Kent News

SATURDAY, APRIL 26, 1924

The primaries will take place in both parties May 5th. The Democrats will select three delegates to State Convention while the Republicans will vote for Coolidge or an uninstructed delegation.

The matter of "saving" in taxes may engage the practical attention of tax-payers and ambitious men after awhile, but it does not seem to concern them very much just now. The News is for a decrease in taxes and THE ONLY WAY TO GET IT IS TO STOP SPENDING. Will you, Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer, join us?

The House has passed without amendment and without a formal vote the Bursum bill increasing the pensions of soldiers and sailors of the Spanish-American, Civil, Mexican and Indian wars and their widows and orphans, and of widows and orphans of soldiers and sailors who fought in the war of 1812. The bill having already passed the Senate on April 1, it now goes to President Coolidge for his approval. Mr. Coolidge's signature is expected.

Secretary of the Interior Work, under whose jurisdiction the Pension Bureau comes, estimated in a letter to Senator Bursum that passage of the bill would add to expenditures for pensions during the first year of its operation $55,000,000. Senator Bursum says the cost will not exceed $40,000,000.

The Governor is to make appointments to State Tax Commission, Insurance Commission and other places after May 5th. The News is advocating a Kent county Democrat. Why not?

WASHINGTON'S EXAMPLE

When Washington College at Chestertown was chartered in 1783 Gen. George Washington made the first gift of $500. The fund of $30,000, of which General Washington's contribution was a part, represented one-twentieth of the entire currency then circulating in Maryland.

These and other historic facts are related by Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, the new president of the College, in his forceful appeal for the new endowment fund. The old College has new life to add to its fine record. Its enrollment has doubled in three years.

The State will give $100,000 provided the friends of the College raise an additional $200,000. That ought to be easy. The alumni have paved the way by paying off the debt, subscribing $50,156 for the purpose. In the Eastern Shore counties are 32,000 white families and 160,000 white population. They should be specially glad to help their historic College, but subscriptions may well come from all Marylanders and friends of education in general.

Today Washington College faces a new future, and Maryland people should rally to its support.—Baltimore News.
