a degree north or south of the thirty-ninth parallel. The greatest progress was between 1850 and 1860, says the St. Louis Republic, when it traveled eighty-one miles, from a point in Virginia, to twenty miles south of Chillicothe, O. This, of course, was caused by the gold excitement and consequent settlement of the Pacific coast. In 1870 the center of population was forty-eight miles northeast of Cincinnati, O. The census of 1880 showed that it had advanced fifty-eight miles in the decade and had deflected to the south, being near Taylorsville, Ky. It is generally conceded that the present census will find it somewhere in Jennings county, Indiana. If this westward movement continues at the present rate, it will cross the Mississippi, near St. Louis, in the year 1950.

A HINT FOR CONGRESSMEN.—The great majority of Republicans would be highly pleased if the party leaders in both branches of Congress were to come together at once, agree to drop all other legislation except that which is absolutely necessary to the operation of the government, and confine their attention during the rest of the session to an honest effort to extend our markets abroad on the basis proposed by the Secretary of State. It is now obvious to the dullest observer of the drift of party sentiment that Mr. Blaine's line of policy has the hearty support of disinterested Republicans. They should lose no time in impressing their convictions upon their representatives in Congress, and if they do so the result will be a strong and popular tariff act with which the party can go before the country in November with perfect confidence.—Phila. Evening Bulletin.

James W. Ivens and Ariana L. Ivens, his wife; Thomas J. Parsons and Eliza Parsons, his wife; Harrison E. Cooper and Elizabeth Cooper, his wife; John H. Ivens and Sallie A. Ivens, his wife, plaintiffs,

James A. Davis and Ella Maud Davis, his wife; Laura T. Pell, William R. Pell, Jessie May Pell, defendants.

In the Circuit Court for Kent County in Equity July Term, 1890.

THE object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain Real Estate in Kent county, Maryland, of which Mary Ivens died seized and possessed, and to have the proceeds distributed amongst the parties to said suit in proportion to their respective interests.

The Bill of Complaint states that Mary Ivens, late of Kent county, departed this life in the month of June, in the year eighteen hundred and ninety, seized of certain real estate in said county and particularly described in said bill; that the said Mary Ivens left the following children, James W. Ivens, Elizabeth Parsons, Elizabeth Cooper and John H. Ivens and the following grandchildren born of her deceased daughter, Mary A. Pell, formerly Mary A. Ivens: Ella Maud Davis, Laura T. Pell, William R. Pell and Jessie May Pell, her only heirs at law, who hold said real estate as parceners; that James W. Ivens intermarried with Anna L. Simms, Eliza Ivens intermarried with Thomas J. Parsons, Elizabeth Ivens intermarried with Harrison E. Cooper, that John H. Ivens intermarried with Sallie A. Ellis; that her daughter Mary A. Ivens intermarried with a certain George H. Pell and died in the year 1882, leaving the following children, Ella Maud Pell (who intermarried with a certain James A. Davis), Laura T. Pell, William R. Pell and Jessie May Pell; that all of said parties are residents of the State of Maryland, except James A. Davis and Ella Maud Davis who reside in the State of North Carolina, William R. Pell and Jessie May Pell who reside in the State of Florida; that the said Laura T. Pell, William R. Pell, and Jessie May Pell are infants under the age of twenty-one years.

That said real estate is not susceptible of division amongst the parties entitled thereto, according to their respective interests without loss and injury to the parties entitled to the same, and that the plaintiffs are entitled to have said real estate sold and the proceeds of sale divided amongst the parties entitled thereto according to their respective interests to same.

It is thereupon, this 19th day of July, 1890, adjudged and ordered that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper printed and published in Kent county and State of Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 25th day of August, 1890, give notice to said James A. Davis and Ella Maud Davis, his wife, William R. Pell and Jessie May Pell, the non-resident defendants, of the object and nature of this Bill, and warning them to appear in this court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 11th day of September, 1890, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.
